INDUSTRY BACKS ROOSEVELT PLEA

Today

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S talk on the radio last night shows that science has become a most important part of government.

Ancient Greece thought a nation could not retain its liberty if it grew too big for all citizens to meet in the public square, listen to their public men, and judge of their actions.

Now when President Roosevelt decides to report on "the state of the nation," and on his plans, every one of the 123,000,000 Americans may hear him. This means power to sweep aside misrepresentation and misunderstanding. It means everything for efficient honest government.

KIDNAPING, murder and sudden death are numerous, as usual, in the news of this great republic. A rich oil operator is kidnaped. He, a friend and their wives were playing bridge when the two men were taken away by bandits.

One was set free later. He said the kidnapers "acted like perfect gentlemen." They only wanted the money.

IN CHICAGO a gunman, 21 years old, killed a policeman as he stood in court. Another policeman shot him, probably fatally. The murderer and another prisoner had tried to shoot their way to freedom.

At a golf club dinner dance outside of Chicago five gunmen, with handkerchiefs covering their faces, compelled eighty men and women to lie down on the floor, to be robbed of money and jewelry. One who objected was knocked unconscious with the butt end of a sawedoff shotgun, and later beaten in the face.

All telephone wires had been cut. What about a device that would automatically inform telephone central and subsequently the police of any illegal cutting of wires?

IN STREETS, in courtrooms, or in prison, murder goes on. Anthony Napoli, 28-year-old convict in Sing Sing, was stabbed and clubbed to death by other convicts on Saturday night. And each city has its tale of banditry, murder, kidnaping. It is a crime tidal-wave.

A FRENCH newspaper makes an unpleasant suggestion concerning the two Lithuanian fliers found dead, after their plane crashed in a thick forest in Prussia, close to the Polish border.

It is alleged that German authorities had planted machine guns "at hundred meter intervals along the Polish border, with orders to shoot down any Polish army plane crossing to the German side of the border," and it hinted that the Lithuanians, flying at night, were mistaken for Polish military fliers and shot down.

It is not necessary, however, to take too seriously what a French newspaper says about Germans or what a German newspaper says about Frenchmen.

IN GREENLAND, Eskimos come trekking great distances to see Col. Lindbergh and his wife, who are making air maps of a northern route to Europe. The Eskimos, with their wives, sit by the hour and gaze at the plane after it has come to earth, then go back to tell about it, and are not believed.

It is probably compared in size with a wild goose, biggest bird in Greenland, and roaring with the noise that a goose makes.

That the plane is a living being, carrying human beings around, the Eskimos probably do not doubt.

LEARNED geological gentlemen in Washington hear that the human race started in Africa, not in Central Asia somewhere near the Gobi Desert or Thibet, as supposed.

First the clumsy Neanderthal man came from Africa to Europe, then the more cunning modern type came and drove out the Neanderthal.

The latter would have pleased the prize fight promoters, for in his caves scientists find clubs and implements that even the Italian heavyweight, Carnera, could not handle.

ON THE other hand, Gregory Mason, archaeologist of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, thinks he can prove that man first developed on this American continent.

There have been seen in Spanish Honduras strange apes of anthropoid type, and in Wyoming there has been found an animal called "tarsius," half ape, half tree shrew. These creatures might have started the human race on its way.

It doesn't matter much where men started, what counts is what they did after they started. On the whole, it seems not to have been much to their credit. No other animal has been as cruel.

The tree shrew, by the way, seems to be a most adaptable animal. You could hold it easily in your hand, yet it is said to be the ancestor of the right whale, 80 feet long.

THE STOCK market, open only three hours yesterday, again proved that "hope is stronger than experience" in its effect on human beings.

Prices went up from the beginning to the end of the short session, with long columns of plus signs on the financial pages.

BLAST KILLS MOTHER, CHILD

Three Other Children Of Policeman Saved In Burning Home

Mrs. Sarah Ridge, 38, and her daughter, Rose Marie, 8, burned when a gas explosion ripped through their home at 237 North Graham street last night, died early this morning in West Penn Hospital.

A third victim of the blast which demolished the attic and loosened the plaster in the Ridge home, James Ridge, 3, was reported improving.

Battalion Chief Fred S. Beckett was unable to say what caused the gas to explode. He is continuing his investigation today.

Mrs. Ridge, the mother of five children, was the wife of Patrolman Joseph Ridge.

Hurled from their beds by the blast, which was heard throughout the neighborhood, Mrs. Ridge and her children were trapped on the second floor by fire that followed. Several men and boys in the neighborhood broke in the front door and carried the family into the street. Mrs. Ridge and the two burned children were rushed to the hospital in automobiles.

The other three children, who escaped injury, were Joseph, 10; Catherine, 6, and Robert, 18 months old.

The window frames were blown into the street and the houses across from the damaged residence were showered with broken glass. Pieces of the window shades hung on trees in the street.

David Owens, 18, of 5317 Kincaid street, was cut on the hand by broken glass while carrying burned Rose Marie from the house.

Dave Hutton Sued By Orchestra Leader

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(INS.)—David Hutton, Jr., today became defendant in a new lawsuit.

Hutton was sued yesterday for $9,000 by Noland Tucker, former orchestra leader at Angelus Temple.

Tucker alleged that Hutton used force to eject him from the temple and threatened to knock his head through a concrete wall.

Boy Killed by Gun 'Fired' by His Pet Dog

SHARON, Pa., July 25.—(INS)—Michael Zec, 14, was killed and his 12-year-old sister, Emily, escaped being wounded here today when a shotgun was accidentally discharged after being knocked to the floor by the family dog.

The boy, police said, was chasing the dog in an effort to get the animal to leave the house.

Robbers Loot Plant Of Heavy Castings

Aimee Returns Wan, Trembling; Still Loves Dave

ABOARD THE LINER CITY OF HAVRE, OFF NORFOLK, Va., July 25.—(AP.)—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, the Los Angeles evangelist, returned to America today, protesting she still loved her husband, David Hutton, "more than anything in the world."

Asked about his recent action instituting divorce preceedings, she said:

"Oh, I can't believe it. Of course I still am in love with him."

Attended by nurse, she lay on a bunk in the captain's quarters to receive newspapermen as the City of Havre pulled into port. She said:

"It is all so hasty that I don't know what to say. His last word was that he was counting the hours until I returned. It has been a tremendous shock."

She was pale, and her lips trembled as she talked, and on one occasion after she had talked a few minutes her nurse, Miss Bernadette Middleton, protested Mrs. Hutton was unable to continue. The interview was resumed after a brief pause.

Aimee declined to say what course she would take. She said:

"I feel that I am incompetent to make a statement. It is like a bolt out of the blue."

The City of Harve remained in Norfolk part of today, and then is to continue on to Baltimore where Aimee is to disembark.

She is expected to stay in Baltimore several days.

The interview was terminated before she could be questioned about the telegram to Hutton from Paris informing him she had a baby, which proved to be untrue. Members of her party, which included her daughter, Mrs. Roberta Smythe and her nurse, declined to comment.

Aimee declined to make any statement about what she thought of Hutton's recent abandonment of his work in the Angelus Temple in Los Angeles, built by Aimee, to go into vaudeville. She said:

"I wouldn't like to say anything unkind."

MAUG'S SISTER ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Edna May Friedell, sister of killer John Maug, serving a life term and 60 to 120 years in the penitentiary, brought divorce action today against Louis Edward Friedell, serving a sentence in the workhouse for voluntary manslaughter, following a fatal stabbing.

Mrs. Friedell was acquitted of possessing explosives and being an accessory after the fact of robbery on charges growing out of Maug's arrest in a directed verdict last May.

She alleges desertion.

Mary Garden's Dog Routs Two Burglars

BAULIEU-SUR MER, France, July 25.—(INS.)—An alert dog and a watchman ready with his gun prevented a robbery today at the villa of Mary Garden, American opera singer.

The dog barked loudly as two burglars attempted to gain entrance to the villa, arousing the watchman. He saw the men and fired, but they escaped.

STATE POLICE GUARD FRICK MINES

Mine strikes were reported from three sections of Western Pennsylvania today.

No serious disorders occurred, although a hurried call for state police was sent into Uniontown when trouble threatened at Colonial No. 3 of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. Strikers were reported parading, armed with clubs. No arrests were made.

Workers at the mines of the Frick company in Fayette County were reported on strike, the call emanating from headquarters of the United Mine Workers District No. 4 at Brownsville. Company officials attributed the walkout to intimidation. Strike leaders declared the strike was for recognition of their union. Several thousand workers were affected.

VESTA AFFECTED

Men at the mines of the Vesta Coal Company, subsidiary of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, at Denbo and Vestaburg, also struck. Vesta No. 4 at Daisytown, nearby, was not affected. About 800 men were reported striking.

The Renton strike of the United Colleries Company spread today to Newfield mine. Leaders, who declare they are members of the United Mine Workers of America, demanded an increase of 10 cents a ton for loaders: 10 per cent increase for day labor; four cents a ton more for cutters, tonnage rates for slack loaders and a reduction in house rent in the company-owned towns. About 800 men were reported on strike.

Nine hundred Cambria county coal miners were on strike, the result of two companies refusing to recognize checkweighmen on tipples. The mines affected were the Logan Coal Company at Beaverdale and the Lincoln Coal Company at Nant-y-Glo.

CO-OPERATIVES STRIKE

BELLAIRE, O., July 25.—Demanding wage increase of 27½ cents to 35 cents, 150 employes of Schick Co-Operative Coal Company, struck today, closing the mine.

Police Join Hunt For Dead Man's Kin

Relatives of James McDermott, believed to be living in Allegheny County, today sought through the Missing Persons Bureau to notify him of the death of Joseph McDermott in Brooklyn, N. Y.

A Mrs. Cunningham, of 506 West One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street, New York City, telephoned the bureau asking information concerning McDermott. She said he has a son who was ordained a priest here.

Kills Son-in-Law To Save Grandchild

BLOOMSBURG, July 25.—(AP.)—Defending her one-year-old grandchild, Mrs. Anthony Raski killed her son-in-law with an ax today, state police say.

Mrs. Raski and her husband were shot and wounded seriously by their son-in-law, William Bolinsky, state police say, before Mrs. Raski felled her daughter's husband.

Man, 128; Wife, 124, On 'Hike' in Turkey

MOUCHE, Turkey, July 25.—(AP.)—Hashi Hashim and his wife, Hadji Hadidje, who say they are 128 and 124 years old respectively, have appeared in Mouche after migrating from their village of Mutki.

They have 45 children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren living.

Church Poor Boxes Looted by Bandits

Church bandits forced a side door in St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church Thirty-seventh and Bandera streets, early today, according to a report to police, and looted two poor boxes of an undetermined amount.

NATION-WIDE RESPONSE RECORDED

Thousands of Pledges Telegraphed by Employers

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt was represented at the White House today as exceedingly encouraged by the immediate response to his summons for employers to raise wages and shorten working hours.

Even before mid-morning more than 5,000 pledges of support for his course were stacked on desks in the executive offices.

More arrived at the Industrial Recovery Administration, where Hugh S. Johnson, the chief there, and his aides sped studies of proposed wage-work agreements for a variety of specific industries.

All the communications were to be brought together for compilation of the "honor rolls" of those enlisting in the campaign. These lists, as the President disclosed last night, are to be posted in postoffices for public scrutiny.

SMALLER EMPLOYERS

The President was said to be noting most particularly the reaction of the smaller employers to his appeal.

Arrangements to dispatch copies of the federally-devised "general code" to 5,000,000 employers as rapidly as possible proceeded apace in a number of quarters. Not the least of these was the government printing office having the gigantic task of addressing the agreements.

Winnie Mae Too Big For Broadway Ride

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—When Wiley Post rides up Broadway tomorrow to receive the city's plaudits at an official reception at City Hall, the Winnie Mae, his round-the-world plane, will not go along.

Post had said that he was willing to ride in the plane up the street if that was desired. Today, however, it was found Broadway is not broad enough.

Lindys Prepare For Perilous Flight

GODTHAAB, Greenland, July 25.—(INS.)—With their plans definitely made for two perilous crossings of the barren Greenland icecap, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh prepared to take off today for a short preliminary hop north along the Western Greenland Coast.

7 Killed, 40 Deafened As Bolt Hits Church

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 25.—(INS.)—Seven persons were killed and 40 deafened when a bolt of lightning struck the village church at Zubrohlava today during services.

INJURIES DELAY MOLLISON FETE

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—In borrowed pajamas and better spirits, Capt. James A. Mollison, British flying ace, and his wife, Amy Johnson Mollison, awoke in their hotel suite today to find New York impatiently waiting to accord them a royal welcome.

But it won't be accorded today.

Physicians, under whose care the famous fliers were placed on their arrival at Floyd Bennett Field from Bridgeport, Conn., near where they crashed Sunday night, after a flight from Wales, agreed that both Mollison and his wife were recovering from their hurts, but that participation in a New York welcoming demonstration was out of the question for at least a few days.

Members of the official welcoming committee, in deference to the couple's physicians, agreed to let plans for the city's welcome be held in abeyance pending complete recovery of the flying pair.

Meantime, Vernon Stuarten, local representative for the Mollisons, said arrangements for their proposed flight to Bagdad are being held up also.

Hawks Leaves N. Y. For Canadian Flight

PROFIT-TAKING DROPS STOCKS

Stock prices fell back under a wave of profit-taking in the last hour today following a strong opening in which some of the speculative favorites had advanced from 2 to 5 points.

Volume of trading was again heavy, continuing to run at a rate exceeding 1,000,000 shares an hour.

Initial advances at the noon opening hour were stimulated by the reaction on the part of the public to President Roosevelt's request for co-operation in "putting over" his gigantic recovery program.

Grains were strong all day and finished from 1 to 2 cents above yesterday's finals.

The late selling in stocks lacked intensity and traders were inclined to look up this as a favorable sign, attributing it to delayed liquidation resulting from last week's slump.

Roosevelt Viewed As 'Slump Killer'

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, returned today aboard the Ile de France after a vacation trip abroad and reported that Europeans "confidently believe the depression is going to be licked by President Roosevelt."

Balbo Flies Homeward In Stormy Weather

BOSTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Italy's flying armada flew over Boston at 12:40 p. m. (Pittsburgh time) today in the face of a stiff northeast wind and with a moderate rain falling.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—Gen. Italo Balbo's 24-plane armada took the air from Jamaica Bay at 10:01 a. m. (Pittsburgh time) today on another lap of the return mass flight to Italy.

The destination of today's flight was Shediac, N. B., 650 miles from New York, and the course was along the coastline.

This was the second lap of the return flight to Italy. Balbo's destination in the United States on his flight from Italy was Chicago, where he and his officers visited the Century of Progress Exposition last week. Then he flew here on the first lap of the flight home.

He had intended to leave the seaplane base of Floyd Bennett Field in Jamaica Bay yesterday, but weather prevented a takeoff and it was postponed until today.

There was a crowd of several thousand persons at the seaplane base and around the field administration building almost a mile away. A great cry of "Viva Balbo" and "Viva Italia" rose as the great armada roared away.

Dancing Wife Divorced By Wash-Tub Husband

Howard O. Welk, 39, of Broadway avenue, McKees Rocks, who said he had to do the family washing while Mrs. Welk went out five nights a week, was granted a divorce today.

Welk told Judge Ambrose B. Reid he did the washing for at least a year and a half because the wife, Ann Stillman Welk, 41, wouldn't, and he couldn't afford to hire help.

She wanted a larger house and more furniture, he said, so he rented a rooming house and went into debt for more furniture. Then, he testified, she started making home brew and having friends in for parties. He said:

"She wanted parks, cabarets and dance halls, and when I refused to go, she was mean and quarrelsome and wouldn't speak to me for two or three days at a time. She wouldn't get the meals and told me I was a cheap ——. Once when I objected to people she danced with she pulled off her hat and hit me in the face with it."

When they separated, he said, she left him with only one piece of furniture. They were married September 21, 1917. Welk said it was her second marriage.

STEIWER URGES FEDERAL CONTROL OF STOCK PRICES

PREVENT WILD FLUCTUATIONS, HIS AIM

Ban on Short Selling, Curb on Passing Dividends Sought

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A three-fold program for control of price fluctuations on the New York Stock Exchange was proposed today by Senator Steiwer (Rep.), of Oregon, after demanding an immediate inquiry into the causes of the recent collapse in market values.

Steiwer asked legislative, administrative and business leaders to study his reform program, which he will sponsor at the next session of Congress.

STEIWER'S PLAN

He urged:

1—Publication of a simplified report through the Treasury on the assets of all corporations.

2—Adequate curb on short selling.

3—A ban on increasing, slashing or passing of corporate dividends, without the consent of stockholders.

Steiwer meanwhile telegraphed Ferdinand Pecora, special counsel for the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, urging an immediate inquiry into the causes of last week's market crash. As a member of this committee, which is charged with investigating market practices, Steiwer volunteered to support Pecora in any plan for an immediate inquiry.

Steiwer wired Pecora:

"Papers carry story that Senate agents will start inquiry into cause of stock market crash 'within the next 10 days.' As a member of the subcommittee, I suggest this inquiry should be started without delay.

"If you feel restrained by motion agreed to by subcommittee on June 28, you should at once seek authority from subcommittee for immediate inquiry into stock market.

"I will be glad to support your effort in this behalf. It is of imperative importance that causes of recent clashes be determined at earliest possible date and if same resulted from artificial manipulation, country should be immediately advised, so that adequate corrective measures may be provided promptly. Will appreciate your advice concerning steps to be taken."

Steiwer's reference to the June 28 action of the investigating committee related to a decision to postpone an inquiry into the stock market until next fall. Steiwer argued Pecora, however, had ample authority to secure information and data at once, even if public hearings were delayed.

GRAIN TRADE ABUSES

Meanwhile, drastic new regulations to prevent speculative abuses in the grain trade were under consideration at a conferece between administration leaders and spokesmen for grain exchanges, elevators and mills.

These regulations will be embodied in a "master" grain code to be filed under the Industrial Recovery Act.

Pending approval of the code, minimum prices will continue to be "pegged" automatically on the exchanges and severe restrictions against price fluctuations above the maximum will remain in effect.

The grain men were informed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that President Roosevelt wants the movement of values to "proceed in an orderly fashion," and that before the "master" code is approved by the administration it will be analyzed carefully with this aim in mind.

GOVERNORS AIR TAX 'LEAK' PROBLEM

Await Special Radio Talk by Roosevelt Tonight

By HAROLD HEROUX,
International News Service.

SAN FRANCISIO, July 25.—Two lengthy business sessions and a military review were to be undertaken by delegates to the annual governors' conference here today before they listen to a special radio address from President Roosevelt tonight.

Wilbur L. Cross, Yale University dean, now governor of Connecticut, and Paul McNutt, an outstanding figure of American Legion circles, now governor of Indiana, were scheduled to deliver the principal talks today.

Gov. Cross, white-haired and distinguished statesman, was to discuss policies of tax exemptions, a vital problem in every state, while Gov. McNutt was to speak upon "Enlargement of Executive Authorities."

Discussing tax exemptions with newspapermen before making his scheduled talk, Gov. Cross decried certain organizations now seeking —or having—exemptions. He said:

"Many so-called charitable school and religious bodies make a virtual racket out of present-day laws for tax exemptions. I am convinced that there must be changes made. I will present the matter for deep consideration of my fellow governors."

Gov. J. G. Pollard, of Virginia, announced that informal round table discussion would follow Gov. Cross' talk.

STATE DIRECTOR TO NAME JOB GROUPS

McCune Ready to Set Up Machinery for Re-employment

Concurrent with preparations for the initial meeting tomorrow of Pittsburgh's committee of 500 to further the work of the National Recovery Administration comes the announcement that local committees will be named by the state inspector of re-employment.

John McCune, Jr., of Grove City, newly appointed director, said he would establish offices in Harrisburg and erect a state-wide organization through county and city groups for the registration of unemployed for highway and other public works projects, to be carried out under the act.

CONFLICT AVOIDED

The re-employment work will not conflict with that of the state unemployment offices, but the two will later be merged, he said. Under present plans, men will be given work on the projects nearest their homes.

In line with the recovery move expansion in the Pittsburgh glass industry and a banking house was announced today.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has started construction on an addition to its safety glass plant at Creighton, Pa., to cost about $350,000. The plant will increase capacity for making this type of glass by approximately 25 per cent and will increase production to about 60,000 or 75,000 square feet a day.

BANK EXPANDS

Increased business at the Farmers Deposit National Bank has necessitated adding approximately 5,000 square feet to the banking rooms, work on which has been started, according to an announcement by A. E. Braun, president.

Following its announcement of the regional committee of 500 to co-operate with the National Recovery Administration, the Chamber of Commerce has assigned a suite of offices in its building for the use of the recovery group. Wilson K. Ray, representative here of the Department of Commerce, will be in charge.

In approving a report of the municipal affairs committee, the board of directors of the chamber today urged city and county authorities to make further efforts to obtain federal help in financing public improvements here.

Saw Kidnaping

MRS. CHARLES F. URSCHEL

OIL MAN'S HUNT AT STANDSTILL

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25.—(AP.)—The investigation of the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, was at a standstill today as the family called off the forces of the law to encourage the abductors to communicate their price for Urschel's safe release.

Mr. Urschel

R. H. Colvin, chief of the United States Bureau of Investigation here, ordered a 24-hour recess in the hunt commenting:

U. S. HOLDS FIVE GANGSTERS IN KIDNAPINGS

Nineteenth Day Fails To Bring Word of Missing O'Connell

By The Associated Press.

Federal government agents held four members of the "Terrible Touhy" gang in Milwaukee today on warrants charging them with kidnaping and arrested another Chicago gangster, Leo Mongoven, a survivor of the George (Bugs) Moran gang, for questioning in connection with an epidemic of kidnaping throughout the nation.

The Touhy mob was charged with the abduction June 15 of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer later released for $100,000 ransom. They were arrested in Elkhorn, Wis., last week in connection with the snatching of John Factor, Chicago barber turned stock operator, who was held for more than a week for $50,000 ransom.

Factor's son, Jerome, also was a kidnap victim a few months ago. No arrests have been made in either case.

Relatives of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, kidnaped last Saturday, requested the authorities to drop the case that they might "make contact with the kidnapers themselves.

John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., kidnaped 19 days ago, was still unheard from, although relatives Tuesday announced they "expected a break," indicating they hoped to have the first word from the victim momentarily.

Frank A. McClatchy, of Philadelphia, was shot and fatally wounded last week when he resisted kidnaping and authorities still sought the killers.

PUBLIC WORKS PAY FIGHT ON

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A battle over wages to be paid on public works projects inaugurated under the $3,300,000,000 bond issue was faced by the Public Works Administration today.

With the government urging employers to raise wages and thus restore purchasing power of the masses, spokesmen for labor were demanding that the Public Works Administration take the lead in forcing higher wages.

The issue is understood to be causing difficulty in the allotment of rivers and harbors contracts and flood control. Charges of peonage in flood control work on the lower Mississippi River brought a congressional investigation last year.

RAISE GRANTED GLASS MEN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 25.—(INS.)—Successful in deliberations that brought a 20 per cent salary increase to approximately 4,000 skilled workers in the hand-blown section of the glass bottle industries, conferees today considered wages for 6,000 workers in the automatic machine branch.

It was generally conceded that a similar increase might be accorded them, although representatives declined to comment before the meeting.

The pay boost for hand-blown workers restores the wage scales next September to the 1932 basis.

Meantime, the National Association of Manufacturers of Pressed and Blown Glassware and the American Flint Glass Workers Union continued clearing up routine details of factory policies before adjournment.

PINCHOT PLEADS FOR ROAD CASH

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, today renewed his appeal to Secretary of Interior Ickes for $12,000,000 additional money for highway work in Pennsylvania, and said he could "report progress."

After $19,000,000 was allocated to Pennsylvania from the public works road fund recently, Ickes turned down Pinchot's plea for an additional fund. Pinchot also laid the question before Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. He said plans for spending the $19,000,000 had been sent to the Bureau of Public Roads and he hoped road work could begin soon.

Mrs. Pinchot, who accompanied him, appeared gratified over reports of wage increases. She recently engaged in picketing "sweatshop factories" in Pennsylvania. She said:

"The situation has been somewhat improved, especially in Reading."

NRA Campaign Honor Badge Explained

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—The American red, white and blue is the coloring of the "badge of honor" which employers co-operating in the national recovery movement will display in their windows and on their goods.

A distinctive eagle, holding in its talons an industrial cogwheel and a sheaf of lightning bolts representing the power of united action, makes a splash of blue in the center, against a white background.

KIN OF EMPRESS EUGENIE WEDS

URRUGNE, France, July 25.—(AP.)—Mlle. Marisol Mesia Leseps, granddaughter of the French builder of the Suez Canal, and the Infante Don Jose, of Bavaria Bourbon, nephew of the former Spanish king, were married today at the Urrugne Church.

Many members of the French and Spanish nobility attended. Prince Jaime, second son of Alfonso XIII, acted as his father's representative.

The civil service was held yesterday at the City Hall.

Forestry Army Gains 3,000,000 Pounds at Work

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—The 300,000 forestry workers now employed in federal camps have added 3,000,000 pounds to their aggregate weight, according to reports just issued by the Civilian Conservation Corps. This means an increase of 10 pounds per man, or 1,500 tons.

LYNCH GUNMEN, CORONER URGES

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Incensed by the killing of policemen, officials were demanding action today to prevent further losses in the police department.

Nine policemen have been slain in line of duty thus far this year, including two shot to death last Saturday night by a pair of alleged hoodlums, and Policeman John G. Sevick, killed yesterday by a gunman, John Scheck, in the Criminal Courts Building.

Coroner Frank J. Walsh, continuing the inquest into the deaths of Policemen John Skopek and Elmer Ostling, said:

"If I had my way we would have more inquests on hoodlums.

"The sooner we deal with such hoodlums as they deal with society, the sooner will we solve this problem."

At the same time Frank J. Loesch, head of the Chicago Crime Commission, was demanding the removal from office of Sheriff William D. Meyering, and charged among other things that three prisoners had escaped from the jail or courtrooms since February, 1932.

Six deputies, including Jack Kavanagh, who wounded Scheck as the latter attempted to escape from the Criminal Courts Building, were dismissed by the Sheriff.

Pen's Stolen Fruit Turned Into Mash

JOLIET, Ill., July 25.—Assistant Warden Walter Nierstheimer, of Stateville Penitentiary, solved the case of the missing cherries, stolen from a truck within the prison walls.

The aroma of three gallons of cherry mash, caught by his nose, solved the mystery.

STATE OIL MEN FIGHT LEASES

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—A campaign around Newton D. Baker as spearhead developed today to write into the oil trade practice plan a prohibition against the "lease and agency" arrangement whereby retail dealers are bound to handle exclusively the products of one company.

He appeared as a representative of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association in hearings before Hugh S. Johnson, Industrial Administrator, on varied proposals to formulate a code for the Federal price-fixing and regulation was urged by a majority group through E. B. Reeser, of the Barnsdall Oil Corporation and former president of the American Petroleum Institute.

Ralph T. Zook, of Bradford, president of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association, appealed to Johnson to write into any petroleum trade practice plan protection for the "stripper" wells, which are wells on the pump draining the last bit from a field.

There are 300,000 of these, of which 146,000 are in Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and West Virginia.

New York Governor Supports Roosevelt

ALBANY, N. Y., July 25.—(AP.)—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today pledged "the fullest support of the people of the state of New York" to President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Referring to the President's appeal last night for co-operation, Mr. Lehman said the appeal was "so clear and convincing that it inevitably will secure whole-hearted support for his plan from the people of the nation."

4 JUDGES SEEK NOMINATION

HARRISBURG, July 25.—Four candidates for judge in Allegheny County are among those who today filed nominating petitions:

They are M. A. Musmanno, now a County Court judge and Harry H. Rowand, for Common Pleas Court; Benjamin Lencher and Frank A. Piekarski, for County Court. All seek the Republican nomination and Piekarski, in addition a nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Petty Thefts Chief Worry of Police In Europe

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—European police officials, here for the International Police Conference in Chicago, disclosed yesterday that petty crimes, such as bicycle thefts, are the prinicpal bane of their existence.

One of them exclaimed:

"Kidnapings? We haven't any. Racketeering? We don't know what it is."

BANK 'PAY-OFF' DRAWS THRONG

CLEVELAND, July 25.—(INS.)—Five months after the institutions passed from the field of unrestricted banking, accounts of the Guardian and Union Trust Companies were reopened today for the payment of the first dividend to depositors.

Gathering early for the long-awaited event, hundreds of jubilant depositors surged through the lobbies as the doors of two downtown banks were opened for the pay-off.

A total of $57,047,000 was to be paid out as the first dividend of the bank to 430,000 depositors. Nearly 300,000 were paid a total of $4,000,000 by mail. The remainder was to be delivered in person to the larger depositors.

The amounts received represented only a percentage of the deposits. Depositors of the Union were granted 35 per cent and those of the Guardian 20 per cent.

RETAIL GROUPS FIGHT CODE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—Strong appeals from being included in the President's blanket code have been received by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Industrial Recovery Administrator, from retail merchants in Detroit and Denver, and a garagemen's association of San Francisco.

These were exceptions, however, to the general trend.

The appeal from Denver was from the management of a group of small stores in towns of five or ten thousand. The message declared the provisions of the blanket code will "work terrific hardship on small, struggling merchants in towns of from three to fifteen thousand serving strictly agricultural sections," and which "are barely existing."

The Detroit Retail Merchants' Association said:

"We sincerely believe from the standpoint of the consuming public and the ultimate success of the national recovery program that the mercantile industry of the country should not be requested to subscribe to any work less than 48 hours."

NONUNION COAL CODE DRAWN

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—Representatives of the nonunion coal industry, which represents a major part of the industry, have agreed upon a revised code and are ready to report it to Gen. Hugh S Johnson.

Johnson has been awaiting this code before setting a date for a hearing for the industry, which represents one of the most complex problems in the administration of the National Recovery Act. It is understood August 7 has now been set as a tentative date.

The revised code would establish differentials as between the northern and southern fields in wage scales and working hours.

The unionized part of the industry and the Indiana interests have already submitted different codes.

Won't Let Daughter Be Cannonball

DETROIT, July 25.—(AP.)—Harry Stahl didn't raise his girl to be a cannon ball, he told a Circuit Court judge in obtaining an injunction to prevent his daughter's joining a troupe of acrobats. Stahl charged the troupe planned to use the girl as a projectile from a large cannon to a net.

ernment has pegged it, with an effectiveness that would amaze King Canute.

EUROPE TRIES but cannot quite believe that the dollar is to be something without value. The dollar value went up in Europe yesterday; other moneys, comparatively, went down.

This may not be such good news for us. It means that Europe thinks we are not going to put out any more dollars in spite of going off of the gold basis.

And if we DO NOT put out more dollars, whence are new payrolls and prosperity to come?

Pinchot Meets Davis At Roosevelt's Door

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Two of Pennsylvania's foremost Republicans themselves political enemies, met by chance at the White House today when calling there to salute the Democratic President Roosevelt on his approach to conquer depression.

They were Gov. Gifford Pinchot and Senator James J. Davis. Greetings and handshakes were exchanged when they found themselves together, much to their apparent surprise, outside the presidential office.

Pinchot pledged Mr. Roosevelt his support and Davis congratulated him separately on the speech made last night, later telling reporters:

"I hold the President he made an able presentation of his subject. He knows what he is talking about."

ARMORED CARS, PLANES JOIN IN CHASE

Barrow, 2 Companions Escape Net, Dying Brother Taken

DEXTER, Ia., July 25.—(AP.)—Clyde Barrow, notorious Texas outlaw, fought a machine gun battle with police in a wooded hide-away and today was dodging over Western Iowa with a network of men in airplanes, armored cars, motorcycles and automobiles—all connected by radio—hot in pursuit.

Fleeing with him in a stolen automobile was a man identified as Jack Sherman and a woman, both of them believed badly wounded. They had hidden out near here in Wild West fashion for a week with an arsenal of two machine guns, 34 automatic pistols and five revolvers.

MAN, WIFE TAKEN

The machine gun battle brought about the capture of Marvin Barrow, brother of Clyde, and Marvin's wife. The Barrow brothers are wanted for four murders and wounding three policemen. Marvin was wounded so badly he is not expected to live.

The chase for Barrows began after a waiter in a restaurant reported one of the men had daily purchased five dinners and taken the meals into the woods.

The gun battle took place at the outlaws' barricade behind a fallen tree when a posse approached yesterday. Clyde Barrow and the other two escaped by wading a stream and creeping through a corn field to a farm owned by Valley Fellers.

Park A. Findley, chief of the state bureau of investigation, and Adj. Gen. Charles Grahl of the Iowa National Guard, led the hunt from an airplane. They soared low over highways to direct the several hundred men in the search.

FLEE IN STOLEN CARS

At the Fellers farm, Clyde Barrow lined Fellers, his son, Marvel, and an employe against the barn. With Fellers' car, he and his companions fled to Polk City, 38 miles east and just outside Des Moines. There they held up an oil station attendant, took his car and doubled back 40 miles to Guthrie Center.

Spotted by Findley, a pose of 200 men surounded the fleeing trio.

They sliped away and were later reported 100 miles north of here in southern Kossuth County. Last reports had them about 60 miles northeast of Sioux City.

The woman and the man believed to be Sherman were badly wounded, Marvel Fellers told officers. The woman apparently was shot in the head and one of the two men carried her over his shoulder. One of the men was shot in the head and shoulders, and his face and clothes were covered with blood, Fellers said.

CAREER AS NUN CLUE TO GIRL

MONTREAL, July 25.—(AP.)—Miss Antoinette Elliott, aunt of Miss Natalie Carr, of New Haven, Conn., said last night her niece's announced intention of becoming a nun was a clue to the girl's disappearance July 13.

Miss Elliott said the Vassar College student left her grandfather's summer home at Clinton, Conn., and, instead of keeping an appointment at West Point, drove to New Haven and entrained for St. Hyacinthe, Quebec.

Miss Carr's announcement that she intended entering a religious order "was opposed by her family, but she was in no way ostracized," the aunt asserted.

It was learned the missing girl visited the mother house of the Sisters of the Presentation of Mary in Quebec City, where she was a student eight years, on July 1, whereafter she left for an unannounced destination.

FILMS FIGHTING STRIKE TIEUP

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—(AP.)—Motion picture studios endeavored to maintain the production of canned entertainment for American and foreign movie patrons today as 5,000 more technicians struck.

Union workers who help make celluloid romances left their jobs, their spokesmen said, because the studios yesterday hired non-union men to replace the 665 sound technicians who struck Saturday midnight.

Producers attributed the trouble solely to an argument between two unions as to which had jurisdiction over sound men.

The employes who struck last midnight were property men, operative electricians and special effects men, laboratory workers and film cutters, studio projectionists, camera men and still-camera men.

Weather Conditions.

The principal disturbance on the map this morning is the tropical storm which is now located over Shreveport, La. Lowest barometer reported is 29.84 inches, at Shreveport. The storm produced an additional rainfall of 9.94 inches, at Shreveport, making a total of 18.08 inches in the last two days. Moderately heavy rains occurred also at Little Rock and Memphis, and, at Indianapolis. The high pressure now extends from Eastern Ontario southwestward over the Great Lakes and the plains states to the Southern Rocky Mountain states. Temperature changes were slight, but towards cooler generally over the Ohio Valley states. The heat wave for this section is now broken, but high temperatures again prevail over the Rocky Mountain states. The highest reported is 108 degrees, at oBise, Idaho.

5 YOUTHS FREED IN NEWSIES FEUD

Five young men arrested in connection with the newsboys' strike last week were discharged today in Central Police Court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, who exacted promises that they would cause no further trouble.

One of the youths was Albert Bonach, former marathon dance champion of the city, who said he was a "volunteer" in the disturbance and not a newsboy. Magistrate Rothenberg said:

"The newspapers are not vindictive and do not want to prosecute you, but if I discharge you, you must promise not to cause any more trouble."

All were arrested on suspicious person charges last Wednesday in connection with a disturbance in Water street.

Entertainer Held for Seizing Own Child

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Hilda McCrae Raslam, 28, New York night club entertainer and divorced wife of Kenneth W. Raslam, a teacher in suburban Cheltenham, was held without bail last night on a charge of kidnaping her own daughter, Shirley Edna Raslam, 6.

HEAVY STORMS BREAK HEAT WAVE HERE

Temperature Drops As Deluge Damages Roads and Homes

Moderate weather, with likelihood of more showers, prevailed today in the wake of yesterday's rainstorm that broke the heat wave responsible for two deaths. In some places the rain assumed proportions of a cloudburst.

The temperature fell to 68 early today, 23 degrees below yesterday's maximum of 91. Observer W. S. Brotzman said the mercury would be well below yesterday's peak.

A two-hour deluge wrought damage at Webster, sweeping six automobiles into the Monongahela River, tearing down garages and billboards and loosening foundations of several houses. A 5-mile stretch of Webster Hollow road was washed out.

Near Murrysville on the William Penn highway, mud and debris blocked traffic.

The dead from heat are Clyde Miller, 60, of School street, Coraopolis, and an unidentified man found on top of a box car in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yards.

JOHNSTOWN'S COUNCILMEN RETURN

'Took a Ride' Only Explanation for 'Disappearance'

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—Three city Councilmen, whose "disappearance" yesterday caused Mayor Eddie McCloskey to send police scout cars scurrying about the city with sirens blowing in an effort to find them, returned to their offices today, saying they had been "for a ride."

The red-headed Mayor, unable to get a quorum for a Council meeting because the trio could not be found, expressed fears that they had been "taken for a ride" because of the Johnstown banking situation.

The Councilmen—George Griffith, William Hurst and Calvin Roudabush—all of whom are bitterly opposed to McCloskey and his program, refused to discuss their whereabouts but said they had been "somewhere in America." Later they said they "went for a ride."

In retaliation, the Mayor refused to call a meeting of Council today, but one probably will be held tomorrow. The Mayor wants to discuss several things, including a five-cent street car fare. He and Dan Schnable, the other member of Council, favor a reduction from the eight and one-third cent rate. Griffith, Hurst and Roudabush do not.

The returned Councilmen issued a joint statement, saying:

"We stand ready at all times to attend Council meetings, but we do not propose to have our manhood further discounted by permitting the Mayor to use us as tools for the entertainment of the taxpayers who have attended sessions of Council since the Mayor took office."

TALLEY'S 'EX' WEDS SINGER

BERLIN, July 25.—(AP.)—The Berlin Zeitung am Mittag in a dispatch from Munich yesterday said that Michael Raucheisen, German concert pianist and former husband of Marion Talley, of Kansas City, former Metropolitan Opera singer, had married Marie Ivogun, a noted singer, last Thursday in nearby Ammer See. Ten years ago Mlle. Ivogun sang in the Chicago Civic Opera Company.

The marriage of Marion Talley and Michael Raucheisen was annuled in January of this year at Long Beach, Cal., after the singer charged her husband had violated a pre-nuptial arrangement by refusing to allow her mother and sister to live with him.

Miss Talley and Raucheisen had been married seven months previously at White Plains, N. Y. Following upon the ceremony they went by automobile to Kansas City, living for a time in Miss Talley's apartment.

MOTHER'S FATE UP TO ACTRESS

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP.)—Mary Miles Minter, demure actress of silent films, will be called upon to decide whether she wants to prosecute her mother on a charge of mishandling her money.

As Superior Judge C. S. Burnell yesterday sentenced a bond salesman convicted of embezzling $40,000 from Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, mother of the former actress, he recommended that Mrs. Shelby's financial affairs be investigated.

The bond salesman, Leslie B. Henry, former president of the Pasadena tournament of roses committee, was sentenced to 2 to 24 years in San Quentin Prison. Henry told probation officers he had helped Mrs. Shelby conceal from her daughter many securities purchased with Miss Minter's earnings.

No charge has been preferred against Mrs. Shelby.

KAISER DENIES HE'S WEALTHY

BERLIN, July 25.—(INS.)—In a determined effort to put an end to recurring reports that former Kaiser Wilhelm remains the wealthiest of all Germans, the Hohenzollern administration issued a formal statement today declaring his fortune does not even approach one-tenth of the 700,000,000 marks ($175,000,000 at par) generally attributed to him.

It must be considered, the statement said, that the ex-Kaiser is obliged to support 17 princely households and 49 members of the former imperial family, as well as numerous former employes.

Five-sixths of his fortune, it was said, has been assigned to the benefit of the state.

GEN. MANGIN'S SON SLAIN

RABAT, Morocco, July 25.—(AP.)—Lieut. Henri Mangin, son of the late World War general, Charles Mangin, was killed today at the head of a marching column of native troops of whom he took command a fortnight ago.

Details were lacking, but he was presumably shot by desert dissidents whom the troops from Marrakech, Morocco, were encircling during a sandstorm.

Lieut. Mangin assumed his command after recovering from a fractured vertebra received when he was knocked down by a street car in Paris while on furlough.

Gen. Mangin, one of the great army chiefs of the World War, died in 1925. He directed the historic counter-attack of July 18, 1918, using American troops as his spearhead at Juvigny.

ALLEN FATHER NEAR DEATH

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(INS.)—Horace Allen, socially prominent, retired wool merchant, who, before a crowded courtroom in 1931 told of his daughter's betrayal by the man his son killed, lay near death today at Germantown Hospital following a heart attack.

Allen's son, Eddie, who was acquitted of killing Francis Donaldson III, scion of a prominent Main Line family, was at his father's bedside.

William, a second son, and Rose, who has found happiness in a new romance to culminate in marriage Saturday, awaited their call to the hospital. Doctors feared Allen would not live through the day.

JEANETTE BANS WEDDING BELLS

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—Jeanette McDonald, musical comedy and motion picture star, returned from a European concert tour today aboard the Ile de France and told ship news reporters that movie careers were not compatible with marriage.

Robert G. Ritchey, her manager, to whom she has been betrothed for two years, stood by. She asked:

"He absolutely shares my point of view—don't you, Bob?"

Ritchey made a noise like a groan, and called himself an "exception."

TROTZKY SEEKS END OF EXILE

LONDON, July 25.—(INS.)—Leon Trotzky will meet the Soviet Foreign Minister, Maxim Litvinoff, at Royat, in the south of France, to ask cancellation of his exile and permission to re-enter Russia, the Daily Herald said in a dispatch from Paris today.

The paper said France's ban on Trotzky was lifted only after Litvinoff had granted permission.

The Herald's correspondent said attempts would be made to make peace between Trozky and the Russian dictator, Josef Stalin, who ordered the exile's banishment five years ago.

HOOT AND SALLY TALK IT OVER

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—(INS.)—Whether Sally Eilers and Hoot Gibson, film players, will get an immediate divorce, was not known today—even by the pair themselves.

Miss Eilers visited Gibson immediately after she return d from New York, she admitted today, but declared their marital status was not discussed. She said:

"I can't tell you what our plans are for the future, perhaps, when we talk things over, we'll have some idea ourselves of what we're going to do."

DENTIST BOUND, GAGGED, SLAIN

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP.)—Dr. E. Werren Sylla, 60-year-old dentist, was found dead today in his apartment at 21 East Ninetieth street, a gag over his mouth, a sheet around his neck and his hands tied.

The body was found by the dentist's maid and an elevator operator.

Police believe that the dentist surprised burglars ransacking his apartment and that he either was strangled by them or was suffocated by his gag.

Defrauded Dancer Loses Teeth, Falls

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marie Buczkowski, a dancing instructor, was defrauded, she said, in an alleged stock deal.

En route to see an attorney about it, she missed her footing in trying to board a car, lost four teeth and suffered other injuries.

Latrobe Man Beaten, Hitch Hikers Sought

SEBRING, O., July 25.—Ohio police today were hunting two hitch hikers who slugged J. F. Roddy, of Latrobe, Pa., and sped away in his machine, leaving him semi-conscious on the highway.

Fireman Gives Blood To Hospital Patient

John Ellis, 20, a member of the New Kensington Fire Department, today gave a pint of his blood in an effort to save the life of Jack Reese, 51, of 956 Fourth avenue, New Kensington, in the Citizens General Hospital.

Nest Sunny, Robin Makes Vine Awning

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Robins built a nest in the eaves of Leonard Talley's home. But the sun beat down and an awning was needed. Mamma Robin solved the problem by tugging a branch of a grape vine over the nest.

Man Held for Court In Renting Scheme

Arrested on complaint of the Better Business Bureau, Leo Steinmeyer, 23, of 221 Zara street, was held for court at Central Police Station today on a charge of false pretense.

City detectives testified he advertised he could rent 1,000 rooms a week, and when he received inquiries from prospective landlords, obtained a fee of $2 from each. The detectives said he defrauded about 24 persons.

Porto Rico Prepares For Tropical Storm

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 25.—(AP.)—A storm warning impelled Gov. Robert H. Gore today to order all construction employes of the Department of the Interior to return to duty immediately in preparation for a possible emergency.

Pittsburgh Man Cut At Picnic Row Dies

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Leland Walker, 29, Negro, of 69 Mohler street, Pittsburgh, died today in Citizens General Hospital from stab wounds suffered Saturday night at Lincoln Beach, picnic grounds on the New Kensington-Greensburg road.

A. B. Allen, Negro, also of Pittsburgh, is being held by police here as the alleged assailant.

Mary Pickford Denies Seeking Reno Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—(INS.)—Mary Pickford, film star, denied today she had been in Nevada to make plans to divorce Douglas Fairbanks.

She said:

Miss Pickford recently announced that a separation from Fairbanks was "contemplated."

In Reno, Nev., yesterday, J. W. Dignan, law partner of Senator Patrick McCarran, who represented Miss Pickford when she divorced Owen Moore at Minden, Nev., in 1920, declared he "understood Miss Pickford was in Reno about 10 days ago," but that he knew nothing of her plans.

Reports in Reno were to the effect that Miss Pickford might establish residence in Nevada following a vacation in Hawaii.

Miss Pickford declared, however, that the entire report was without foundation, and said that she had made no plans to divorce Fairbanks.

She said:

"I give you my word that there is no truth in this report. I have no divorce plans."

Suicide Cashier's Widow Wins Policy From Bank

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 25.—The widow of Howell T. Getty, cashier of the First National Bank of New Wilmington, who committed suicide last spring that the bank might collect on a $50,000 insurance policy and reopen, today was awaiting a $3,000 insurance policy held by the bank.

Mrs. Carrie D. Getty, the widow, had sued for a writ of replevin and yesterday Judge R. L. Hildebrand handed down an opinion in favor of Mrs. Getty and directed the Sheriff to execute the writ.

Bank officers contended the court was without jurisdiction since the bank is in the hands of an appointee of the government.

While the bank was open under restrictions, Getty, following a board meeting, drove out the Mercer road, alighted from his automobile, and killed himself. He left a note saying the $50,000 insurance policy, which the bank held on his life, would pay the depreciation on the bond account and allow the bank to reopen.

Afterwards the bank was placed in the hands of a conservator.

ROOSEVELT'S JOB APPEAL BACKED

printing place resembled wartime activity.

Meeting with his "recovery council," composed of the cabinet and chieftains of various important divisions of the administration, Mr. Roosevelt called for a full report of progress during the last week. Johnson was on hand with a packed brief case.

Among the thousands of messages reaching the White House was one from Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland, who said:

"You can count on the employers and workers of Maryland to co-operate with you to the limit in your drive to end the depression.

"We in Maryland will do our part."

The President in his address last night warned that selfish interests would not be allowed to interfere with the success of his drive. He said:

"There are, of course, men, a few of them, who might thwart this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage. There are adequate penalties in the law, but I am now asking the co-operation that comes from opinion and from conscience. These are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment.

"But we shall use them to the limit to protect the willing from the laggard and to make the plan succeed."

With this statement he joined the following:

"You can look on every employer who adopts the plan as one who is doing his part, and those employers deserve well of everyone who works for a living. It will be clear to you, as it is to me, that while the shirking employer may undersell his competitor, the saving he thus makes is made at the expense of his country's welfare."

It was a deliberate urging to patronize only establishments on the "roll of honor," those that have the right to display the blue eagle with the legend:

"We do our part."

RECOVERY PACT TERMS DRAWN

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Starting Thursday, letter carriers will begin delivering to 5,000,000 employers the proposed agreements between them and President Roosevelt voluntarily to raise wages and limit hours of work.

Immediately upon receipt, the employers have been asked to sign them and return them to the President.

They become effective on August 1 or any time after they are signed.

Upon presentation of the agreements at the local postoffice, the employers will reecive the National Recovery Administration's insignia bearing the initial N. R. A., an eagle and underneath the inscription "We do our part."

This is intended to be displayed prominently by all co-operating businesses.

Beginning September 1, the President, under authority of the recovery act, can order into hearings all industries which have not by then submitted wage and hour codes. After these, arbitrary limitations can be fixed.

U. S. TO CURB HIGH PRICES

RALEIGH, N. C., July 25.—(AP.)—A warning that the administration will seek to prevent extreme high prices as well as extreme low prices for agricultural products was sounded here last night by Secretary Wallace in an address to the American Institute of Co-operation.

Referring to the British operations of a few years ago whereby the price of crude rubber was stimulated from 14 cents to more than $1 a pound, only to slump later under increased production inspired by the high price, the cabinet member said:

"What was true of rubber, can also be true of fruit, of tobacco, of cotton, or most anything else. Production control, yet; but prices must not be stimulated to go so high as to unbalance the supply and demand situation."

Government Rushes Mailing of Codes

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—Trucks of the Government Printing Office scurried about the capital today, gathering every available electrically operated addressing machine, while scores of clerks used the telephones to borrow additional machines to be used in dispatching the millions of blanket codes that are going out to every employer in the land.

'Roll of Honor' Of Employers At Postoffices

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Every person interested in seeing better times will have a reminder, when he goes to the postoffice, of the employers in his home town who are co-operating in President Roosevelt's re-employment campaign.

The President said:

"It is my purpose to keep posted in the postoffice of every town a roll of honor of all those who join with me."

TEXT OF ROOSEVELT'S APPEAL TO INDUSTRY IN JOB, WAGE CAMPAIGN

After the adjournment of the historical special session of the Congress five weeks ago I purposely refrained from addressing you for two very good reasons.

First, I think that we all wanted the opportunity of a little quiet thought to examine and assimilate in a mental picture the crowding events of the 100 days which has been devoted to the starting of the wheels of the new deal.

Secondly, I wanted a few weeks in which to set up the new administrative organization and to see the first fruits of our careful planning.

I think it will interest you if I set forth the fundamentals of this planning for national recovery; and this I am very certain will make it abundantly clear to you that all of the proposals and all of the legislation since the fourth day of March have not been just a collection of haphazard schemes, but rather the orderly component parts of a connected and logical whole.

Federal Credit Upheld

Long before Inauguration Day I became convinced that individual effort and local effort and even disjointed federal effort had failed and of necessity would fail and, therefore, that a rounded leadership by the federal government had become a necessity both of theory and of fact.

Such leadership, however, had its beginning in preserving and strengthening the credit of the United States government, because without that no leadership was a possibility. For years the government had not lived within its income. The immediate task was to bring our regular expenses within our revenues. That has been done.

It may seem inconsistent for a government to cut down its regular expenses and at the same time to borrow and to spend billions for an emergency. But it is not inconsistent because a large portion of the emergency money has been paid out in the form of sound loans which will be repaid to the Treasury over a period of years; and to cover the rest of the emergency money we have imposed taxes to pay the interest and the installments on that part of the debt.

So you will see that we have kept our credit good. We have built a granite foundation in a period of confusion. That foundation of the federal credit stands there broad and sure. It is the base of the whole recovery plan.

Bank Problem Progress

Then came the part of the problem that concerned the credit of the individual citizens themselves. You and I know of the banking crisis and of the great danger to the savings of our people. On March 6 every national bank was closed. One month later 90 per cent of the deposits in the national banks had been made available to the depositors. Today only about 5 per cent of the deposits in national banks are still tied up.

The conditions relating to state banks, while not quite so good on a percentage basis, is showing a steady reduction in the total of frozen deposits—a result much better than we had expected three months ago.

The problem of the credit of the individual was made more difficult because of another fact. The dollar was a different dollar from the one with which the average debt had been incurred. For this reason large numbers of people were actually losing possession of and title to their farms and homes.

All of you know the financial steps which have been taken to correct this inequality. In addition the Home Loan Act, the Farm Loan Act and the Bankruptcy Act were passed.

Relief Steps Taken

It was a vital necessity to restore purchasing power by reducing the debt and interest charges upon our people, but while we were helping people to save their credit it was at the same time absolutely essential to do something about the physical needs of hundreds of thousands who were in dire straits at that very moment.

Municipal and state aid were being stretched to the limit. We appropriated half a billion dollars to supplement their efforts and in addition, as you know, we have put 300,000 young men into practical and useful work in our forests and to prevent flood and soil erosion. The wages they earn are going in greater part to the support of the nearly one million people who constitute their families.

In this same classification we can properly place the great public works program running to a total of over three billion dollars—to be used for highways and ships and flood prevention and inland navigation and thousands of self-sustaining state and municipal improvements.

Prosperity Program

Two points should be made clear in the alloting and administration of these projects—first, we are using the utmost care to choose labor creating quick acting, useful projects, avoiding the smell of the pork barrel; and secondly, we are hoping that at least half of the money will come back to the government from projects which will pay for themselves over a period of years.

Thus far I have spoken primarily of the foundation stones—the measures that were necessary to re-establish credit and to head people in the opposite direction by preventing distress, and providing as much work as possible through governmental agencies. Now I come to the links which will build us a more lasting prosperity.

I have said that we cannot attain that in a nation half boom and half broke. If all of our people have work and fair wages and fair profits, they can buy the products of their neighbors, and business is good.

But if you take away the wages and the profits of half of them, business is only half as good. It doesn't help much if the fortunate half is very prosperous—the best way is for everybody to be reasonably prosperous.

For many years the two great barriers to a normal prosperity have been low farm prices and the creeping paralysis of unemployment. These factors have cut the purchasing power of the country in half. I promised action. Congress did its part when it passed the farm and the industrial recovery acts. Today we are putting these two acts to work and they will work if people understand their plain objectives.

Must Reduce Output

First, the farm act: It is based on the fact that the purchasing power of nearly half our population depends on adequate prices for farm products. We have been producing more of some crops than we consume or can sell in a depressed world market. The cure is not to produce so much.

Without our help the farmers cannot get together and cut production, and the farm bill gives them a method of bringing their production down to a reasonable level and of obtaining reasonable prices for their crops. I have clearly stated that this method is in a sense experimental, but so far as we have gone we have reason to believe that it will produce good results.

It is obvious that if we can greatly increase the purchasing power of the tens of millions of our people who make a living from farming and the distribution of farm crops, we will greatly increase the consumption of those goods which are turned out by industry.

That brings me to the final step—bringing back industry along sound lines.

United Action Needed

Last autumn, on several occasions, I expressed my faith that we can make possible by democratic self-discipline in industry general increases in wages and shortening of hours sufficient to enable industry to pay its own workers enough to let those workers buy and use the things that their labor produces.

This can be done only if we permit and encourage co-operative action in industry because it is obvious that without united action a few selfish men in each competitive group will pay starvation wages and insist on long hours of work. Others in that group must either follow suit or close up shop. We have seen the result of action of that kind in the continuing descent into the economic hell of the past four years.

There is a clear way to reverse that process: If all employers in each competitive group agree to pay their workers the same wages—reasonable wages—and require the same hours—reasonable hours—then higher wages and shorter hours will hurt no employer.

Moreover, such action is better for the employer than unemployment and low wages, because it makes more buyers for his product. That is the simple idea which is the very heart of the industrial recovery act.

On the basis of this simple principle of everybody doing things together, we are starting out on this nation-wide attack on unemployment. It will succeed if our people understand it—in the big industries, in the little shops, in the great cities and in the small villages.

Child Labor Abolished

There is nothing complicated about it and there is nothing particularly new in the principle. It goes back to the basic idea of society and of the nation itself that people acting in a group can accomplish things which no individual acting alone could even hope to bring about.

Here is an example. In the cotton textile code and in other agreements already signed, child labor has been abolished. That makes me personally happie, than any other one thing with which I have been connected since I came to Washington.

In the textile industry—an industry which came to me spontaneously and with a splendid co-operation as soon as the recovery act was signed—child labor was an old evil. But no employer acting alone was able to wipe it out. If one employer tried it, or if one state tried it, the costs of operation rose so high that it was impossible to compete with the employers or states which had failed to act.

The moment the recovery act was passed, this monstrous thing which neither opinion nor law could reach through years of effort went out in a flash.

As a British editorial put it, we did more under a code in one day than they in England had been able to do under the common law in 85 years of effort.

I use this incident, my friends, not to boast of what has already been done, but to point the way to you for even greater co-operative efforts this summer and autumn.

Can Restore Jobs

We are not going through another winter like the last. I doubt if ever any people so bravely and cheerfully endured a season half so bitter. We cannot ask Americans to continue to face such needless hardships. It is time for courageous action, and the recovery bill gives us the means to conquer unemployment with exactly the same weapon that we have used to strike down child labor.

The proposition is simply this: If all employers will act together to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work. No employer will suffer, because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all. But if any considerable group should lag or shirk, this great opportunity will pass us by and we will go into another desperate winter. This must not happen.

We have sent out to all employers an agreement which is the result of weeks of consultation. This agreement checks against the voluntary codes of nearly all the large industries which have already been submitted. This blanket agreement carries the unanimous approval of the three boards which I have appointed to advise in this, boards representing the great leaders in labor, in industry, and in social service.

Wide Approval Won

The agreement has already brought a flood of approval from every state, and from so wide a cross-section of the common calling of industry that I know it is fair for all.

It is a plan—deliberate, reasonable and just—intended to put into effect at once the most important of the broad principles which are being established, industry by industry, through codes.

Naturally, it takes a good deal of organizing and a great many hearings and many months, to get these codes perfected and signed, and we cannot wait for all of them to go through.

The blanket agreements, however, which I am sending to every employer, will start the wheels turning now, and not six months from now.

There are, of course, men, a few of them who might thwart this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage. There are adequate penalties in the law, but I am now asking the co-operation that comes from opinion and from conscience.

These are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment. But we shall use them to the limit to protect the willing from the laggard and to make the plan succeed.

Badges of Honor

In war, in the gloom of night attack, soldiers wear a bright badge on their shoulders to be sure that comrades do not fire on comrades. On that principle, those who co-operate in this program must know each other at a glance. That is why we have provided a badge of honor for this purpose, a simple design with a legend, "we do our part," and I ask that all those who join with me shall display that badge prominently. It is essential to our purpose.

Already all the great, basic industries have come forward willingly with proposed codes, and in these codes they accept the principles leading to mass re-employment. But, important as is this heartening demonstration, the richest field for results is among the small employers, those whose contribution will give new work for from one to ten people.

These smaller employers are indeed a vital part of the backbone of the country, and the success of our plans lies largely in their hands.

Already the telegrams and letters are pouring into the White House—messages from employers who ask that their names be placed on this special roll of honor. They represent great corporations and companies, and partnerships and individuals.

Urges Quick Response

I ask that even before the dates set in the agreements which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellows and the little fellows—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the White House, expressing their intention of going through with the plan. And it is my purpose to keep posted in the postoffice of every town, a roll of honor of all those who join with me.

I want to take this occasion to say to the 24 governors who are now in conference in San Francisco, that nothing thus far has helped in strengthening this great movement more than their resolutions adopted at the very outset of their meeting, giving this plan their instant and unanimous approval, and pledging to support it in their states.

To the men and women whose lives have been darkened by the fact or the fear of unemployment, I am justified in saying a word of encouragement because the codes and the agreements already approved, or about to be passed upon, prove that the plan does raise wages, and that it does put people back to work.

You can look on every employer who adopts the plan as one who is doing his part, and those employers deserve well of everyone who works for a living. It will be clear to you, as it is to me, that while the shirking employer may undersell his competitor, the saving he thus makes is made at the expense of his country's welfare.

While we are making this great common effort there should be no discord and dispute. This is no time to cavil or to question the standard set by this universal agreement. It is time for patience and understanding and co-operation.

Appeals to Workers

The workers of this country have rights under this law which cannot be taken from them, and nobody will be permitted to whittle them away, but on the other hand, no aggression is now necessary to attain those rights.

The whole country will be united to get them for you. The principle that applies to the employers applies to the workers as well, and I ask you workers to co-operate in the same spirit.

When Andrew Jackson, "Old Hickory," died, someone asked, "Will he go to heaven," and the answer was:

"He will if he wants to."

If I am asked whether the American people will pull themselves out of this depression, I answer:

"They will if they want to."

The essence of the plan is a universal limitation of hours of work per week for any individual by common consent, and a universal payment of wages above a minimum, also by common consent.

Can Influence Forces

I cannot guarantee the success of this nation-wide plan, but the people of this country can guarantee its success. I have no faith in "cure-alls" but I believe that we can greatly influence economic forces.

I have no sympathy with the professional economists who insist that things must run their course and that human agencies can have no influence on economic ills.

One reason is that I happen to know that professional economists have changed their definition of economic laws every five or 10 years for a very long time, but I do have faith, and retain faith, in the strength of common purpose, and in the strength of unified action taken by the American people.

That is why I am describing to you the simple purpose and the solid foundations upon which our program of recovery is built.

That is why I am asking the employers of the nation to sign this common covenant with me—to sign it in the name of patriotism and humanity.

That is why I am asking the workers to go along with us in a spirit of understanding and of helpfulness.

Roosevelt Halts Speech for Glass Of Water

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt last night interrupted an address to the nation to demand:

"Where is that glass of water?"

Reaching for a glass on the corner of his desk and wiping his brow with a handkerchief, he explained:

After refreshing himself, he continued with his speech.

Job Program Seeks To Start Wheels Turning Now

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Some of the things President Roosevelt said in his request for cooperation in the reemployment movement:

"The blanket (pay-raising, work-shortening) agreements which I am sending to every employer will start the wheels turning now, and not six months from now."

"This nation-wide attack on unemployment . . . will succeed if our people understand it. . . . It goes back to the basic idea . . . that people acting in a group can accomplish things which no individual acting alone could even hope to bring about."

"If all employers in each competitive group agree to pay their workers the same wages—reasonable wages—and require the same hours—reasonable hours—then higher wages and shorter hours will hurt no employer."

In war, . . . soldiers wear a bright badge on their shoulders to be sure that comrades do not fire on comrades. . . . Those who co-operate in this program must know each other at a glance. . . . We have provided a badge of honor for this purpose, a simple design with a legend 'We do our part,' and I ask that all those who join with me shall display that badge prominently."

"There are, of course, men, a few of them, who might thwart this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage. . . . The co-operation that comes from opinion and conscience . . . are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment."

HURLEY URGES CITIZENS WAR ON RACKETS

(Editor's Note—As a part of the nation-wide offensive against crime and racketeering, the United States Flag Association has formed the National Council of '76, whose aims and purposes are set forth in the accompanying article.)

By PATRICK J. HURLEY
Ex-Secretary of War,
Chairman, National Council of '76.
(Written Expressly for Universal Service.)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The movement to check crime in the United States cannot be successful without the support of enlightened public opinion.

Every racketeeer could be stopped at the beginning of his career if local laws were enforced. The people in every community should mobilize against crime; they should compel their elected officials to enforce local laws or retire from office.

The National Council of '76 of the United States Flag Association has no connection with the government.

It is in hearty sympathy with the program of the American Bar Association, with that of the American Federation of Labor, and with the excellent and intelligent work being done under the direction of Assistant Attorney General of the United States Joseph B. Keenan, and Senator Copeland, chairman of the Senate Committee to Investigate Racketeering.

The purpose of the National Council of '76 is to crystallize public opinion in every community for the enforcement of local laws. It is only by the intelligent support of public opinion that the splendid efforts being made under the leadership of the Department of Justice and of Senator Copeland can be made successful.

Unquestionably there has been in the last few years a breakdown in some of the local governments. Our government is a government by the people. It will not function properly if the individual fails to perform the duties of citizenship.

If citizens will perform their duty, compel the enforcement of local laws, and support the state and federal campaigns against crime, the racketeer can be eliminated from American life.

JOBLESS TO GET U. S. HELP TO SAVE HOMES

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—The new Home Owners Loan Corporation, which starts to function in Pennsylvania next week, will put distress cases ahead of everything else.

Jacob H. Mays, of Womelsdorf, state manager, and Orson Ritzman, executive secretary, said at an organization meeting yesterday that red tape will be snipped short.

Warning against racketeering, Ritzman said discourtesy will be the unpardonable crime and sufficient basis for dismissal of employes.

He said that unemployed "with good reputations" and widows will get special consideration.

Asking himself, "suppose a home owner is out of work and cannot make a definite promise to repay this government loan—will he receive any consideration?" Ritzman replied:

"Yes. Remember, this is a relief measure. President Roosevelt advocated the enactment of this legislation to bring relief to millions of home owners who are in distress because they cannot give the holders of the mortgages any definite promise as to when they can pay, and as to how much they can pay."

Ritzman said party politics would not enter into the application for a loan, asserting:

"We will insist that everything is on the level and above board—that is all."

His advice to prospective applicants was to see the county Home Loan attorneys.

Pittsburgh offices of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation will be opened in the Benedum-Trees building, Fourth avenue, under Manager L. G. Lichliter, of Jennerstown, Pa. Lichliter said yesterday that announcement of the personnel of the Pittsburgh office will be made this week.

HOLDERS URGED TO TAKE BONDS

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Holders of mortgages on American homes were urged last night by William F. Stevenson, chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board, to exchange them for bonds of the $2,200,000,000 federal corporation.

In an address, he explained that if all the mortgage holders insisted on being paid in currency the corporation's cash fund of $200,000,000 "will go only a little way toward relieving the situation." He added:

"The general acceptance of the bonds will do a wonderful work and assist, to a remarkable degree, the recovery of business, the stability of the home and the preservation of civilization.

"If the mortgagee will just consider the situation he will be in, if such recovery shall not occur, I am sure he will give favorable consideration to my plea and join hands with the President to accomplish this most laudable aim."

HOME LOAN QUERIES ANSWERED

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Here are some of the questions and answers for prospective applicants for home loans as outlined by Jacob H. Mays, state manager for Pennsylvania:

Q.—Does the law provide relief to the person who wants to buy a home?

A.—No; it relates only to mortgages on record June 13, 1933.

Q.—Does the law relate to any kind of a home?

A.—No; it refers only to homes which today gave an appraised value not over $20,000.

Q.—Isn't there some kind of a guide which may be followed to fix present day values?

A.—To a certain extent there is. The average home today is worth just about one-half of what its marketable value was in about 1928 or 1929.

Q.—Are there any restrictions as to what kind of a home comes within the scope of the law?

A.—Yes. Homes that would, in fact, be apartments with accommodations for more than four families, cannot be considered for a loan.

Q.—If Mr. A is the owner of a four-family apartment house, can he apply for a loan?

A.—He can if he occupies one of these apartments. The person who makes application for a loan must be a home owner and he must reside in that home.

Q.—If a man is the owner of three houses, can he take advantage of this law and refinance the three properties?

A.—No; he can take advantage of the law only to refinance the home in which he lives.

Q.—Can the owner of a farm apply for a loan under this law?

Q.—How can we distinguish between a farm property and a property that would be known as a home?

A.—Let me give you this illustration: If a man is the owner of a farm—no matter how many acres—he does his own work; makes a living by farming—then his home is a farm and his application for a loan would go to the Federal Farm Loan Bank. On the other hand, if a man resides on a farm—no matter what the acreage may be—but he employes some one to do the farming and he holds a position in the city; he is not a farmer. That man can apply for a loan to this corporation.

Q.—Suppose a home owner is out of work and cannot make a definite promise to repay this government loan—will he receive any consideration?

A.—Yes. Remember this is a relief measure. President Roosevelt advocated the enactment of this legislation to bring relief to millions of home owners who are in distress because they cannot give the holders of the mortgages any definite promise as to when they can pay and as to how much they can pay.

Q.—How many years does a home owner have within which to repay this loan?

A.—He will have 14 years to pay off the loan.

Q.—Suppose a home owner applies for a loan but cannot give guarantee that he can from the beginning make even small monthly payments, what is the corporation going to do about such a case?

A.—Again: This is a relief measure, and that applicant must be helped if it is possible to help him. If he is out of work and cannot promise even small monthly payments, he can make application for an extension of time. Such a case, however, must be presented to the Home Loan Bank Board at Washington, for approval.

Q.—Suppose a widow is the owner of a home and has no income whatever. The mortgagee threatens to forclosure and she can see nothing else except that her home will be taken away from her. What are you going to do in such a case?

A.—We are going to help that widow.

BRITAIN EYES U. S. PROGRAM

LONDON, July 25.—(INS.)—British officials today read with keen interest the radio address of President Roosevelt urging nation-wide co-operation in restoration of industry and prosperity.

Authoritative comment was withheld on the grounds the speech concerns only internal matters. But the effect of his appeal is being awaited with avid anticipation. Britain is eager to absorb for her own benefit whatever concrete conclusions may be demonstrated by the American program.

One school of opinion wholeheartedly indorses the President as outstanding in "constructive leadership" and as a man who is "not afraid of direct action."

PARIS, July 25.—(INS.)—The French press today declined to register enthusiasm over the radio appeal of President Roosevelt for nation-wide co-operation in restoring prosperity.

'New Deal' to Last, Economist Asserts

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Dean William H. Spencer, of the University of Chicago's school of business, today said the National Industrial Recovery Act marked the dawn of a new and enduring era in the relationship between business and government.

Speaking before the meeting of the Heating and Piping Contractors' Association, Dean Spencer said both government and business would have to make changes.

Auto Parts Firms Adopt 40-Hour Week

DETROIT, July 25.—(AP.)—A 40-hour average maximum work week and a minimum wage of 30 to 40 cents an hour for all workers in the manufacturing process, and $15 a week for other employes were adopted yesterday by representatives of the automotive parts and equipment manufacturing industry meeting here to draft a tentative code of fair competition under the National Recovery Act.

$630,000 Allotted For Ohio River Work

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—The War Department today approved an allotment of $630,000 for operation and care of locks and dams Nos. 29 to 39 on the Ohio River, Cincinnati district, for the current fiscal year ending. This allotment is in addition to an unexpended balance on June 30, 1933 of $26,532.

WORKERS JOIN FARM MOVE

Residents of Wilkins Township will meet at Gray School, Churchhill road, Linhart, Friday night, to draft a petition asking federal aid from President Roosevelt's back-to-the-farm project. Mill factory and railroad workers of the township plan to seek funds to obtain farm land near their work.

A. A. McKeever, tax collector of the township, will preside at the meeting.

Bank to Release $4,000,000 Deposits

SHARON, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—Deposits of $4,000,000 tied up in the First National Bank are expected to be released within a month. The bank is operating on a restricted basis.

The bank's 17,000 depositors have been informed that a reorganization plan has been approved by the Treasury Department and that normal operation is in the offing.

TWO EDUCATORS RETIRE AT PITT

The rank of professor emeritus was given two University of Pittsburgh professors upon their retirement yesterday from active service. Dr. Henry S. Scribner, of 1045 Murray Hill avenue, head of the Greek department, retires after 43 years with the university. Reid T. Stewart, of 1524 Shady avenue, terminates 48 years as professor of mechanical engineering.

Three years ago, Dr. Scribner had conferred upon him by the university the degree of doctor of literature. Prof. Stewart, who has been consulting engineer for a number of manufacturers in the country, organized the mechanical engineering department.

Both men will continue their research work in offices provided for them in the Cathedral of Learning.

Lake Yields Body Of Storm Victim

PENN YAN, N. Y., July 25.—(AP.)—The body of Arthur Conley, 26, of Cohocton, one of three yachtsmen drowned in Lake Keuka Sunday, when a gale and rainstorm capsized six yachts of a racing regatta, was recovered late yesterday.

Conley was thrown into the water when the Lark, in tow of a motorboat with four other craft, upset.

Wife of Woodin's Ill Son to Fly West

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. W. H. Woodin, daughter-in-law of the Secretary of the Treasury, drove to Buffalo from Toronto, Ont., last night to make plane connections with a cross-country air route operating out of Buffalo. She was summoned to Tucson, Ariz., to the side of her husband, who is ill.

Prices Now You May Never See Again . . . .

We Are With You 100% Mr. President

"The President is greatly pleased with your prompt and spontaneous response to his appeal," General Hugh S. Johnston writes us, acknowledging our pledge of full compliance with the Voluntary National Recovery Code announced last week. The full Code, with its provision for maximum working hours, minimum wages, etc., becomes effective here, next Monday.

Advance Inspection

August Sales

Furniture . . . Furs

THIS is a time to look and think ahead, for with shortened working hours and increased wages, commodity prices must inevitably rise. This year's August Sales assume an importance never before equaled by any of their predecessors. They offer a last chance to buy new season qualities at old prices, on the verge of a New Era in which higher prices and new standards of living are inevitably to be expected.

Our preparations for the August Sales were made long in advance, and the sale prices reflect this fact unmistakably. We've done much more, however, than merely protect you against price advance. We've provided those superior and distinctive qualities which completely fulfill the higher mission of this store. We've done our part, and now we ask you to reciprocate, and come and see how alert we've been to your interests. Advance inspection is now offered in the Furniture and Furs, with the privilege of making reservations, for charge and delivery after August 31st.

Popularity Goes When Girls Lose Individuality

Will people like and respect you if you ignore your own interests, and devote all your energies to "doing everything you can for them?"

Or will they promptly decide you're a sap and treat you accordingly?

Marie has been using the Door-Mat Technique on her husband and, like all such wives, she thinks she deserves a big hand and a lot of medals. But instead—

Dear Elsie:

Will you please try to help me? I feel myself slipping, and I don't know what is wrong. Maybe, because you're far enough away, you can see where the trouble is.

Not to waste time getting to it, my husband, the man I worship, seems to be losing interest in me. We have been married for four years now. For the first three years he was devotion itself, and I returned his devotion. I still do, even now, when his love seems to be waning.

Ever since we were married I have tried in every way I knew how to keep him in love with me. I have never nagged him or quarrelled with him. I have suited all my plans to his desires, and always have consulted his tastes about everything. I have tried to make our home the most pleasant place on earth for him. I have lived only for him.

We have a great many friends, it is true, but he has always come first, even when it was inconvenient. I have always cheerfully and willingly done things the way he wanted them done, and gone where he wanted to go.

A CONSTANT FEAR

Yet, I know I am losing him. He acts bored. He is no longer devoted, or even considerate. He doesn't seem to like to stay at home evenings, and he finds fault with the things I say and do, no matter how hard I try to please him.

Please help me. I don't know what on earth to do, or what is wrong. I have tried my best, and I seem to have failed. Maybe it was just fated to be like this. Ever since we were married I have had a terrible fear of losing the great love we had for each other, and that fear seems to have been a premonition. My heart is simply breaking.

What can I do? What's wrong? MARIE.

What's wrong?

You, Marie. Yes, I mean that, seriously. You, yourself, have driven your husband away from you!

Stop and think back to those first happy days when you met. You were strangers. He was drawn to you. Why? Partly, of course, because you were drawn to him. But largely, too, because you were new and different. You not only applauded his ideas, but you had ideas and delightful little habits of your own.

BECAME AN ECHO

And so, because you were different, you broadened his life. You gave him new adventures—new curiosities.

Then what happened? Then, instead of staying yourself, you became his echo. You thought what he thought, went where he went.

In short, you threw your own life away, as surely and as sadly as if you had killed yourself.

And now he's bored? Of course he is! We're always bored by people who haven't the pep and spunk to be themselves. Such people mean nothing to themselves or anyone else.

But should he be grateful? Why? The chances are, he actually feels cheated. And he has been. For you—the real you—left him. And in your place there's this tiresome, spineless What-Have-You, without a spark of individuality.

If you won't be true to your own life, no one else will be true to it, sister. And that goes in every human relationship, as well as in marriage.

So if you want to win your husband back, bring yourself back. Bring back the girl he first loved, and junk this door-mat who has taken her place.

Fay King Approves the Feminine Touch in Modern Day Offices

By FAY KING

When women first began to go to business they wore dark tailored suits and high-necked shirtwaists. They were hardly noticeable in an office among men.

Today we see business girls in all the glory of their true femininity.

Flat-heeled, stub-toed shoes have given way to high-heeled footwear that is smart and dainty. Fingers fly just as fast and expertly over typewriter keys if they are rosy-tipped and glossy. Powder, rouge and lipstick do not retard mental alertness.

Business girls smile as radiantly as movie stars. Frowns have nothing to do with efficiency.

It is certainly infinitely nicer to see business girls looking as frilly and fluffy as they ought, than when they tried to look more "mannish" than they should.

Newspaper Item Revives Dream Shattered by Romance

Should I show Mary the newspaper column of Paris gossip that I was sure was the real reason for Philip Veritzen's suddenly announced determination to send her to the French capital for a year's study; or should I wait until the storm of her humiliated anger at Noel had worn itself out?

"It's something in this paper," she exclaimed. "Aunt Lillian brought it in, and you stopped her when she said that. What is it? Where is it? Tell me!"

"It's that column of Paris gossip," I said, and then watched her as she hastily read it through. Her foot began to tap angrily after the first few sentences, and I knew that she had found the reference to King Georges. By the time she had finished she was beating a "devil's tattoo," and her eyes were flashing storm signals.

"That's the reason for old Phil's sudden generosity," she said. "Isn't he the wily old ferret, though? He just figures out that I'm so much of a sap that I couldn't resist being rushed by a king, and that if I gave Noel the go-by for Georges, Olina would be glad to pick little son up and carry him off with her.

"Of course that sounds mighty conceited—the implication that a king would give me a rush—but—"

MARY DEFIANT

Her eyes looked at me with unconscious appeal. I answered the hurt in them, which Noel had dealt her.

"Georges is not the man to change," I said, "and from the time he first met you, I never noticed that he had any reluctance to give you a rush. You are keen enough to know, too, Mary, that while Noel heaved a sigh of relief when the betrothal between himself and Olina, entirely engineered by her, was broken off, Georges, despite his renewed happiness with Olina, was distinctly distrait and pensive when he left you. If what you desire is a renewed affair with Georges, I am sure you will get it. But—I do not believe that is what you want."

"Why not?" she flared defiantly. "The boy friend wouldn't turn a hair. He didn't when I told him what his father had proposed.

"Here's a thought! I'll bet he's already seen this paper, or that his father passed on to him the 'advance information' he must have had about this. Noel's seen the light at last, and he thinks it would be sort of pleasant to be married into royalty, just as his silly old father has planned for so long. Maybe he's been yearning for Olina all this time when he's been—"

Her voice trailed off, and if it had not been for the look in her eyes, I should have laughed. But that look spelled misery, absurd jealousy, humiliation; and I put out my arms to her.

"Come here, Mary," I said softly. But she shook her head resolutely.

LILLIAN RETURNS

"Thank you, Auntie Madge, but—but—I can't. I'd be blubbing all over the lot, if I did, and my eyes would get red. I don't mind you knowing I'm shot to pieces over this; but if anybody else did, I'd simply crumple up and die."

"Do you realize how mistaken you are?" I began. But she had begun pacing the room again, and I saw that she did not hear me.

A knock at the door halted her ranging of the room, and brought her eyes to me.

"It sounds like Aunt Lillian," she said.

"Yes, it is her knock," I answered. "Open the door, please."

She crossed the room and flung open the door. Lillian gave her but a cursory nod as she spoke directly to me.

"Did I leave my paper here?" she asked. "Oh, yes; I see I did. May I take it, please?"

"Of course," I answered, and without another look or word at either of us she picked up the paper and went out of the room again. I felt a queer little tingling at my nerve ends, and Mary interpreted it in a burst of hurried words.

"Do you know what she's done? She's pulled Noel into her apartment, and she's trying to fix things up for me! It's mighty kind of her, but I'm here to tell her she can save her breath."

She made a rush for her own door, and I spoke quickly, insistently.

"What are you going to do, Mary?"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Even Slightest Dog Bite Should Not Be Neglected

"Rabies," or "hydrophobia," is a disease caused by the bite of a mad dog. If you have ever observed the intense suffering of one of its victims, you can truly appreciate the horror of this accident.

Dr. Copeland

Every year thousands of persons are bitten by dogs. If the dog has the germ of rabies in its saliva this will transmit the disease to the human. Though the number of cases of rabies has greatly decreased, a recent report shows that the number of dog bites has increased within the past two years. The decrease in hydrophobia can only be attributed to our modern methods of treating it.

This improvement has followed the administration of a preparation called "anti-rabic" vaccine. It is given every day for from 14 to 28 days. The vaccine is of no value if given after the germs have entered the nervous system of the victim.

Every dog bite must be considered serious. The wound should be treated immediately with fuming nitric acid, if it can be had. This is painful, but it will prevent future suffering. Cauterization is beneficial, but not enough to prevent rabies.

It is not necessary to kill the suspected dog. But it should be kept under close observation. If the animal shows signs of rabies, immediate injection of the anti-rabic vaccine is advised for the one who has been bitten. Delay is dangerous.

Too often a dog bite is neglected. The damaged skin is accepted as "all in play." This accident is common among children who play with dogs. It is true that many a dog, when teased, will snap at a child. This does not mean it is a mad dog, but if the germs are present in the saliva it will transmit the disease to the unsuspecting victim. A dog bite must never be considered as harmless.

Hydrophobia can be prevented by proper precaution. I refer particularly to the enforcement of laws regarding muzzles and leashes and the impounding of stray and homeless dogs. No one will deny the benefits of such legal restrictions. In communities where this law is enforced, cases of rabies are rarely, if ever, encountered.

Children should never be allowed to play with strange dogs. In the cities dogs should not be permitted to go without a leash and if running around free should be properly muzzled. If the public insists upon these measures being taken, it will save a great deal of the alarm and apprehension that result from dog bites.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

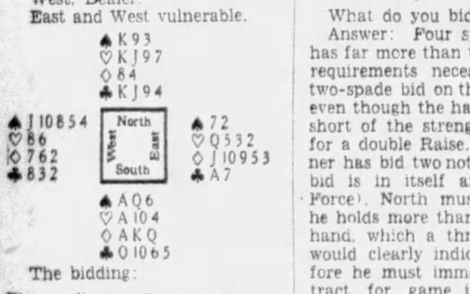
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Keeping the Bidding Open

In the last few months there has developed a small coterie of bridge players who advance the revolutionary and unsound doctrine that players in the third and fourth positions at the bridge table, if no other player has opened the bidding, should make an opening call on practically nothing, in order to protect a possible "strong pass" by partner. As a corollary, these players pass strong hands in the first or second position. Of course, such a doctrine, particularly when carried to extremes, borders on sheer idiocy. After all, an essential ingredient in any opening bid, a call which implies defensive strength, is a sprinkling of honors, which will take tricks regardless of the eventual contract, and thus afford safe anchorage against distributional storms.

An interesting example of how this theory of keeping the bidding open on practically bust hands works occurred in a recent Duplicate game in which the North and South players were using the Culbertson System and the East and West players had accepted the doctrine discussed above.

West, Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass (1)	1 ♣ (2)	Double (3)
1 N T (4)	Double (5)	Pass (6)	Pass
Pass

1—North has a bare minimum Opening bid, but decides for the moment to adopt a policy of waiting.

2—East reasons that partner may have passed a strong hand. Rising to the emergency, as he views it, of protecting his partner's pass, he opens the bidding.

3—South's response is obvious.

4—This school of players believes that after Third or Fourth Hand has opened the bidding, in order to protect a strong pass, partner must then protect his Opening bid. Hence a call of one notrump on a bust hand.

5—The closing of the pincers.

6—East might save a trick from the wreck by bidding two diamonds, but that is the best that can be hoped.

In the play North and South made 12 tricks against West's contract to take 7. The result was a set of 2,700 points, more than double the value of the Small Slam which North and South can make with the cards they hold.

TODAY'S QUESTION

North-South vulnerable.
The bidding:

South	North
1 ♠	2 ♠
2 N T	?

You, North, hold:

♠ Q 10 8 5 ♡ J 9 8 7 ◇ 7 ♣ A J 9 4

What do you bid?

Answer: Four spades. North has far more than the minimum requirements necessary for a two-spade bid on the first round, even though the hand is slightly short of the strength necessary for a double Raise. After partner has bid two notrump (which bid is in itself an inferential Force), North must show that he holds more than a minimum hand, which a three-spade bid would clearly indicate. Therefore he must immediately contract for game in spades, at which declaration the best play for the hand will obviously be found. South cannot possibly be misled as to the strength of the North hand, as North has given him only a simple Raise on the previous round of bidding.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Tension is what keeps one from falling to sleep quickly. Get rid of it by flexing the muscles, stretching full length, relaxing. A glass of hot milk at bedtime is soothing and comforting to nerve kinks. If the sandman refuses to appear, lie on the back, legs and arms extended, breathe deeply and slowly. Drink in the air, ease it out. Get rid of disturbing thoughts by creating pleasant ones, recalling delightful places where you have been, quiet moments that remain in your memory. Without restful sleep, good looks cannot be.

Bathroom gadgets and cosmetics are delightful luxuries, dear to the heart of every woman. Purchase a strong spray for the purpose of shampooing, and to impart the glowing cold shower after the warm scrubbing. A heavy flesh brush is worth its weight in greenbacks, because, by stimulating the skin all over the body, there's less work to be done by the delicate glands of the face. Select bath salts, soap and talcum that carry the same perfume. The best Turkish towels are of unbleached linen; they absorb water quickly, take hold like the pangs of a guilty conscience.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Formal Regret

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—My young man friend and I are invited to attend a wedding, which is to take place in two weeks. As we have been called out of town unexpectedly, we will not be able to attend. How should we let her know we are not able to attend. Should it be in letter form?

2—Should we send the gift with the note? Should the gift be sent by mail? D.

1—You don't tell me quite enough for me to give you very accurate advice. For instance, the form of the invitation. Also I am not sure, from your letter, whether you have previously accepted the invitation, and now must cancel that acceptance.

If your invitation is the usual formally worded one, engraved, and is the reception, (an invitation to the church ceremony doesn't require an answer) this is the form of your regret:

Miss Mary Gardener regrets that absence from the city prevents her acceptance of Mr. and Mrs. (Bride's Parents)'s kind invitation for Tuesday, the first of August.

The acknowledgment of your man friend should be written separately by himself, and except for the name, is the same as the above.

This acknowledgment should be written on the first page of a double-sheeted letter paper, white or light gray.

2—Usually the wedding gift is sent from the shop in which it is purchased. Nowadays usually these shops are equipped with special wrapping papers and packages for sending this kind of present, and all we have to do is to enclose our card. The gift is sent to the bride-to-be, always, to her home.

If this way is not convenient, send the gift in any way that is more convenient for you . . . by express, by mail, by messenger.

NO FAT, BUT LOTS OF HEALTH IN WELCH'S

OH, I'M REDUCING AGAIN. AND I'M AS WEAK AS AN INFANT.
ARE YOU MAD? YOU'RE ON THE ROAD TO A COMPLETE BREAKDOWN RIGHT THIS MINUTE.
I'D GIVE ANYTHING TO HAVE YOUR FIGURE AND VITALITY.
YOU CAN. DRINK A BOTTLE OF WELCH'S GRAPE JUICE EVERY DAY. DIET AUTHORITIES SAY, "PUT IT IN YOUR PLAN FOR WEIGHT CONTROL OR REDUCING."
BUT IT'S SWEET, AND SWEETS ARE FATTENING.
NOT WELCH'S. ITS GRAPE SUGARS ARE PREDIGESTED AND NOT STORED UP AS FAT. AND ITS NATURAL POTASSIUM REMOVES UNNECESSARY WATER FROM THE BODY'S TISSUE.
WILL IT KEEP UP MY STRENGTH?
CERTAINLY. IT HAS MORE VITAMIN B THAN ORANGE JUICE. IT HAS IRON FOR LOVELY COMPLEXIONS, MAGNESIUM FOR LUXURIANT HAIR.. CALCIUM, PHOSPHATES AND PROTEIN.
AND A HEAVENLY TASTE THAT MAKES DRINKING IT EASY.

Reduce Healthfully —the Welch Way!

The Welch Way to Weight Control is delightfully easy and pleasant. Fat goes; energy increases—because Welch's Certified-Pure, Pasteurized Grape Juice satisfies that craving for sweets and rich, fattening foods. A famous food authority says that Welch's should be on every reducing or weight-control diet, to insure healthful reduction.

Start today. Get a bottle of Welch's from your dealer, drink a glass before breakfast, then during the day as you like, and a glass before retiring. Continue—and in a few days you'll be surprised at the difference.

IMPORTANT: Be sure to insist on Welch's, because it is the Welch Process that retains in the bottled juice the healthful properties of ripe grapes so essential to the system. Only Welch's is Certified Pure and Pasteurized. It contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no water. And above all, it contains no tartaric acid. It's PASTEURIZED PURE!

Lowest Price in 35 Years!

Today you can buy Welch's Grape Juice at any grocery, delicatessen or drug store—by the bottle or case—at the lowest price in 35 years. So pure it may be diluted in one-third water, and many prefer it so.

JEWS EXTEND FUND DRIVE

The drive for relief of Jews in Germany, scheduled to end yesterday, will continue until Thursday, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the committee last night in the Y. M. & W. H. A. Additional pledges of $8,190 were reported by the 200 workers, bringing the total to $41,190.

Leo Lehman, chairman of the local drive, read a telegram from Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of New York, congratulating the Pittsburgh committee for its showing and suggesting an extension of the drive.

Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, in commending the workers, said:

Other speakers were Dr. S. H. Goldenson, Eugene Herzog, Louis Caplan, Mrs. David A. Mendoza and Isadore Rothstein.

Boy's Alertness 'Catches' Bandits

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—Three men ran down the street and jumped on a street car, so a boy noted the number of the car.

His alertness enabled police to capture two of three men who are accused of robbing the Breuninger Dairies plant and taking $785 from the cashier and seven drivers. Police overtook the trolley car after the boy had given its number to one of the drivers.

AVIATOR HELD ON RUM CHARGE

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 25.—Capt. Robert J. King, of Newark, N. J., airplane pilot, was held for court on a charge of possessing and transporting liquor in an airplane. His ship made a forced landing in a heavy storm at Bredinsburg on Sunday, July 3. Bail was fixed at $750.

The plane, valued at $4,500, is held by authorities at Franklin Airport, pending the outcome of the case. No testimony was offered by the defendant at the hearing.

AUGUST SALE FURNITURE

Months ago it was news that prices were advancing—today it is an actual fact. Raw materials that go into the manufacture of furniture have advanced materially. Further increases are prophesied. Furniture for this year's August Sale was bought in advance of these increases, and this will undoubtedly be your last opportunity to buy at anywhere near the sale prices. Every piece was selected for quality and right-styling, and the price-ticket is considerably lower than it will be six months from now.

Tomorrow, Second Day of Advance Selection

See the furniture and plan your purchases to take full advantage of this opportunity.

Use Our Liberal Budget Plan

Pay 10% Down... and the balance in convenient monthly amounts... use your furniture and watch prices advancing.

British Wits Spoof U. S. On Radio

By AIRCASTER

Our jolly old English cousins of the air, in a spirit of innocent mischief, with perhaps a secret admiration for those who have earned reputations on the American microphones, are having their little joke on us this afternoon.

A 3 p. m. our time, they are giving way to certain drolleries on a program originating in London—a program that CBS figures carries enough blandishment and cajolery to relay to those with sufficient fortitude on these sweltering days to go for daytime listening.

"America Calling" is the extremely witty title of the 60-minute British broadcast. We are informed that the gayest feature of the effusion is a series of impersonations by the jolly London air artists of many of our own ladies and gents who seem to be as famous in England as they are in America.

It is flattering of course to the Americans who have been selected as subjects for mimicry. They include Amos 'n' Andy, Kate Smith, Bing Crosby, the Boswell Sisters (it may be the Boswells themselves!), Burns and Allen, Street Singer, and a number of American bands including the Whiteman, Lombardo and Calloway outfits.

Airport Hysteria

With so much historic activity in the air, it is not surprising that the impromptu field broadcasts necessitated by the sudden arrivals and departures of transocean fliers have been marked by a certain amount of hysteria on the part of the gentlemen assigned to relay the audience ringside descriptions.

The climax in hysteria occurred when Wiley Post landed at Floyd Bennett Field at midnight Saturday. Untrained observers, carrying field pack, short-wave transmitters, experienced so many crowd annoyances that the pack sets were rendered virtually worthless.

Post Story Bungled

The gents laden with the microphones were obviously so close to the Winnie Mae that they saw nothing but the fuselage, and therefore could do no better than repeat that they were on or under the plane. One lad was so zealous that it appeared to be his object to climb into Mr. Post's flying suit—and thereby got into the hair of the audience.

Radio never has been able, with all its experiences of this kind, to present a cool, sane and accurate description of a news event without calling upon established news hounds for the job—a fact which convinces one that broadcasting never can pinch-hit for the carefully assembled newspaper.

British Parody

From across the sea comes a gala one-hour show, "America Calling," via WJAS to brighten the day for tomorrow's afternoon dialers with British impressions of American radio stars.

Eddie Pola serves as master-of-ceremonies in the manner of an American radio announcer. The time is 3 p. m.

Cleveland's famous Ice-House Quartet, heard through WJAS tonight at 9, is not a quartet, but a chorus of 40 voices. The "quartet's" repertoire ranges from grand opera to barbershop chords.

Florence Kipp Isiminger and Arthur C. Stott sing several old time favorites on KDKA'S Spotlight program this evening at 6:30.

Film Studio Signs Sigmund Romberg

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 25.—(AP.)—In token of the return of musical productions to the program of the movie studios, Fox Film Corporation today announced the signing of Sigmund Romberg, composer, and Otto Harbach, librettist and dramatic author.

They will collaborate on an original story with original music under their contract. The two produced "The Desert Song" for the stage.

Child Hit by Auto Near Her Home

Marlene Harris, 4, of 3337 Milwaukee street, was in Montefiore Hospital today suffering from a probable skull fracture received when she was struck by an automobile, driven, according to police, by Clifford Harris, 21, Negro, of Turtle Creek. The accident occurred near the girl's home.

Seibel Discusses Joe Jefferson

The beloved Joseph Jefferson and "The Rivals" are discussed by George Seibel, crary and dramatic critic of the Sun-Telegraph, in his series, "Great Actors and Great Plays," on WCAE tonight at 7.

Louis L. Kaufman, Globe Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, broadcasts the news over WCAE and WJAS at 9:05 a. m. and 12:15, 2:15 and 6:30 p. m.

Satisfied Patients Send Friends

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—"The teeth you made for me in 1923 are a perfect success. I am sending a friend to you. I recommend you to anyone who needs dental work at reasonable prices," writes Mr. C. Mitchell, Johnstown, Pa., to Dr. Walls, D. D. S., at 5th Ave. and Market St.

The necessity for teeth to beauty and health has been advocated by Dr. Walls for many years and is recognized and recommended by the highest medical authorities.

7 Young Stars Give Junior Patrol Program

Seven young Junior Patrol entertainers are starred with Snuggins, Spike, Perce and Bill in this week's Patrol program, broadcast over WCAE tomorrow at 4:45 p. m.

Snuggins, Spike, Perce and Bill
Song and tap dance: I Had a Little Husband.
Roberta Jean Schmit
Saxophone solo: Love's Declaration.
Ernest Quinter
Vocal solo: Just a Cottage Small.
Betty Jane Monroe
Vocal solo: Trees.
Betty Jane Newmeyer

Candidates to Speak At Women's Meeting

Candidates will speak at a mass meeting in the auditorium of the Knoxville Junior High School, Charles and Grimes streets, Thursday night. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Ladies of the Pittsburgh Boosters.

Globe-Trotting

—By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN—

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Answering Mrs. Fred Graham, the first successful non-stop flight from Europe to the mainland of North America was accomplished in September, 1930, when Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte flew from Paris to New York.

Frank Denhelm, McKeesport—When broadcasts are carried on from airplanes, there is a receiving set on the ground, as close as possible to the area of flight. From that set the signals are fed into the land wires of the broadcasting systems.

* * *

Mrs. John Snyder—The last word from Chicago relative to the daily closing time of the World's Fair is that the gates close each night at midnight. Those already in the grounds are permitted to remain until 2 o'clock. On Saturday night visitors are permitted to remain all night.

Albert Swearingen — The broadcasts of Uncle Henry's Show Boat program emanate from the NBC New York studios. The steamship background is atmosphere, just like the plantation is for Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson.

Margaret Cunningham, of 120 E. North avenue is playing host to pigeon No. AF-27, SH-1546.

Quin Hall suggests his reason for the new series of "Why I Gave Up Bridge." "I left my partner in a two diamond opening bid.

"What's your reason?"

To change a singer's or announcer's stance, even if it may be an improvement, sometimes it makes him so conscious of his delivery that he begins to broadcast words instead of word pictures.

Compelled to Wed, Wife, 19, Charges

CLEVELAND, July 25.—(AP.)—A charge that William A. Hubsch took her for a ride to Erie, Pa., and there threatened to leave her stranded unless she married him is made by Mrs. Mary Cymbol Hubsch, 19, in a petition asking annulment of the marriage on file in Common Pleas Court.

She describes Hubsch as a man of 45, "strong, large, able-bodied and domineering." She says she left him as soon as they returned to Cleveland.

Landlord's Scolding Ends in Slashing

When Joseph Soave, 49, came to his home at 1220 Hodgkiss street, early today, police say, he was admonished by his landlord, Antonia Garcia, 46, for keeping late hours.

The "scolding" precipitated an argument during which Soave was slashed by Garcia, according to police. Garcia was arrested and Soave was taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

MISS COOLIDGE, WOODRING WED

FITCHBURG, Mass., July 25.—(AP.)—Many high in the councils of the nation gathered at the home of United States Senator Marcus A. Coolidge today for the wedding of his daughter, Helen, and Harry Hines Woodring, first assistant Secretary of War and former Governor of Kansas.

The Rev. Max A. Kapp of the First Universalist Church, officiated, and attendants of the bride and bridegroom included James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President; Col. Robert Lemon, aide of Mr. Wooding when he was Governor of Kansas, and Mrs. Donald F. Carpenter, of Leominster, and Mrs. Robert E. Greenwood, of Fitchburg, sisters of the bride.

Senator Coolidge gave his daughter in marriage. Two sons and two daughters of United States Senator Felix Hebert, of Rhode Island, comprised a string quartet and played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.

Equitable Observes 74th Anniversary

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States is today celebrating its 74th anniversary. According to the Edward A. Woods Company, Pittsburgh general agent, the Equitable is one of the oldest American insurance companies, having been established three years before the Civil War. Today it ranks fourth in size with current admitted assets of approximately 1½ billion dollars and over 6½ billion of insurance in force. In 1870 the Equitable built the first skyscraper in New York, a five-story building, the first office building with elevators.

GUARDS WAIT PINCHOT VISIT

MT. GRETNA, July 25.—(AP.)—Graduating into more advanced training than "squads east and west," Pennsylvania National Guardsmen in camp at Mt. Gretna and Indiantown Gap today are going on the target ranges, building pontoon bridges, and attending chemical warfare and other schools.

Part of the day also is to be devoted to preparing for the first review by Gov. Pinchot. The Governor is expected in camp late today from Wshington and tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock will review the 56th Infantry Brigade, the 103rd Engineers, the 28th Division Trains, and special troops. The Governor then will motor to Indiantown Gap to inspect the 53rd Artillery Brigade before continuing to Harrisburg.

Grocers of County To Picnic Tomorrow

The Retail Grocers' Association of Allegheny County will picnic at West View Park tomorrow. Each of the large bakers in the city has donated fancy cakes as prizes at the dancing pavilion. Athletic events will be held in the afternoon. Buttermilk, souvenirs and samples of all descriptions will be distributed, while 200 baskets of food will be given away. There also will be several speakers.

Boulder Dam Work Ahead of Schedule

DENVER.—Construction crews working on the gigantic Boulder Dam are almost a year and two months ahead of schedule, the United States Bureau of Reclamation announced.

Victim of 'Rattler' Rushed to Serum

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 25.—(AP.)—Struck on the forearm by a rattlesnake, George S. Clayton, foreman for the South West Pennsylvania pipe lines, was hurried to a Morgantown hospital last night for a serum injection which physicians say will save his life.

Clayton was working with a crew in the hills near Mannington when he was bitten.

Revenue From Beer To Aid Library

A part of the $2,300 received by the Mt. Lebanon Township from the county as its share of receipts from beer licenses will be used for maintenance of the township's library.

HOW BALBO SPANNED SEA

OFFICIAL co-operation of the Italian government, through the Italian consul in Chicago, will make doubly realistic the story of the daring exploit of General Italo Balbo (above), and his armada of Italian pilots who have just flown to Chicago from Rome, which is to be dramatized in the "Lives at Stake" program broadcast this Tuesday evening, July 25, over WCAE, at 10 o'clock, daylight time.

This radio episode, officially approved by General Balbo, will reproduce Mussolini's farewell in Rome to the air fleet, the take-off, incidents of the flight and the spectacular arrival in Chicago. The Italian consul in Chicago will take part in the program as guest of the sponsor.

ROOSEVELT, GEN. JOHNSON -:- President Addresses Governors' Conference -:- ON THE AIR TONIGHT

'First Lady' Broadcasts To Women

President Roosevelt, speaking from the Oval Room of the White House at midnight tonight, addresses the conference of governors at San Francisco. Governors Rolph, of California, and Pollard, of Virginia, will respond to the President's speech.

Gov. Rolph

In his second radio address in as many days, the Commander-in-Chief of the Recovery Forces will ask the 48 governors' co-operation in putting 6,000,000 unemployed back to work.

Johnson Report

The President's midnight address will be preceded at 10:30 by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's radio report over WCAE on Industrial Recovery progress. Gen. Johnson, administrator of the National Recovery Act, will discuss trade agreements filed by industries to date covering minimum wages and maximum work hours.

Still another broadside at unemployment is fired by Donald A. Richberg, one of the authors of the Recovery Act, and general counsel of the national recovery administration. Richberg will explain some of the legal-labor angles of the act, over CBS-WJAS at 8:15.

Second Courtesy Day AUGUST SALE FURS

● Get your coat early this year. The prices of raw furs are going steadily up. Right now they are 25% to 100% higher than they were Jan. 1. Fine pelts are limited—at a greater premium in the market than they've been for a long time. Frank & Seder placed huge orders early in the season, before prices started their climb. Never in the history of fur fashions have styles been so beautiful. Collars, sleeves, cuffs all show intricate detail. We simply cannot offer coats like these later at August Sale prices. DON'T WAIT!

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

The plans for quite the most important wedding socially in August, that of vivacious young Kittie Collin and Robert R. Forrester, Jr., to take place August 21 in Kennebunkport, Me., have just been completed.

Kittie, or Katherine Elizabeth Collins to use her baptismal name, is the oldest daughter of the junior William Welch Collins, of Sewickley, who are summering as usual at Krennebunkport. Mr. Forrester is a son of Mrs. Harry A. Wilson, of Fifth avenue, New York, and of Robert R. Forrester, also of New York.

At the wedding to take place in the Church of St. Ann's by-the-Sea in Kennebunkport, Georgianna Collin, a debutante of the past season, will be her sister's maid of honor. And Helen and Betsy Collin, two little sisters of the bride-elect, will be flower girls.

Men in Party

Harry A. Wilson will be best man for Mr. Forrester, and Daniel Ellis Woodhul, Jr., Dexter Spear French, Robert Bogue Bell and John Swope will be ushers.

A reception in the Collin summer home will follow the wedding. Kittie Collin is a member of the Pittsburgh Junior League, and before being presented to society in the 1929 season, attended Westover School.

Mr. Forrester was graduated from Harvard in 1930. When in college, he was a member of the Harvard Lampoon staff. His clubs include the Harvard Club, of New York, and Squadron A.

There'll be a Mellon debutante this fall, but not in Pittsburgh. A nephew of James Ross Mellon, Andrew W. Mellon and Richard Beatty Mellon, Edward Purcell Mellon, of New York, and Mrs. Mellon will present their daughter, Mary Churchill Mellon, to New York society this fall.

The New York Mellons and their daughter Mary are summering at Southampton, L. I. They have an Italian type villa there. And Mr. Mellon is president of the Southampton Beach Club.

There was quite a christening ceremony for little Frank Boyd McKown, Jr., son of the Frank Boyd McKowns, Sunday in St. John's Episcopal Church, Fisher's Island. And the Rt. Rev. Henry W. Hobson, bishop of Southern Ohio, who performed the McKowns' marriage ceremony, administered the sacrament of baptism to their son.

Small Son Baptized

Mrs. McKown, the former Helen Pendleton, and her baby have been spending the summer with Mrs. McKown's parents, Maj. and Mrs. Alexander G. Pendleton, at their summer home in Fisher's Island.

Josephine Pendleton, who may be a debutante in the fall, was godmother for her little nephew, and Thomas A. Standish, Jr., of Sewickley, and Phillip Dater, of Stamford, Conn., were godfathers.

May Be Fall Bride

Among those at the christening were the J. Boyd McKowns, Mr. McKown's parents; the William C. Robinsons, Mary Franklin Robinson, Mrs. Henry Oliver, Jr., and the William Booth Trainers.

Women's Ad Club Dance To Be Held on Friday

As an informal get-together, the Women's Ad Club will have a dance at the Willows, Oakmont, on Friday night. Serving with the chairman, Mrs. Martha Hunt Morris, are Miss Helen Ryman, Miss Billie Canariis and Miss Antoinette Bittner.

Mrs. Guthrie Chairman For Democratic Affair

Mrs. George Guthrie is chairman for the card party to be given this evening in the Wentzell Building, Swissvale, by the Women's Auxiliary to the Democratic Organization.

Miss Olive Mary Knipe's Bridal Attendants Gowned in Satins

Not only did the bride wear traditional white satin at the wedding this morning of Miss Olive Mary Knipe and Walter Clark Lesti, of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which took place at 10 o'clock in St. Anne's Church, Castle Shannon, but all her attendants were in satin, too—icy pink and icy blue.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Knipe, of Beverly Heights, Mt. Lebanon, and the bridegroom is the son of Charles Lesti, of Lansing, Mich.

White flowers and cibotium ferns decorated the altar, and the bridal procession passed beneath three arches of pink gladioli with yellow for variation, and smilax, placed at the back of the church, in the center, and at the entrance to the sanctuary.

Floral Arches

Officiating was the Rev. A. C. Angel, pastor of St. Anne's, who was assisted by the Rev. Joseph P. Haugh and the Rev. Regis McCoy, of St. Vincent's, Latrobe.

The bride's gown of white satin, fashioned with princess lines, was buttoned down the back of the bodice with a row of tiny white satin buttons. The buttons were used again on the sleeves of the gown from the tight-fitting wrist to the elbow. Above the elbow the sleeve was cut full on the top of the arm, and pleated into the shoulder. The neck-line was high and straight in front.

Carries Roses

Her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Virginia Ann Knipe, wore icy pink satin, fashioned in princess style, and having a finger-tip length Japanese jacket of the satin. The jacket had circular elbow legnth sleeves, pleated into the shoulder with tiny corded pleats. Her turban was of blue velvet, and her slippers were blue. She carried Johanna Hill roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Winifred McKnight and Mrs. Harold A. Iddings, wore icy blue satin costumes, patterned like that of the maid of honor, and wore pink velvet turbans and pink slippers and, carried pink Briarcliff roses.

Gowns of Icy Blue

The little flower girls, Nancy and Mary Sebring, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Sebring, wore gowns like the bridesmaids and had pink velvet Alice-in-Wonderland bands about their heads. And they carried pink Briarcliff roses.

Harold A. Iddings was best man, and Albert Englert, of Youngstown, O.; James B. Wilson and George Knipe, Jr., brother of the bride, were ushers.

In Black and White

A wedding breakfast for 40 guests followed at the Chartiers Heights Country Club, and a large reception in the Knipe home took place later.

After an eastern motor trip Mr. Lesti and his bride will be at home for a short time with the bride's parents.

Bellevue Outlook Club Committees Announced

The social committee of the Bellevue Outlook Club always heads the list in the year books. Its members this season include Mrs. J. W. King, Mrs. B. W. Nettrour, Mrs. C. C. Elste and Mrs. H. E. Wolf. The program for 1933-34 has been compiled by Mrs. A. F. Trimble, Mrs. G. E. Morcroft and Miss Nettie Johnston. Publicity will be looked after by Mrs. H. W. Pinkerton, Mrs. C. F. Nettrour and Mrs. John F. Nelson.

The club's visiting committee includes Mrs. C. H. Jull, Mrs. Ada Hoobler and Miss Mae Martin and music, Mrs. Andrew Bell and Mrs. P. W. Nettrour. The dramatic committee is Mrs. W. J. Montgomery, Mrs. F. H. Schwerin and Mrs. G. E. Cooper and on the nominating committee are Miss Nettie Johnston, Mrs. C. H. Jull and Mrs. F. M. Field. Mrs. M. F. Taylor, Mrs. M. B. Porch and Mrs. M. E. Steck form the finance committee and auditing is to be done by Mrs. G. H. Quaill, Mrs. Rebecca Daughaday and Mrs. Sion B. Smith.

Mrs. Barnett Davis will give a reception in her home, Albermarle avenue, Sunday night, in honor of her daughter, Miss Sarah Helen Davis. Miss Davis has named October 3 as the date for her marriage to Theodore Abrams.

Mrs. Haller Gives Party in Series For Congress

Mrs. Oliver J. Haller, president of the Congress of Clubs, is entertaining with a dessert bridge at her home in Shady avenue today, as her link in the chain of informal social affairs being given by Congress members this summer.

Mrs. William J. Lauer, another of this week's hostesses, will entertain her guests at a dessert bridge in Congress House tomorrow. Mrs. H. D. Stark was hostess at a bridge luncheon last Friday at her home in Beechwood boulevard.

Whitten Sisters Entertained With Tea

Honoring Miss Ellen E. and Miss Sara J. Whitten, of Los Angeles, formerly of Wilkinsburg, Miss Helen and Miss Edith MacLeod, of Macon avenue, Regent Square, entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon in their home.

Mrs. Thomas M. Allen, of Wilkinsburg, poured, and Mrs. J. Ray Miller and Miss Lillias M. Laing were aides.

Out-of-town guests at the tea included Mrs. Ella M. George, of Beaver Falls; Mrs. Myron S. Fales, of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Lillie M. Kinan, of Los Angeles.

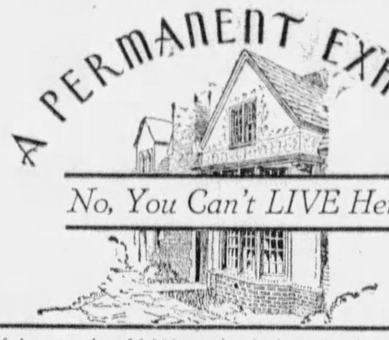
A PERMANENT EXHIBIT.



No, You Can't LIVE Here!

Of the more than 26,000 people who have visited the Better Homes Exhibit, 78.23% (estimated) have asked us to rent them living space in any one of our sixteen actual, full-size houses. We have had to give them all the same answer—a kind, understanding, but firm "No." "This exhibit," we say, "is open free to all the people. Open daily, from ten to five—excepting Saturday, and on Wednesday evenings, too, until ten." Then we intimate that they are free to come up as often as they like and "borrow" our swell ideas to make their own houses more like homes. What more could we do? So please, when you come up, tomorrow, don't ask us to let you live here. It makes us sad to have to refuse.

SMOOTHER SURFACE, STIFFER MATERIAL, NEW FABRIC TRENDS

BY LOOKING carefully at the newest arrivals reaching fine shops, it is easy to see the point—the full fashion story. From year to year, in every new collection there's one focal point which determines the season's mode—usually it's the waistline, sometimes skirt lengths, and, in the last few seasons, it has been the shoulders. However, this fall the waistline and skirt lengths are fairly well established, so now sartorial interest settles acutely on the details at the shoulders and at the hems. Shoulders will be "high, wide and handsome"—skirts, tubalar and straight, with fullness placed very low, if anywhere at all.

FOR EVENING, there are two outstanding facric trends—first, smoother surface. (This is true, incidentally, even of knubby tweeds and woolens for street wear. They seem to bury their naps.) Second, stiffer, more lively fabrics, like taffetas, failles, bengalines, moire (revived) and novelties like canvas, ottamans and silk alpacas. Shining satins and taffetas, both printed and plain, often lacquered, are worn for daytime as well as in the evening. Chiffon is startlingly lovely when lacquered for evening wear.

BLACK, a favorite color of years standing, is stronger than ever—more than 50 per cent in most new fall collections. Cocktail hour dresses with long or short tunic tops are important developments. Two-piece evening dresses, like the rippling black lace gown sketched, tend toward straighter lines, with crisp flaring details at the shoulders and hems. Often, as in this example, it is hard to tell just where the tunic ends. If you look carefully at this dress, you'll be surprised to discover that the tunic stops at the second tiny flounce at the hips.

BESIDES ADDING new fashion interest, this two-piece arrangement is a handy one. It allows one to make several costumes from the first foundation. A white lace top, for instance, would be charming with the black lace skirt. Black and white are tremendously smart again.

ROPES OF PEARLS or staggering amounts of sparkling rhinestone or diamante jewelry as well as jeweled white satin evening purse and gloves, would make this a perfect costume for an early fall evening. Clips in the ear are the newest rhinestones jewelry story. They're no larger than the tip of your little finger, but because of this, terribly chic.

Chautauqua Membership Commentary on Club Life in America

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

The membership of the Chautauqua Woman's Club (which is just now in the middle of its six-week season) represents an interesting commentary on the club life of the country. Strangely enough, the largest portion of its membership comes from Pennsylvania. Next in size comes New York. Colorado contributes two members, Mrs. John D. Sherman, of Estes Park, former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, being one. Far-away California has 13, one of whom is Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, another past president of the General Federation. Mrs. John F. Sippel, also a General Federation past president is a life member as is the incumbent, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, as well as Mrs. Sippel and Mrs. Winter.

Thirty-six states, the District of Columbia, and Canada, England, China, India, Japan, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, West Africa, Siam, Persia, Cuba and Porto Rico are represented among the more than 1,000 members.

Western Pennsylvania furnished several of the life members, among them Mrs. William H. Alexander, of Monongahela; Mrs. W. Riley Alter, New Kensington; Miss Ida M. Allerton, Mrs. Robert E. Anderson, Mrs. W. C. Anderson, Mrs. R. J. Cleland, Mrs. John S. Craig, Mrs. George W. Eisenbeis, Mrs. William U. Follansbee, Mrs. W. R. Hadley, Mrs. Grace Miller Hitchcock, Mrs. Andrew Braznell, Mrs. W. H. Hopkins, Miss Eleanor Lewis, Mrs. James G. Lewis, Mrs. J. J. Mathews, Mrs. Jessie D. Maxwell, Mrs. Charles R. Miller, Jr., Mrs. C. H. E. Succop, Mrs. John W. Zoerb and Miss Lyde Kerr Wilson, all from Pittsburgh.

Mrs. John A. Frick of Allentown, and Mrs. Samuel Semple, of Titusville, former presidents of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, are life members as are Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Mrs. Frankling Delano Roosevelt. Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, Mrs. Charles B. McLean and Mrs. Wallis J. Tener, all former Pittsburghers, are included in the life membership, too.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, the president of the club, who is only the third to have held that office since it was organized, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Pennybacker, also belong to this class of membership.

And there are "in memoriam" members, one of them being Mrs. Mary J. Davis, whose membership is maintained by her daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Cleland; Mrs. Roger Sherman, the membership maintained by Mrs. T. W. Phillips, Jr., of Butler; and Mrs. Margaret Jones Grable, whose daughter, Miss Flora Jones, of Monongahela, memorializes her mother in this way.

CAMAY
For women, life is a Beauty Contest. Your looks are judged with every glance. And a Camay complexion can help!

HAVE you heard the very latest news on Soap? Do you know about the pure bland beauty soap that can improve your skin?

Camay, the Soap of Beautiful Women, is virtually a "cosmetic" soap. Your skin acquires new freshness from the very first cake you use.

"CONVINCE YOURSELF"

Offered in a gay green and yellow package—its freshness protected in Cellophane—the modern expression of a fine beauty aid.

"For the first time in years, I feel my skin is getting the proper care, now that I use Camay," said a fashion designer.

"Plenty of lather—that's what I like about Camay," said a vivacious schoolgirl.

Camay is a grand soap—a 1933 soap—a distinct advance over formulas at one time popular.

Convince yourself! Keep up with the times. Use Camay. A new loveliness is in store for your skin. And more compliments than ever before!

COUNCIL SEAT SOUGHT BY GALLAGHER

Representative Thomas J. Gallagher, of the South Side, today became a candidate for a Democratic nomination as City Councilman. In his announcement Gallagher, who also was nominated as a Republican for the Legislature, repudiated that party, blaming it for the failure of social legislation in the last session of the General Assembly.

Gallagher was sponsor of the resolution for an investigation of sweatshop conditions in Pennsylvania, and served on the committee which toured the state.

Gallagher said today:

"Five months spent at Harrisburg as a member of the General Assembly and two months devoted to the investigation of Pennsylvania's sweatshops have made me regret the fact that one of my nominations to office was won on the Republican ticket, although an Independent Republican.

"Until this year, I had inclined to the belief that the Republican party, admittedly the protector of great wealth, was also the protector of the helpless poor—of whom there are millions in this commonwealth. Now I know better.

"Man's inhumanity to man is more or less of an accepted fact. But man's inhumanity to women and little children, as demonstrated by a majority of the Republican members of the Senate and Assembly, is almost unbelievable.

"If, because of the fact that I was nominated by both Republican and Democratic parties, I ever wondered in which party I really belonged, I was not in doubt for long when the Republican policy on social legislation was made manifest.

"I soon discovered that my place was alongside the seven Democratic members from Allegheny County, who, under the leadership of County Chairman David L. Lawrence, were fighting for the enactment of the same measures that I was advocating: old age pensions, reduced hours for female labor and the elimination of the sweatshop and starvation wages.

"We were defeated. But that defeat has made mandatory that the people take control of the government from the Republican party. The first step to that goal is the ousting of the Republican party from power in the government of the city of Pittsburgh. Success in this endeavor will have a tremendous influence in the contest next year."

W. VA. RATIFIES REPEAL

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 25.—(AP.)—West Virginia becomes the sixteenth state today to complete formal ratification of the repeal amendment.

Carrying out the mandate of the voters expressed at the special election on June 27, 20 delegates pledged for repeal meet at noon to record formally the state's decision.

No particular program has been arranged for the convention to which the delegates were elected over delegates pledged against ratification by a majority of 82,086.

The House of Delegates chamber, largest auditorium in the new $10,000,000 capitol, was selected for the ceremony.

JUDGE 'MOLDS' JURY'S VERDICT

An opinion was on file in County Court today in which Judge Sara M. Soffel "molded" a jury's ambiguous verdict.

Mrs. Lenora Long, widow, 67, had sued the City of Pittsburgh and Hanna M. Rosenthal and Mrs. Anna L. Rubin for damages because of injuries she suffered in a fall on the sidewalk between their properties at 5876 and 5878 Hobart street. The case was tried May 25, resulting in a verdict for $1,137, in which the jury said:

"We find the city primarily responsible and the individual defendants secondarily responsible."

A motion for a new trial was argued recently before Judge Soffel, who late yesterday handed down an opinion and the "molded verdict," in which she fixes a verdict against the city for $1,137, together with a verdict for the city against the individuals for $1,137, so that the individuals will have to recompense the city.

MRS. ASKIN DIES, CLUBWOMAN

Mrs. Margaret Lucinda K. Askin, 73, well-known Pittsburgh clubwoman, died at her home at the Ruskin Apartments yesterday.

Mrs. Askin was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh. She was a descendant of Nicholas Dupuil, member of the Continental Congress.

She was a member of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution; Wimodausis, Daughters of American Pioneers; National Society of New England Women, Allegheny County Civic Club, Wednesday Current Events Club, Congress of Clubs, Tuesday Musical Club, Daughters of American Colonists, Women's City Club and of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church.

CRAFTSMAN DUE FOR MEETING

Lester E. Harris, executive secretary of the Memorial Craftsmen of America, will arrive here shortly from Chicago to arrange for the organization's convention in the William Penn Hotel beginning August 8.

OHIO SEEKING PENSION VOTE

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—(AP.)—Petitions bearing 130,000 signatures and asking a vote in November on the initiated old age pension bill in Ohio were filed today with the Secretary of State.

The proposed law would provide for pensions of not to exceed $25 a month "to worthy, needy citizens unable to support themselves and who have no relatives able to support them, who are 65 years of age or older, who have been residents of the state at least 15 years continuously prior to their making pension applications, and who have not been prisoners in criminal institutions."

Clearfield County Picnic to Be Held

Former residents of Clearfield County will hold their second annual picnic at Westinghouse Park, Homewood, Saturday.

Sports, music and other features are planned. Tom Hill, Lind Faust, W. Maxwell McKnight and Fred Stockbridge compose the committee.

INFANT FALLS OUT WINDOW

Excited at the appearance of other children in a yard nearby, 18-month-old Phyllis Jones plunged through an open window at her home, 3601 Mexico street, North Side, and was injured seriously last night.

The child fell eight feet on concrete steps leading to the cellar. At Suburban Hospital, Bellevue, it was believed her skull was fractured.

The baby had climbed upon the kitchen table to play with a pan. Her father, Frank Jones, unemployed, was in the room but did not see the child get to her feet. The baby is the youngest of three children.

Glib Prosecutor Stumbles Over Killabbapnnana

ERIE, July 25.—(AP.)—Burton Laub, assistant district attorney, usually an accomplished linguist, stuttered when he stood before a judge yesterday with a prisoner about to plead guilty of violation of the firearms act.

4-HOUR BATTLE FAILS TO SAVE DROWNED BOY

A four-hour battle to resuscitate Robert Thompson, 15, of 127 Saginaw street, after he had been taken from the Ohio River near the foot of Frustum street, Esplen, proved futile last night.

Robert, 15

The boy failed to reappear after diving from a spring board. His unconscious form was brought to the surface 20 minutes later by his brother, Louis, 17, and Charles Crotty, of West Carson street. They began diving when Robert failed to reappear.

The first aid squad from the James H. Reed plant of the Duquesne Light Company on Brunots Island and police worked feverishly to revive the victim. While artificial respiration was being applied, a mongrel dog found its way through the crowd and began licking Robert's feet.

It was thrust away several times, but when police learned it belonged to the victim the loyal canine was allowed to remain at his side.

Rod Jolted From Truck Kills Man

His skull fractured by an iron rod that was jolted from a truck when it skidded against a pole in Second avenue, near Brady street, last night, George Gaches, 60, of Forbes and Magee streets, died a short time later in Mercy Hospital, according to a Coroner's report.

It Pays to Read Advertisements

It Will Pay You to Read This One

THE other day a friend gave my wife a recipe for a new Froze: Orange Pudding. We had it last night for dessert.

"This is something new," I said. "Where did you get it?"

"Mae gave me the recipe yesterday. She clipped it from an advertisement."

My wife didn't read that advertisement. If her friend hadn't read it, what a treat we would have missed.

Do you read the advertisements? It will pay you many times over to do so. From them you may learn about all sorts of new things. New foods, new ways to use them, new recipes that will add variety to the daily menu.

Right in the advertisements in this paper there are countless things to interest you, to save you money, to bring you the most value for what you spend. And now, as a reward for reading this advertisement, here is the recipe that inspired it.

Recipe for Frozen Orange Pudding

Ingredients: 2 egg yolks (beaten); 1 cup orange juice; 1 cup cream (light cream or top milk will do); 4 teaspoonfuls flour; ⅛ teaspoonful salt; ⅓ cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful grated orange rind.

Blend thoroughly egg yolks, sugar, flour, salt, and add orange juice and cream. Put in double boiler until thick. Add orange rind, cool and pour into freezing tray of refrigerator—or three or four hours on ice. When ready to serve, top each dish with meringue made by beating two egg whites stiff and adding ¼ cup sugar. Garnish with orange segments.

It pays to read all the advertisements in this paper.

SCOTS' OUTING WILL HONOR JOHN KANE

John Kane was humming the marching song of the Black Watch. Forty-second Highlanders and tapping one foot when Clara Scott MacKay came up the steps and into the Kane rooms at 1700 Fifth avenue.

And in these humble rooms, remote from the clean hills of Glencalder and the dusty roads of the Highlands where the Scot warriors sing this song, it took on an exotic flavor.

Kane had been putting finishing touches to a picture—for it was John Kane, veteran house painter long since become an artist.

GLADDENED BY KILTS

And when he saw Mrs. MacKay in kilts he dropped his brush, began singing aloud, and despite his advanced years, and a bum leg, did bits of a Highland fling. And Mrs. Maggie Kane, his wife, shushed him, saying:

"Oh, don't ye mind him, he's always singin' or rhymin'."

John was happy. For Mrs. MacKay and her companion, Thomas Fraser, brought word that he was invited to the Scottish picnic, August 15, in Kennywood Park.

He was not only to be there, but the Scot clans were arranging an exhibit of his pictures—the kind that became the vogue when they shocked the art world through the International Exhibit some years ago, only to be recognized when Mrs. Rockefeller bought one in New York, and made John Kane, poor Scotsman, somewhat of a character in the art world.

PICTURE OF BROTHER

Said Kane:

"The picnics have been held every year for 35 years, and I've been to at least 30 of them. It'll be wonderful with all the Scotch lasses looking at old John Kane."

Many of Kane's subjects have been of a Scot nature, and among the pictures he'll show will be one, "Scots Wha Hae?" in which three dancers in kilts are shown against a background of Kennywood on the Scottish outing day.

And Mr. Fraser, member of the committee, is holding something back from John. It's a secret, and the painter will be in the dark until he arrives at the picnic.

EARTH MAKING SHELL, SAYS GEOLOGIST

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Like an egg building its own shell, the earth is making itself a granite "skin."

And that, the International Geological Congress was told today, helps solve the age-old question of whence came the continents. They are part of this granite shell, which hasn't yet stretched all the way around, but which has been in process of building for, perhaps, a billion years.

How the earth has been doing its shell-building was explained by W. H. Collins, director of the geological survey of Canada. It's exactly like the famous prison pastime of making little rocks out of big ones, but with the tremendous heat and pressure inside the earth serving as the motive power instead of sledge hammers.

The earth's shell, as represented by the continent, is made up of a rock known as sial, said Collins. Deeper down, and underlying the oceans is a heavier layer of rock called sima. Because sial is lighter than sima, the continents float.

The sial, he went on, is like an iceberg in the sea, in that it is derived from the same material as that in which it floats. Mountain chains along the edges of continents are the places where the shell-building job is going on.

Sial is formed when sima below mixes with rocks hardened from water-washed sediments above by one or all of three processes, Collins said. By one, material from molten rocks deep in the earth mingles with the upper rocks. By another the upper rocks are dissolved in the molten material from below. By a third the sima splits up into sial and some other kinds of rock when it rises to the surface and cools slowly. All three processes make granite.

'VAPOR' LIGHT DISCOVERED

CINCINNATI, July 25.—A new kind of light, a rosy-hued mercury vapor lamp, was announced today at the University of Cincinnati.

In this lamp the sickly greenish hue of mercury vapor is completely changed by the addition of a pinch of potassium, the metal metal which flames in water. All the intensity of mercury vapor light is retained, says the announcement.

The discovery is classed as opening the way to more efficient illumination. It was developed in the department of physics by two young scientists, Dr. Isay Balinkin and Dr. D. A. Wells.

Five Prisoners Cut Way to Freedom

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., July 25.—(AP.)—Five men being held in the Chippewa County Jail here on charges of burglary with a gun escaped from the jail early today. They fled in a small automobile.

They escaped by chiseling through a floor after three other prisoners were tied up, whose cries attracted officers after the five had fled.

Clothier Ends Life With Sleep Drug

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—An overdose of sleeping tablets taken, police said, with apparent suicide attempt caused the death today of Robert Burns Ogilvie, 45, member of the clothing firm of A. Starr Best.

SPANKING ENDS NEW RACKET

ST. PAUL, July 25.—(AP.)—A new "snatching" racket has been uncovered here, and, it is believed, nipped in the bud by the simple expedient of a "pants warming."

The victim of the snatching was a cocker spaniel puppy. Its owner inserted an advertisement in a local paper asking return of the dog. The ad gave a phone number, but no address.

The following morning a boy called to say he thought he knew where the dog was. Informed a reward of $2 would be paid for its return, he replied:

"Okay—I'll be right over."

Instead of a boy, a man appeared with the dog, explaining his son had found it and asked him to bring it over. When it was pointed out the boy could not have known the address, since only the phone number was published, the man was convinced the dog must have been stolen.

BROKER-ORATOR SHOWS HIS CUP

With the evidence, a large silver cup, here as proof, fellow members of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board had to admit today that J. Meryl Silk is quite some orator.

Each year, at the annual convention of real estate boards, there is a competition for the best 5-minute speech in favor of a home town.

Silk, the third Pittsburgher to win, praised Pittsburgh so convincingly at the Chicago convention June 15, that the judges gave him the silver trophy on the spot. But engravers are not as quick as judges. It took a month and longer to get Silk's name and home town inscribed.

But yesterday it arrived. Silk's fellow real estate dealers had their first view of the cup at a combination meeting and golf tournament held at St. Clair Country club. Even with three wins, they don't know whether Pittsburgh has won permanent possession yet or not. As Silk says:

"We think maybe we have. We are the only town with three winners. Besides, there isn't room for any more names!"

By MARK SHIELDS

Mr. Shields

With the Republican mayoralty situation muddled by an overabundance of candidates, the Democratic nomination takes on an importance and a value that it has not possessed for a generation.

If there is no clarification among the Republicans prior to the primary vote, it is certain that the campaign to choose a nominee will be a bitterly-fought affair. Wounds will be caused which cannot be healed in the time intervening between September 19 and November 7, the day of the general election. No matter who the winner among the Republicans, the losers will not be in humor to accept the result gracefully, the militancy and continued force of their rancor dependent only on which candidate emerges the victor.

Democrats to Gain Despite Outcome

In any event there is certain to be potential profit in the situation for the Democratic candidate. Not only will he be able to muster the friends of the defeated candidates, but if he is the proper type he will appeal to a great group of independent voters in the event Mayor Herron should be renominated.

In the event one of the anti-Herron candidates should win, his appeal may be to some organization sources which will not relish being swept from power. These sources will attempt, undoubtedly, to get some assurances of comparative safety from the Democratic candidate. Failing that—and they may if the advice of Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley is followed—it is conceivable they will go for the Democrat anyhow as a reprisal against their foes in their own party.

If the Democratic candidate should not be of the type to arouse independent enthusiasm in the event of a Herron victory, it is possible a third man may enter the fight as an independent.

This, of course, is all speculative, and depends largely upon the degree to which independent voters can be aroused in the present primary. There was a high tide of independent sentiment some weeks ago. It was not highly articulate, but in its own way was pleading for a leader behind which it might rally.

Independent Voters Not Yet Certain

It is no distortion of fact to say that as the preliminaries to the campaign have progressed, this independent sentiment has not remained at white heat. It has been somewhat puzzled at the maze into which the various candidates have wandered.

There are some independent voters who are anxious to know what high principle of independent government is involved among the present candidates. They realize quite well that there are differences of caliber between Messrs. Herron, McArdle, Malone and Mackrell, but they wish to know how far any one of the three Herron opponents would go in altering the existing order.

Upon the ability of one or all of this trio to convince the voters that their eletcion would mean a complete new deal, the creation of a new set of practical governmental principles, depends the extent to which independent sentiment can be reincarnated and translated into votes.

And there is this fact to consider: Perhaps the Republican candidates will speak so plainly and so acrimoniously about each other that they will succeed in convincing the voters that none, no matter who is nominated, should have the Mayor's job. It may be that kind of campaign.

President Could Aid Candidate

Certainly, the Democrats have opportunity knocking at their door, and a worthy candidate will

TWO HUSBANDS WIN DIVORCES OVER LIQUOR

Both Charge Wives Neglected Homes For Drinking

Two husbands have been awarded divorces after testifying their wives drank to excess, court records revealed today.

Dr. Ernest H. Gibbs, of 2169 Wylie avenue, obtained a decree from Leona A. Gibbs, of Buffalo, and Lloyd A. Ramsey, of 3537 East street, divorced Ida E. Ramsey, of Philipsburg, Pa.

Dr. Gibbs testified before Judge Thomas M. Marshall that his wife neglected her home and children and absented herself for weeks at a time without explanation. He added:

"She was a continuous hard drinker. Once after she had been away for a considerable time she became belligerent when I asked her about her absence."

Judge Ralph E. Smith, who granted Ramsey a divorce, wanted to know where Mrs. Ramsey obtained the liquor she drank, but the husband said he did not know. He testified:

"We moved five times in two years. My wife burned seven books I prized very highly. She was a poor housekeeper and took no interest in her home. She told me she did not intend to work, and only married me to provide a living without working. She also became intoxicated. I had to get friends to assist me in putting her to bed because of her drinking."

A divorce also was granted to Hilda Beckwith from William Bryce Beckwith.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

OAKLAND, Cal., July 25.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, I am still herding Governors. Got to go by air to keep up with some of 'em, in Roscoe Turner's Lockheed headed for Frisco, where I will file this. With Roscoe is Fred Balzar, the flying Governor of Nevada, and Gov. Green, of Rhode Island, who has just flown all around Central America.

Will Rogers

Gov. White, of Ohio, and family flew from Columbus Sunday. Gov. Miller, of Wyoming, flew from Cheyenne. This herding Governors ain't near as bad as I thought it would be. Just give 'em plenty to eat and let 'em speak and they don't give you any bother.

Green, of Rhode Island, and Gov. Cross, of Connecticut, are awful highly educated and speak different from these western and southern Governors. So my job is really an interpreter for Green and Cross.

I am carrying a proxy from Bill Murray and Ma Ferguson both, so I got a lot of voting strength in the convention.

Yours, WILL.

BLAMES LIQUOR IN WIFE KILLING

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP.)—Returned here from Pittsburgh to face a charge of fatally beating his wife, Leo D. Murphy, 41-year-old printer, was quoted by District Attorney's officers as saying he remembered faintly of beating the woman, but asserted his mind was blank for five hours the night she was attacked.

Mrs. Murphy died December 11, 1926, after making a statement charging her husband with beating her so severely her jaw and left leg were fractured.

Murphy was quoted by District Attorney Buron Fitts as saying:

"If she said I did all those things, I suppose I did. It seems that liquor always turns me into a fiend."

Murphy, said to have assumed the name of Lee Daniel Callahan, was arrested in Pittsburgh July 7. He had married a fourth time and was the father of a 15-month-old baby boy. Mrs. Callahan, loyal to her husband, said she intended hitch-hiking to California to be at his side when he stands trial.

Alcohol Can Be Deadly Even in Its Driest Form

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Didn't get President Roosevelt's talk last night. But we understand he is giving the big boys the choice between business and ethics.

We were in an upper berth aimed at Chicago. Just when Mr. Roosevelt went on the air our electric fan went off it.

If he said anything about Wall Street, it's a week too late. The raid is over and the bandits are back in the hills.

You can't blame the brokers any more than you can blame the house cat. There's never any closed season for mice. And there's no dead line for suckers.

There's one thing the small investor has discovered for himself. Gambling in alcohol stocks in 1933 is more deadly than drinking it was in 1921.

COOK, JUDGES AT KLINE RITES

A chauffeur, a cook, a former Governor, numerous judges and countless other public officials paid homage yesterday at the bier of former Mayor Charles H. Kline, who was laid to rest in a vault in Allegheny Cemetery.

Former Gov. John S. Fisher, Mayor Herron and State Senator James J. Coyne were there.

The services were simple. Prayers were offered by the Rev. S. N. Hutchison, pastor of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. B. M. Paul, of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church.

For hours before the services a steady stream of friends of the former Mayor passed by his coffin.

Only a few cars were in the funeral procession to the cemetery, where services were private. This was in accordance with the wishes of the widow of the man who was a state senator a jurist and a mayor.

Early Oddities of Odd-Year Campaign

Oddities already have made their appearance on the local political stage as the odd-year campaign gets under way.

Rice Writer Boosts Burns

Burgess Dan Burns, New Kensington, who announced his candidacy for Mayor when the borough becomes a third class city this fall, has received encouragement on a grain of rice. E. L. Blystone, of Ardara, Pa., appearing in Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" Odditorium at the Chicago World's Fair, sent him a grain inscribed:

"Dan Burns. Good Luck. Hope You Make It Again. Bly, the Rice Writer."

118 On One Petition, All of Them Related

The petition contains 118 names, all of whom are related. And none are more distant than first cousins.

CATHEDRAL TOP FOR CARD PARTY

It's a new way to keep cool while playing bridge on these hot summer days—playing on top of the University of Pittsburgh Cathedray of Learning

The idea was inaugurated by the members of the Gwens, national honorary activity fraternity for sophomore women, who sponsored a benefit bridge party yesterday.

Marking the first social event to be held on the top floor of the new building, the bridge attracted a large number of summer students and faculty membrs. The thirty-sixth floor of the Cathedral was specially decorated for the occasion.

Anna Jane Elmer is president of the society and Sylvia Fixel was in charge of the arrangements for the benefit. The money derived from the party will help to pay the way of delegates to the society's national convention at the University of Miami.

SEPARATED PAIR IN NORTH SIDE TRAGEDY

Husband Tries Suicide After Slashing Mate, Police Report

Jacob C. Thompson, 36, the candy salesman who attempted to end his life after chloroforming and fatally slashing his estranged wife in his room, 302 River avenue, North Side, yesterday, according to police, was reported recovering in the Allegheny General Hospital today.

Mr. Thompson

His wife, Sarah, was dead from razor slashes on the throat and wrists when police, who had been called by neighbors, arrived. In the same room they found Thompson, his wrists bleeding profusely, bewailing the fact that he was still alive.

A letter, written on the stationery of a downtown hotel and addressed to police, was found on a table. It was signed by Thompson, and it told how his home had been broken up by another man. The letter in part follows:

"It was very hard to live without my wife and children after 12 years. To think that my home was broken up . . . was more than I could stand . . . We had quarrels and spats before, but we always settled them among ourselves . . . Before I would see my wife like she is I would kill her for my children's sake. I hope you forgive me, because I love her and couldn't get her back. Be good to my children."

The couple have two children, Sara, 10, and Jack, 12. They made their home with their mother at 503 Lacock street.

The Thompsons separated three years ago, neighbors said. Yesterday afternoon, as was her custom, she went to her husband's room to help him wrap candy which he peddled during the day, police said.

Police, reconstructing the crime, believed a struggle between Thompson and his wife followed his attempt to chloroform her. The empty bottle was found on the floor. After chloroforming her, Thompson cut her throat and wrists and then turned the razor on himself, police said. His screams brought other roomers and police were notified.

FOUR IN FAMILY POISONED

Four members of a Hazelwood family, ill in the Mercy Hospital from food poisoning, were recovering today.

They are John Kominski, 36, of 4 Alluvian street; his wife, Katherine, 34, and two sons, John Jr., 13, and Peter, 11.

They were stricken after eating canned soup Saturday night, and were taken to the hospital yesterday.

Two other children in the family, Mike, 14, and Anna, 5, did not eat the soup. The food and its container were tested in the hospital laboratories and reported to have been tainted with "food poisoning."

BOROUGH WAITS PUBLIC POWER PLAN REPORT

Engineers will report their findings on the practicability of Coraopolis Borough's using excess power from its water plant for street lightning, now supplied by the Duquesne Light Company, at a special meeting of Borough Council tomorrow night.

The report will provide a climax to the long fight between the borough and the light company, waged since the borough's own light plant was sold to the Duquesne firm in 1927.

DISAGREEMENT RENEWED

The disagreement was renewed with increased intensity last fall, when the borough canceled its contract with the light company—which it was paying about $12,000 yearly for street lighting—in an effort to obtain rate cuts.

Since that time, with greatly reduced lights and candlepower, the light company has billed the borough on the basis of about $8,500 a year.

Of this arrangement, Borough Solicitor H. C. A. Hofacker says:

"Half of our town is dark, of course—a very unsatisfactory arrangement."

The new deal which Engineer Peter Loftus has been studying would provide, it is estimated, 60 per cent more light for the borough than it ever had for the $12,000 it paid before breaking the contract.

Light would come from the water works, where the borough manufactures power in excess of its needs.

OWNERSHIP RUMOR

Hofacker denied rumors that a decision by the borough to manufacture its own light would probably be but a forerunner of public ownership of a domestic light-producing plant. He said:

"No, we can't do that. Back in 1928 when we sold our municipal lighting plant, we gave the Ouquesne Light Company a 25-year franchise and we can't break that."

All domestic light in the borough and all industrial light and power will continue to be supplied by the Duquesne Light Company, he said.

Coraopolis—across the river from Sewickley, home of scions of wealth and foes of public ownership—was showing a good annual profit on its light plant when it supplied all light and power needs in the borough, prior to 1928, Hofacker said.

Since that time, it has found that private capitalism is costing it approximately $40,000 a year.

Dentist, U. S. Native, Ends Life in France

NICE, France, July 25.—(AP.)—Dr. Perry R. Chance, 62-year-old dentist born in Oklahoma, but a naturalized French citizen, was found dead with a bullet wound in his heart at his country villa near Nice on Monday, police announced today in reporting the death as suicide.

benefit not only from Republican troubles but from beneficial effects of the Roosevelt recovery program which, however it may terminate in the time to come, certainly will be functioning with economic advantage in November.

The name Roosevelt is one to conjure with right now. In the mills and plants and factories which are resuming operation, workmen as a rule are crediting the regaining of their jobs to the Democratic President, rather than to the owners of the plants and to the employing executives. It is a strange situation in that regard, one which is causing much comment among men in public office.

Wherefore, if the President should find as his party nominee for Mayor of Pittsburgh a man he could conscientiously indorse, he could give that man a tremendous lift. Such word from Washington would not, under the circumstances, be resented by the public, or viewed as interference in a local affair.

The Republican leader who believes that the Republican label is a sufficient platform this fall is fooling himself, for this is a year in which the primary probably will prove far from conclusive.

McKanna Funeral.

Funeral services for Frank B. McKanna, 83, will be held at the William Slater and Son funeral home, Virginia avenue, Mt. Washington, tonight at 8 o'clock. Interment will be in Homewood Cemetery. Mr. McKanna died Friday in Tampa, where he had made his home for several years.

He was born in Washington County and spent all his life in the Pittsburgh district. He was graduated from Waynesburg College and for a time taught school in Washington, later becoming a partner in the Sadler, Martin Stock Company. Several years ago he retired from the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company after 32 years' service. He made his home in Pittsburgh with a daughter, Mrs. Harry J. Armor, of 449 Vandalia street. He was a member of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church.

Besides Mrs. Armor he leaves two other daughters, Mrs. G. A. Tarr, of Milford, Mich., and Mrs. C. D. Hillman, of Baden, Pa., and three step-sons, W. Edward Ray, of Niles, O.; Arthur W. Ray, of Lima, O., and Elmer B. Ray, of Toledo.

Thomas E. Clarty.

Thomas E. Clarty, 36, died yesterday in St. Francis Hospital. For 15 years he had been a funeral director at 2050 Beaver avenue.

Mr. Clarty was born in Pittsburgh. He was a member of St. Ann's Church, Allegheny Council No. 285, Knights of Columbus, and the Allegheny County Funeral Directors' Association.

Besides his widow he leaves two sons, Thomas E., Jr., and John Clarty; a daughter, Miss Mary Clarty; his mother, Mrs. Mary Clarty; a brother, Edward Clarty, and a sister, Mrs. Marie O'Malley.

Funeral services will be held in St. Ann's Church at 10 a. m. Thursday.

Donahoe Funeral.

Men and women prominent in business and political affairs attended funeral services for Peter J. Donahoe, founder and president of Donahoe's, Inc., yesterday. Services were held at the home, Stanton and Morningside avenues, followed by solemn high mass of requiem in St. Raphael's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery. Mr. Donahoe died Thursday.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. E. E. Tebbetts and Mrs. Paul McCrory; four sons, John A., Edmond T., Kernan and Jerome T. Donahoe, and a brother, Thomas K. Donahoe.

Abplanalp Funeral.

Funeral services for Jacob Abplanalp, 43, were to be held this afternoon at the William Aeberli funeral home, 124 East North avenue, North Side. Mr. Abplanalp, who lived at 202 East Ohio street, died Sunday night in the Veterans' Hospital, Aspinwall.

During the World War he served with the 80th Division. He was a member of the Lutheran Church.

He leaves four brothers, August, of San Francisco, and John, Harry and Andrew, all of Pittsburgh, and a sister, Mrs. Herman Rhode, of New York.

Ganter Funeral.

Valentine A. Ganter, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Ganter, 429 Orchard place, Knoxville, died yesterday in Kittanning Hospital. Funeral services will be held Thursday at the St. Canice Roman Catholic Church.

He leaves his parents, five sisters, Mrs. James A. Lanagan, Miss Mary Agnes, Miss Cathlene, Miss Helen and Miss Grace, and two brothers, William and Francis.

LAWYER WON'T BE CANDIDATE

Attorney Donald C. Anderson, indorsed by the Democratic Lawyers Committee for judge of Common Pleas Court, has declined to be a candidate. He explained that his duties with the Bar Association investigation committee might prove embarrassing to the committee as well as himself, and did not desire to abandon those duties.

Union electrical workers have formed for political action the Allegheny County Electrical Workers' Club. The club will attempt to follow the policy of the American Federation of Labor in political campaigns, helping friends and defeating enemies. A board of directors will be elected, one from each legislative district in the county.

Loses 28 Pounds of Fat

The improvement in this woman's figure, after she had lost 28 lbs., of unwanted fat can easily be imagined from the comparative measurements which she gives below. Note also the effects of the treatment she used. Her method is evidently a good one to follow.

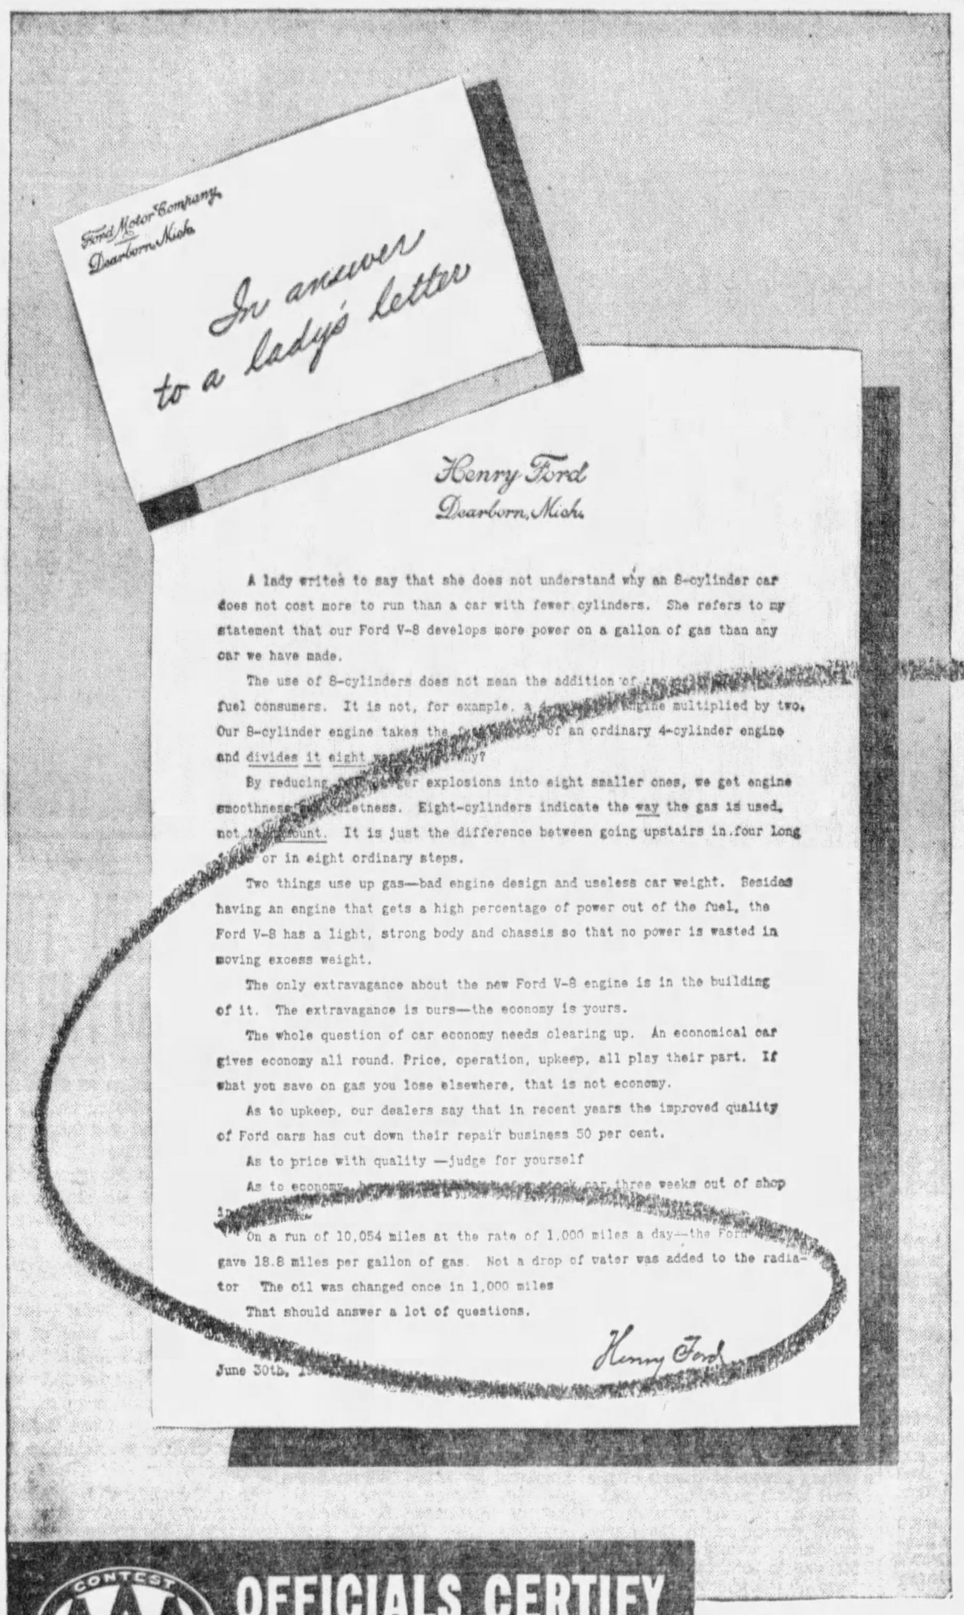
"I am 24 years of age; height 5 ft. 5½ in.; and a short time ago my weight was 28 lbs. above normal. I was listless and without energy. Now, after taking Kruschen Salts regularly I have lost 28 lbs. in weight and have much more vitality. Also I have a very good complexion, and I do not have face blemishes of any kind. Surely this must be due to my having pure blood, and I attribute the fact to my taking Kruschen Salts.

"I made the above reduction in four months, during which time I must admit that I did not touch chocolates or sweets of any description, pastries, potatoes, butter or sugar. I kept to this for four months and lost 28 lbs. I honestly think it would not have been possible without the aid of Kruschen Salts, because as my weight is now normal for my height and age, I am able to keep it without dieting, just by continuing with the Kruschen Salts alone."—I give my measurements below:—(Miss) M. S.

Before	After
Weight 168 lbs.	Weight 140 lbs.
Bust ... 42 ins.	Bust ... 34 ins.
Waist .. 31 ins.	Waist .. 26 ins.
Hips ... 40 ins.	Hips ... 36 ins.

If one inexpensive jar (lasts 4 weeks) doesn't joyfully satisfy, money back from any drug store. Make sure you get Kruschen—prescribed by many physicians and recognized the world over as the SAFE way to reduce and at the same time gain in health and physical charm.

. . . In Washington, Mr. Ford--



Ford Motor Company
Dearborn, Mich.
In answer to a lady's letter
Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.
A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.
The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a
Our 8-cylinder engine takes the and divides it eight
By reducing smoothness not the count. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long or in eight ordinary steps.
Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.
The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.
The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.
As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.
As to price with quality—judge for yourself
As to economy
On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles
That should answer a lot of questions.
Henry Ford
June 30th,

AMOCO-GAS in one of your V-8 cars-- gave 22½ miles to the gallon!

---3.7 more miles per gallon—A 20% increase over the 18.8 miles per gallon which is considered good Ford V-8 performance.

IT was a test run under official A. A. A. supervision, too. In a stock Ford V-8 taken right out of the Chester, Pa. plant, AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO MOTOR OIL were used exclusively. Here's the A. A. A. report:

"From June 21st, 1933 until June 28th, an Economy Run was made under the auspices of the A. A. A. and the Washington Ford Dealers. A stock model Ford V-8 was used. The car was sealed in eleven places by the A. A. A. in order to obviate tampering which might take it out of the stock car class and average motor performance. This car was run continuously day and night over a course extending through traffic from Washington, D. C. to Mount Vernon, over Memorial Highway. The official figures are as follows:

Miles covered	5,022.1
AMOCO-GAS consumed	222.8 gallons
Miles per gallon of AMOCO-GAS obtained	22.5
AMOCO OIL consumed	1.57 gallons
Average of 1 gallon AMOCO OIL per	3,182.57 miles
1 quart of AMOCO OIL for each	795.46 miles
Average speed maintained	27.46 miles per hour

"No water was added to the radiator during the entire run, and no mechanical difficulties of any nature were encountered."

These figures are official and are so recorded by the American Automobile Association Contest Committee.

That's performance where AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO MOTOR OIL give performance--on the road. There is nothing else like AMOCO-GAS--the original premium motor fuel. It is the one complete motor fuel. It gives better performance--greater mileage and fewer repairs--always.

The premium on AMOCO-GAS has been reduced 2¢ per gallon. As one user puts it: "Now I can't afford not to use AMOCO-GAS".

Take this Ford Economy Run, for instance. The mileage on AMOCO-GAS was 20% greater than the 18.8 miles per gallon mentioned in Mr. Ford's letter, thus making AMOCO-GAS--on a mileage basis alone--cost less than regular gasoline. In other words, you get greater riding ease--greater driving ease--greater freedom from repairs--for nothing.

Fill up with AMOCO-GAS! Always the best buy--now a better buy than ever.

SON TO CONDUCT MOTHER'S RITES

With her son, the Rev. Joseph Maxwell, assistant superintendent of St. Paul's Orphanage, as celebrant of solemn requiem high mass at St. Raphael's Church, Mrs. Ellen Boyle Maxwell, 71, who died in her home, 1622 Jancey street, yesterday, will be buried Thursday morning. The Rev. W. P. Maxwell, of East Liverpool, a nephew, will also participate in the service.

Mrs. Maxwell was the widow of M. H. Maxwell, former general superintendent of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and also of the Beaver Valley Traction Company. Besides Father Maxwell, she leaves two other sons, Thomas F. and John P. Maxwell, of Pittsburgh; three daughters, Miss Sophie J. and Miss Agnes G. Maxwell and Mrs. W. H. Neely, of Pittsburgh, and a brother, James J. Boyle, of Crafton.

TAX PEDDLERS IN M'KEESPORT

Every motor or horse-drawn vehicle and individual peddler engaged in the sale of butter and eggs, bread or pastry and cleaning and pressing in McKeesport will be subjected to a city tax of $100, according to an ordinance passed by Council yesterday. Milk and cream are excluded.

Fruit and vegetable vendors, excepting farmers selling their own crops, must pay a city fee of $35. The transient peddler must pay $200 for a 30-day permit.

The action is the result of pressure on the City Council by McKeesport merchants, who charge they have been unable to cope with outside competition.

Goodwill Needing Summer Clothing

An appeal for donations of light weight summer clothing and bathing suits was issued today by the Goodwill Industries. Household furniture and books are also needed, according to officials.

RANDOM SHOTS WOUND BABY

BALTIMORE, July 25.—(AP.)—A 2-year-old baby boy was struck on the face by one of a volley of pistol bullets which were fired into a parked automobile and a sidewalk group of people on South Lindwood avenue late last night.

The baby was not critically wounded

Police said the bullets were fired from a speeding roadster by Samuel Domino, 23, who later told authorities he was "so drunk he didn't remember" what he was doing.

The roadster, which passed the crowd was unlighted at a high rate of speed, was wrecked three blocks away.

Man in Nightmare Leaps Out Window

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., July 25.—M. F. Donley had a nightmare and leaped 17 feet from a hotel window here as he scrambled to his feet, he told hotel attendants.

He said:

"Guess I must have been dreaming."

He returned to his room, unaided, and resumed his sleep.

Wiping of Autos Halted by Lights Pays Well

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP.)—One of the many young men in Los Angeles who dart out to motor cars halted by traffic signals and industriously wipe off windshields, headlights and whatnot in expectation of pay, was sentenced yesterday to 25 days in jail on a charge of obstructing traffic.

Police said the prisoner, Frank J. Chapell, transient, had $266.33 in his pockets.

He boasted his "take" for the past few months had averaged $9 daily and more on Sunday.

U. S. Author Ousted By Japanese Officials

TOKIO, July 25—(AP.)—James Langston Hughes, an American Negro author, sailed on the Toiyo Maru for San Francisco today after Tokio police questioned him about what they said they suspected were communications with the Japanese Communist movement.

Hughes recently visited Russia.

Police, who questioned 11 Japanese visitors suspected of being Communists at Hughes' hotel, "suggested" that the American leave Japan immediately.

PAIR MAY WED BY WIRELESS

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP.)—Marriage vows of Benita Hume and Jack Dunfee may flit through the air between Hollywood and London, the English film actress said yesterday in announcing they were contemplating a wireless wedding.

Miss Hume said:

"Of course it may seem like a perfectly mad idea on the surface, but everything else has been done by wireless, so why not marriage?"

Miss Hume said Dunfee may take out a British marriage license in London.

HOME PRODUCTS FOR P. O. JOB

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Ligonier block stone or Pittsburgh brick must be the material used in Greensburg's new $72,000 postoffice, authorized yesterday by the Federal Administration of Public Works.

Under a ruling adopted by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, public works administrator, only local materials can be used in structures erected under authority of the administration. Greensburg must not import foreign stone or brick and they must employ residents for the construction labor.

DON'T BE SKINNY!
Posed by professional model
Read how thousands are gaining 5 to 15 lbs. in a few weeks with new double tonic. Richest imported beer yeast concentrated 7 times and combined with iron
NEW QUICK WAY Puts on Firm Flesh Fast!

Everybody knows that doctors for years have prescribed yeast to build up health for run-down men and women. But now with this new discovery you can get far greater tonic results than with ordinary yeast—regain health, and in addition put on pounds of good solid flesh—and in a far shorter time.

Not only are thousands quickly gaining beauty-bringing pounds, but also clear radiant skin, freedom from indigestion and constipation, new pep.

Concentrated 7 times

This amazing new product, Ironized Yeast, is made from specially cultured, imported beer yeast, the richest yeast known, which by a new process is concentrated 7 times —made 7 times more powerful.

But that is not all! This marvelous, health-building yeast is then ironized with 3 special kinds of iron which strengthen the blood, add abounding pep.

Day after day, as you take Ironized Yeast, watch gawky angles fill out, flat chest develop and skinny limbs round out attractively. And with this will come a radiantly clear skin, new health—you're an entirely new person.

Danger in skinny body

Authorities warn that skinny, anemic, nervous people are far more liable to serious infections and fatal wasting diseases than the strong well-built person. So begin at once to get back the rich blood and healthy flesh you need. Do it before it is too late.

Results guaranteed

No matter how skinny and weak you may be, this marvelous new Ironized Yeast should build you up in a few short weeks as it has thousands. If not delighted with the results of the very first package, your money instantly refunded.

Only be sure you get genuine Ironized Yeast, not some imitation that cannot give the same results. Insist on the genuine with "IY" stamped on each tablet.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(But which you knew all the time, clap hands!)

That a catalogue of 4,000 "best books" picked by American publishers (for the World's Fair) has drama and theater sections without one selection by George Jean Nathan, the best known drama critic, and author of the subject for the Encyclopedia Britannica!

That the gambling casinos have a 78 per cent advantage.

That in old Japan women desiring children made gifts of dolls that wore maternity emblems at a certain shrine.

That every day thirty million Chinese must be content with only one meal. Usually rice without even salt, and you're kickin'?

That Mrs. Nathaniel Hawthorne censored much of the novelist's work, substituting nicer wordage for the sake of decorum.

That John L. Sullivan's record was a phony one. He never really earned the title. He won the championship by beating a man of 50, named Paddy Ryan, when John L. was only 24.

That when he fought Charles Mitchell in France and lost, he actually had to bribe him to get a draw. (For $1,200.)

That the state of New York has collected $14,000,000 in fees out of dog owners in the last 16 years.

That the 13 colonies went to war with England because of over-taxation in 1776. At that time the cost of government was 24 cents per person. Today the cost in the U. S. is $150 per person.

That sharks, contrary to belief, do not have to turn over on their backs to seize their prey. (They merely write them a letter.)

That Dr. Chas. Clark, of C. C. N. Y., on his visit to Chicago, was offered a 20-story building for $5. The catch was he'd have to pay $40,000 a year taxes, and taxes were overdue for several years! And there were other fees. (So he bought a Panama hat, instead.)

That people now arrive in Canadian boom towns by air! (It once took them months to get there via dog sled!)

That only two motor car firms control exclusive patents. The others are pooled to prevent cut-throating.

That California once was part of Virginia!

That the number of writers for the "March of Time" movie constitutes an all-time record—76! And now the producer has the headache of trying to figure which should receive screen credit!

That Pierre de Rohan, an authority on language, reports that—strange as it may seem—our radio pronunciation is better than Dr. Vizetelly's! Dr. Vizetelly, you know, edits dictionaries! And that our only tough word is "showfur"—which we can't even spell without rehearsing.

That "The Chief," the crack rattler of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, doesn't even pass through Atchison, Topeka or Santa Fe!

That no country can call a mountain after you unless it has your permission. Greenland got permission to name a valley after Melde, but hasn't yet received permission from Marion Davies to tag a mountain after her. When it does it will go on Greenland maps.

That if you see an auto license like this, VA—1, you'll know that the owner of the car is Vincent Astor.

That a Hollywood hot-spot, desiring to weed out the riff-raff, closed down for a while, although it made a fortune weekly.

That pure nicotine is white—not brown.

That Rupert Hughes says that a man who writes for posterity is sending an anonymous letter in an unaddressed envelope!

That the Governor of New Hampshire is worth about $30,000,000 and resembles Lincoln. (He even dresses like him!)

That when Norma Shearer started in the movies with her sister (Mrs. Howard Hawks), Norma was considered the ugly duckling.

That the biggies in Hollywood haven't as much luck with the "extra girls" as the assistant directors and the cameramen. The latter gentlemen are successful because they have such "power" on the set! (And you know what most gals would do for a close-up!)

That in "My Weakness" Sid Silvers has to play a Jew's harp, and can't. Nor can anybody in Hollywood. So they have sent to New York for an expert on the gadget to teach Silvers how to play it.

That during the war Jack Buchanan married a German actress to save her from being interned as an alien enemy. He never lived with her and they were divorced when the war ended. (Quite sporting, wot?)

That Robert Montgomery's first stage job was as a mourner at a funeral in "The Mask and the Face." He slept on park benches before the breaks turned sugary. He now backs planes in air races!

That Walter Huston once read gas meters in St. Louis.

God Votes For Himself In 'He'

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Only a professor of theology could appreciate all the subtleties of Alfred Savoir's satirical comedy, "He," which was presented at the Summer Playhouse in Fox Chapel last night. For "He" is an escaped lunatic, who imagines He is God, makes his appearance in a convention of Freethinkers and votes for Himself when the question of abolishing Him is up for discussion.

Mr. Seibel

The fine point of the play is that the escaped lunatic, played by John Johns with divine dignity, behaves exactly as Deity would have to behave under the circumstances imagined by the playwright.

He does not argue to prove His existence; He does not perform miracles to show His power; when anything happens contrary to His own plans, it happens because He willed it so. The play might also be taken as an illustration of Voltaire's maxim, that if God did not exist we should have to invent Him. And it also illustrates the Soviet theory that the idea of God is what keeps the lower classes in subjection to the authorities.

All this is done so dexterously that you would think John Calvin had collaborated with Alfred Savoir. And it is so amusing that no one suspects it is theology dramatized.

Besides John Johns as He, honors come to C. Fulton Tufts as the President of the Freethinkers' Society, for dignified and sustained acting, and to Maraine Haythorne as the Princess for an appealing picture of the sorrows of an emotional female.

Virginia Bialas as the Invalid and Marvin Blake as the Elevator Man also gave effective impersonations. It is rather a large cast, and extremely difficult to assort suitably, but Charles Wooldridge had directed admirably and the futuristic settings designed by Tufts showed creative imagination.

"He" can be warmly commended both to the seeker after amusement and the student of theology who wants his Aquinas and Calvin condensed into three acts and played as a parable.

Humpty Dumpty Role Given to Laughton

Charles Laughton will play Humpty Dumpty in Paramount's forthcoming production of "Alice in Wonderland." The part is Laughton's favorite, and was given him at his own request. Director Norman McLeod reveals that he has been besieged by applicants for other characters in the story, practically every well known Hollywood star having some favorite "Wonderland" or "Looking Glass" character they would like to play.

Esther Ralston Signs For Comeback

Esther Ralston, absent from American films since she went to England following the expiration of her Paramount contract three years ago, is assigned the leading feminine role in Paramount's Zane Grey outdoor romance, "To the Last Man." Also signed for the cast are Buster Crabbe, Jack LaRue, Noah Beery, Muriel Kirkland, Fuzzy Knight, Barton MacLane and Gail Patrick.

Fashion Show

Loretta Young, whose newest picture is "Midnight Mary," herewith gives a one-girl fashion show, demonstrating a nifty pajama outfit.

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The Stage Guild now has in preparation the John Van Druten comedy, "There's Always Juliet," which will be given as its fourth subscription production at the Willows, Oakmont, Monday, July 31, and Thursday, August 3. One of the performances will be sponsored by the Junior Hadassah, and it is possible that there may be an extra showing. The cast will include Elizabeth Drake, Madeleine Skelly Foust, Harold Daniels and Alexander Kann.

"What a Liar," in which Jack Pearl and Jimmy Durante, will have parts, is expected to be in production in Hollywood shortly, with Charles Butterworth and Ted Healy and his stooges also members of the cast.

"Duck Soup" is the title of the next Marx Brothers comedy. Between scenes Harpo told how to make it.

"You take," he said, "one chicken, two turkeys, one goose, and four cabbages. But no ducks. Absolutely no ducks. And after one taste of this mixture you'll duck soup for the rest of your life."

While Carlyle Blackwell, old-time star, is preparing to make a come-back in films, his son, Carlyle, Jr., aged 18, is embarking on his own acting career with a part in Cecil B. DeMille's "This Day and Age."

Wheeler and Woolsey Complete Tour

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey are back on Uncle Sam's soil after a trip around the world that began several weeks ago when they sailed out of Los Angeles harbor for the Orient. For a week the boys were vacationing in New York, visiting old haunts, new plays and Radio City. Wheeler flew back to Hollywood but Woolsey remained in Manhattan to spend several additional days. In Hollywood the boys will get together again for a new comedy, now called "Hip, Hips Hooray," which may have another title when it is released.

Fred Astaire In Movie

Fred Astaire, dancing stage star, will have a role in Joan Crawford's forthcoming starring picture, "The Dancing Lady," according to announcement from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The dancer, who was recently married, has just arrived in Hollywood with his bride, Robert Z. Leonard is directing "The Dancing Lady" with a cast including Franchot Tone, Frank Morgan, Jean Malin, Ted Healy, Winnie Lightner, Florine McKinney and Arthur Jarrett.

Astaire, who scored a hit last season on Broadway in "The Gay Divorcee," was married to Mrs. Phyllis Livingston Potter on July 19.

Following completion of "The Dancing Lady," Miss Crawford will be starred in "Always Tomorrow," an original screen story by Mildred Cram and Marcella Burke. Clarence Brown, who is now engaged in making final scenes for "Night Flight," will direct the new picture, which will be a David Selznick production.

New York Society Girl Cast In Garbo Picture

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—Most successful of all the socialites to enter the movies is Elizabeth Schermerhorn Young. Jumping into leading roles with no apprenticeship, the daughter of the New York Jurist is now to share feminine honors with Greta Garbo in "Queen Christina."

Miss Young

In a last minute rush to fill out his cast, Producer Walter Wanger borrowed Miss Young from Paramount and tentatively fixed on Ian Keith, Reginald Owen, Lewis Stone and C. Aubrey Smith for other featured roles.

The romantic lead opposite Garbo, Lawrence Olivier, will conclude his dash from London in time to report for opening shots of the picture.

"Queen Christina" will mark Garbo's first appearance before a camera at M-G-M since April 12 of last year. On that day she finished "As You Desire Me."

Johnny Weissmuller's birthday gift to Lupe Velez was eight men's sweaters. The vivacious Velez wears a new shade every day. . . . The M-G-M publicity department hasn't yet recovered from Ed Wynn's pran Ed Wynn's prank. When they were questioning him about his career, Wynn said:

"Maybe it would help you boys if you looked at some of my clippings."

That afternoon a truck delivered them. They weighed 300 pounds . . . so-oo-oo!

Katharine Hepburn's constant companion, Laura Harding, wears overalls, too . . . The film celebs are putting it on for the John Hay Whitneys. Gary Cooper entertained them at his valley rancho, and Dolores Del Rio gave them a party . . . Janet Gaynor's bosom friend is Margaret Lindsay, the Iowa lass who posed as an English actress and got that role in "Cavalcade."

To me, it is a dramatic story. About a month ago, Jack Holbrook, Hollywood stunt man, was doing a dangerous scene when something went wrong and he received a sharp blow between the eyes. He got up dazed. Fellow stunt-men rushed up to him. After a while, he went away with them.

The same dare-devils were called for other pictures—Holbrook, Billy Jones, Chick Collins and Johnny Sinclair. Holbrook had taken to wearing dark glasses since the accident but he went through his stunts. He risked his life in a picture at RKO and another at Paramount. Then one day he showed up without his glasses. The stunt-men were elated. They told this strange story.

For two and a half weeks Holbrook had been completely blind. Because he needed the money, his fellow stunt-men had worked out the details of the tricks for him—counted the number of steps before the fall—calculated the jumps—stood ready to catch him if he missed. They did so well that not a studio suspected.

Now it is no longer necessary. Grover Jones, Hollywood scenarist, became interested in Holbrook's case, sent him to a doctor and the trouble has been corrected.

Jean Harlow to Star With Lee Tracy

Una Merkel will have a featured role in "Bombshell," in which Jean Harlow and Lee Tracy will be co-starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Frank Morgan and Ted Healy already have been announced for supporting roles. Victor Fleming is directing the new picture, which is based on an unproduced play.

French Gals Swamp Studio on Call

The Hollywood contingent of French mademoiselles invaded RKO Radio Pictures studio in a body when a call was sent out for young and comely daughters of France to appear in a sequence in "Ace of Aces," starring Richard Dix, a story of war aviation. Fifteen of the beauties were chosen for the scenes.

Wrecker

Genevieve Tobin, we assume, can be only a wrecker of hearts in "The Wrecker," starring Jack Holt, film that will be in the Davis and Sheridan Square Friday.

Notes About Next Films

James Cagney, Madge Evans, Frankie Darro and Dudley Digges have prominent roles in "Mayor Of Hell," opening tomorrow in the Enright.

Kay Francis will be seen in the featured role in "Mary Stevens, M.D.," photoplay that will begin a week on the Stanley screen Friday.

"The Stranger's Return," with Lionel Barrymore playing the role of an aged farmer, and Miriam Hopkins as his granddaughter, will be the screen feature in the Penn, beginning Friday.

On the Warner screen Friday the feature will be "Gambling Ship," gangster melodrama with a cast including Cary Grant, Jack LaRue, Glenda Farrell and Benita Hume.

Jack Holt and Genevieve Tobin are at the head of the cast of "The Wrecker," one feature of a double bill that will open Friday in the Davis and Sheridan Square.

The Final Touch.

STRANGE PERSON, this Otto Schultz. Very strange. He was a type that is called morbid. He thought of death often. He couldn't get the thought out of his mind. It haunted him. Awake or sleeping, thoughts of death tortured his mind. A psychiatrist might have explained the case of Otto Schultz very well, but among other things, I am not a psychiatrist.

As Leonard Lyons could tell you, Otto came to America when he was little more than 20. He was short, stocky, quiet and ambitious. His eyes were deep and dark, and they had a brooding fear in them.

In New York he worked in a bakery shop for a while. All night long he pushed trays into hot ovens, and later pulled them out. He didn't like the work, but he liked starvation even less, so he kept the job.

That is, he kept it until the day of the accident. Those things had a terrible effect on Otto. He saw it happen as he stood in front of the shop, smoking. He was watching a trolley come up from the next block.

The man and woman were standing at the curb. Otto watched them start out from the curb to get aboard. A taxicab was passing the car on the curb side. The couple was wedged between. They said later that the woman had become frightened and had gotten too close to the trolley. It tossed her back almost to the curb.

Schultz saw the man stand there with his mouth agape, looking at the woman who laid so still by the curb-side. He saw the dust on the woman's dress and the hair down over her eyes.

His hands shook and his face was whiter than flour as he told the boss baker he was quitting.

Otto talked in German. The brooding fear in his eyes was bright now.

"Did you see it?" he asked. "They were smiling and talking. Now she won't talk any more, and he may never smile again. She's dead. I can see her now, as she laid there with her hair in her eyes. I will always see her, like that. I could never work here again. Never. Please give me my money. Please."

Otto Schultz had always been like that. Always afraid of the one thing that everyone must experience, but which no one understands. Then an even stranger thing happened. Success came to Otto.

It happened in a furniture polish shop. It was a small place, but business was thriving. The owner was a fat Bavarian. He made a friend of the boy, and taught him a great many tricks of the trade.

It was only natural that he should be promoted from time to time. And it was no more natural that he should try harder and harder as he climbed each successive rung of the ladder. He was out to make good, and he did.

Peculiarly enough, as the monotonous march of time brought him ever closer to inevitable death, the old fear kept receding from his mind. Success, it seems, made dying seem very, very remote. Other people, thought Otto Schultz, may die. But not I. I'm a success! Successful people never die. Only failures die.

He was 40 when the Bavarian made him vice president. He was still young in years, but hard work, exhausting work, had left plenty of scars on him. He looked even shorter now, and more stoop-shouldered. The deep and dark eyes were covered with thick-lensed glasses. And the brooding fear was gone.

When the president of the furniture polish company decided to retire, Otto Schultz bought his stock outright. His very first act was to rename the concern, "Schultz Furniture Polish, Inc."

And as the old Bavarian walked out of the factory for the last time, he gave Otto a few words of good advice.

"I worked hard all my life," he said, "and I'm entitled to a rest. I've got enough money to last me for whatever length of time if left. I'm leaving the business, Otto, befor the business kills me. You should do that soon, too. You work too hard. The business will kill you some day, Otto. Mark my words."

Otto laughed. He laughed because the word "kill" now struck him as being funny. There was a time that it would have made him tremble. But that was long ago.

From that time on Schultz Furniture Polish, Inc., grew by leaps and bounds. After a year he sold the old factory site and built a new one nearer the center of the city with large bright offices. He worked harder than he ever had before. He arrived early in the morning, and late at night his office glowed yellow with light.

Otto Schultz was about due to crack . . .

It didn't come until almost three years later. They found him slumped down beside his office desk. A doctor was summoned and made a hurried examination of the patient. The great executive remained white and still for almost an hour.

But he didn't die. He slowly returned to consciousness and asked what had happened. The doctor told him in no uncertain terms.

"Mr. Schultz," he said, "you've got to take a rest. A good long rest. If convenient you should retire from business. You have worked too hard and too long. Your heart—well, there's no use of fooling you. If you don't quit, the business will kill you."

Schultz smiled and asked for some water.

"Doctor," he said, "I've worried all my life about death. Now I don't worry any more because my life is in this business. This business is all I've got. And you're wrong when you say it will kill me."

But he collapsed a second time shortly after, and they took him to a hospital. When he came out the brooding fear was in his eyes again. His mind pounded and throbbed with the doctor's words. "The business will kill you! It's bound to kill you! The business will kill you!"

So a few months ago Otto Shultz beat death to the punch. He retired. He put everything in order, took a last affectionate look at all the "Schultz Furniture Polish, Inc." signs, packed his brief case and started down the ornate steps.

The porter stood up and tipped his hat as Otto Schultz smiled a goodby. He was almost halfway down when the smile faded into terror. His feet slipped. His little body hurtled down the stairs. It struck the marble floor and lay distorted, like a rag doll.

In a few minutes, the doctor was there. An examination was almost unnecessary. He turned to the gaping porter.

"He is dead," he stated. "How did it happen? Did you see it?"

The porter nodded in a dazed manner.

"I said goodby," he murmured, "as Mr. Schultz started down the stairs. They were still wet, but I guess he didn't notice. He slipped on the steps I had just cleaned—with this."

He held up a bottle. It was a product of the business from which Schultz had retired to beat death.

"Schultz Furniture Polish," it read . . .

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Card Shift No Surprise. Wide Margin for Cubs.
Seven Shifts Since 1925. Rajah May Get Browns.
Playing Pilots Increase. Mile in Four Minutes.

REDBIRD BRACE LIKELY UNDER FRISCH

THE MANAGERIAL CHANGE announced by the St. Louis National League club, the second shift in major league pilots in the same city in the short span of five days, had been anticipated by most fans and caused no more surprise than did the dropping of Bill Killefer by the Browns last week. Two months ago it was generally understood that Gabby Street was on the way out, and at that time the Sun-Telegraph quoted Cardinal players as having expressed the opinion that in event of a change the new manager would be Frankie Frisch, not Rogers Hornsby as reported.

Frankie Frisch

Street's job was saved at the time by a sudden spurt in which the Cards won 22 out of 30 games and rose to within half a game of first place on June 21. But in view of the bad slump into which they have fallen since, losing 22 of their last 32 games and dropping to fifth place, it was clear that a change of leaders would not be long delayed. The manager always is the goat when a club fails to deliver, and in St. Louis the firing of leaders is so fashionable that sometimes they don't even wait for the team to fail. Rogers Hornsby was traded right after he had won a pennant and the world championship in 1926, Bill McKechnie met the same fate after finishing first in 1928, and now Street gets the gate though in his three full seasons he won two pennants and one world championship.

BUT AT THAT, the Card owners probably have made a helpful change in replacing Street with Frisch, and it will not be surprising if this admittedly strong club starts right up hill again to regain a position among the flag contenders. The Redbirds appear to need only a new spark, and if Frisch can inspire others with the same spirit he always has shown as a player he ought to get big results. He deserves the chance, anyhow, as one of the greatest players the National League ever had, and many believe a managerial opportunity should have been given to him long ago.

This is the seventh change of managers made by the Cards in eight years. Starting in 1925, they shifted from Branch Rickey to Rogers Hornsby, to Bob O'Farrell, to Bill McKechnie, to Billy Southworth, back to McKechnie again, to Street and now to Frisch. The selection of Frisch is another step showing that the playing manager has returned to favor. A few years ago playing pilots appeared to be almost extinct, but now they hold six of the 16 posts in the majors, counting Marty McManus, who still plays occasionally for the Red Sox, and Lew Fonseca, who does pinch-hitting jobs for the White Sox. The others, in addition to Frisch, are Bill Terry, of the Giants; Charley Grimm, of the Cubs, and Joe Cronin, of the Senators.

WHATEVER PITCHING SUCCESS Wes Ferrell may have this season will be gained with less slab stuff than he used to own, for it is said he no longer has the great fast ball that formerly was one of his trump cards. But he's making up for it with added finesse.

And American League critics agree that Ferrell always is a dangerous hitter. He has the record long-distance clout in Cleveland to his credit. Wes hit one so far in the Indians' huge park that they measured the distance to the spot where the ball landed on the fly and found it was 485 yards from the plate.

IT'S EITHER A feast or a famine for the Pirates in the schedule these days. After playing two games Saturday and two more Sunday, they had none at all yesterday, and today they go right back on their doubleheader diet by playing a bargain bill with the Cubs at Forbes Field to open a series of four tilts. Competition with rival pennant contenders is being bunched. Last week it was the Giants, this week it's the Cubs, and next week it will be the Cardinals. The race holds no soft spots for the Rovers.

Charley Grimm

IN THE PRESENT series here the Corsairs meet a foe that has been a source of trouble to them ever since the season got under way. Up to today, the Bucs had won only four games out of 13 with the Cubs, losing three out of five at Forbes Field and six out of eight in Chicago.

Manager Charley Grimm has brought his club up in the race since the Bruins appeared here last on June 17. At that time they were in fourth place and only three victories above the .500 mark. Grimm's ballers have been traveling at a fast clip in recent weeks, particularly in their last 17 games, of which they won 15.

OF THE FOUR victories scored by the Pirates over the Cubs prior to the present series, two were credited to Steve Swetonic and one each to Bill Swift and Bill Harris. The Bruins beat Swift four times. Swetonic and Heinie Meine twice each and Leon Chagnon once.

Burleigh Grimes was the only Chicago pitcher the Bucs were able to beat consistently. Three of their four wins were charged against Grimes and the other against Pat Malone. The Pirates lost to Guy Bush three times, to Malone and Bud Tinning twice each, and to Lonnie Warneke and Charley Root once each.

WHAT ABOUT THE feelings of a player traded by the league-leading Giants to the floundering Dodgers? Tune in on Sam Leslie: "Of course it isn't so pleasant for me as it was when I was on the Giants. A winning club is one that gets most of the breaks, and before I came to the Dodgers I was used to being on the side that got the breaks. What a change I have experienced! With the Giants, I was on a team that was going with the tide. We made timely hits and our pitchers were able to hold slim leads. With the Dodgers, I am on a team that is struggling against the tide. We can't make timely hits, and oftener than not when we get a lead we can't hold it."

ALWAYS WHEN A manager is dropped by a major league club there follows a guessing bee as to the identity of his successor. Sooner or later, just about every available qualified man in base[illegible] is mentioned, together with many who are not qualified.

They're busy now trying to pick the guy who will g[illegible] ll Killefer's job with the Browns after Allan Sothoron has serv[illegible]d out his temporary appointment. Rogers Hornsby, as usual, was the first named. Others added to the list since are Bucky Harris, Tiger pilot; Roger Peckinpaugh, former Indian leader; Marty McManus, of the Red Sox, and Frank O'Rourke, old Brown third baseman, who is now managing Phil Ball's club on the Milwaukee farm. The latest tip is a revival of the Hornsby rumors. It is said the Rajah will get the post at an early date.

WESLEY FESLER, former Ohio State gridiron star, who played his last college game in 1930, has been selected by Coach Dick Hanley to play for the mid-West against the Coast in the all-star demonstration football number in Chicago next month.

Jack Lovelock

Fesler, by the way, is developing into an exceptional golfer in record time. He didn't start playing golf until he graduated from college, and in three years he has brought his score down into the 70's.

ONE TRACK VETERAN who insists that a four-minute mile is possible, and believes that Jack Lovelock or some other runner will yet cut down to that figure the world record which Lovelock recently set at 4:07.6, is Boyd Comstock, Pacific Coast coach. "In doing 4:07.6, those fellows are getting down to the speed at which they ought to run the mile," Comstock remarks. "When I returned to the coast after seeing Gene Venzke run indoors in the East, and said somebody would yet run a mile in four minutes, they thought I was crazy. I'll tell you why I'm right. Both Lovelock and Bonthron are just natural runners. Neither has the finesse or technique of the finished, well-coached distance man. Consider that they can run that fast on sheer native strength and speed, then give them the polished style, the judgment of pace and other products of good coaching, and four minutes flat is not at all impossible."

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

The Bronder girls' tennis team, of Carrick, is well known in local tennis circles because of its habit of winning matches, but the Carrick lassies' really great claim to fame is that theirs is probably the only seven-girl team in net world made up entirely of sisters. Equally adept at singles or doubles, and one about as accomplished a racqueter as another, the members of the same household make up a really formidable and extremely colorful group. The Dilla courts, Middle street, Carrick, are their home rectangles. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

Parker Advances In Seabright Play

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 25.—Grass-covered courts fail to worry 17-year-old Frankie Parker, the lad who rose to national tennis fame on the clay-surfaced playing fields of the Midwest.

Young Parker is playing this week in the forty-sixth annual invitation tournament of the Seabright Cricket and Tennis Club his first tourney effort on grass courts. Yet, with all the other seeded stars among both men and women, he emerged successfully from his first round battle yesterday and was ready today for another. He defeated Samuel Lee, of Berkeley, Cal., 6-3, 6-3.

What will be the date of the Teddy Yarosz-Vince Dundee fight, the biggest natural this town has had in years?

That is the question that has the local folks guessing. The original date for the scrap was last night at Forbes Field, but Dundee came up with a sprained ankle received in training for a bout with Prince Alexander in New Jersey, and the event was postponed. The attraction was then put back until August 7.

Just when everything seemed certain for that date a letter breezed into the office from Ray Foutts, manager of Teddy, from Newark, N. J., where Yarosz knocked out Freddie Polo last night, stating that after he had had a talk with Max Waxman, pilot of Dundee, the latter said he could not five a definite date for the big show, but believed that August 14 or 21 would be satisfactory.

Well, here's raising the glass (3.2, of course) that further postponements take a detour and fans have a chance to see their local favorite up against the best middleweight in the land.

A heavy rain that fell shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday and continued for several hours, played havoc with John Hernon's weekly ffistic presentation at Hickey Park,

Max Big? Look at Brother Buddy!

MAX BAER PAPA BAER BUDDY BAER

This is an International News Photograph Service picture of three Baers, and it has no connection with a bedtime story. Against the ordinary heavyweight fighter, Max, leading contender for Primo Carnera's crown, shapes up as a big man, but against his "little" brother, Buddy, he shapes up only as another member of the family. Papa Baer, playing the role of referee, has reached the stage where he hopes sparing the rod will not spoil the child. Eh, Pop?

YAROSZ STOPS FREDDIE POLO

NEWARK, N. J., July 25.—(AP.)—Ted Yarosz, the fast Monaca (Pa.) middleweight, knocked out Freddie Polo, of Silver Lake, after 1 minute 37 seconds of the fifth round in a boxing bout scheduled for 10 rounds at Dreamland Park last night.

Yarosz went out in the lead from the start, and had Polo in distress often with a vicious right hand attack. The finishing blow came after a barrage of rights had felled Polo at the start of the fifth round for a count of nine. Polo arose, badly battered, but again went down, to stay.

The victor, weighing 158¾ pounds, had a five-pound advantage over Polo.

KAUFFMANN, SEKAY WIN IN PARKS TOURNEY

KAUFFMANN, ART SEKAY ADVANCE

By TOM BIRKS

Carl Kauffmann, three times winner of the national public links tournament, scored an easy victory over A. B. Ledwick, 8 and 6, to reach the second round.

Ray Combs defeated A. Feder, 3 and 2, and W. Graham defeated H. V. Pastorious, 3 and 2, in other first-round matches.

Match play in the North County Park's tournament was scheduled to get under way late this afternoon.

In the qualifying rounds yesterday, the medalist honors at North Park were split between A. Shacoski and J. Haselden, both of whom took 79s. At South Park, Joe Borovich led the field with a fine 77.

Trailing Shacoski and Haselden was B. Irwin, who took an 81, and behind Borovich came C. Brinkus, with an 80.

ALL-STARS CLASH

The annual all-star public links team match is being staged this afternoon at the Schenley Park links. The proceeds will go to swell the fund intended to send a representative team of public links golfers to the National championship event at Portland, Ore., beginning August 8.

This year Secretary George Ormiston, of the local governing body, has his all-star team composed of junior stars of the district.

PROS QUALIFY

Vincent Eldred, of Highland, Perry Del Vecchio, of Greensburg; Ted Luther, of Valley Heights, and Paul Erath, of Edgewood, are the four professionals who will represent the district in the National P. G. A. championship at Milwaukee this year.

This quartet led an abbreviated field home in the 36-hole qualifying test at the Pittsburgh Field Club yesterday.

Eldred had a 147, Del Vecchio 152, Luther 153 and Erath 157. Rader Jewett, of Cedar Rocks, Wheeling, who qualified last year, was outside the select circle, as was Walter Johnstone, of Butler; Jimmy O'Donnell, of Churchill Valley; George McBride, of the Country Club, and Guido Paraline, of St. Clair.

Eldred led home the qualifiers by virtue of a record-breaking round in the morning, his 37-32—69 setting a record for competitive golf over the famous layout.

Following is the first round pairings for the Valley Heights club championship, to be played on or before Sunday, August 7.

UPPER BRACKET

C. S. Coleman, bye; Dr. F. A. Deeds vs. L. Gillespie; W. M. Thompson, Jr. vs. D. Zacharias; J. B. Wentz, bye; A. G. Bilstain, bye; R. B. Derr vs. R. Warner; H. S. Lambert vs. C. C. Lee; R. S. Judd, bye.

LOWER BRACKET

PRO MEDALISTS

Associated Press.

At Chicago—Jim Foulis, 140.

At Troy, N. Y.—Eddie Schultz, 131.

TOMMY ARMOUR FAILS

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Tommy Armour won't get a chance to meet his old pal, Gene Sarazen, in the National professional golf tournament at Milwaukee next month even if Gene plays. The Silver Scot who attacked Sarazen and other Ryder Cup players last week for threatening to pass up the championship test, failed to qualify in the Chicago district test yesterday.

Jacobs and Broida Win in Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 25.—(AP.)—The Virginia state tennis championships got under way at the Casino with Harvey Y. Lake, of Ocean City, N. J., sixth seeded player, the only major casualty. Lake was defeated yesterday by a Baltimore player, William Jacobs, brother of Eddie Jacobs, 6-3, 6-2.

Other seeded players who won their matches were Wilbur Hess, Houston, Tex., state champion, who downed Don Longcope, Houston, 6-1, 6-3, and Frank Broida, Pittsburgh, former Harvard tennis star, who defeated C. T. Richardson, Tuxedo Park, N. Y., 6-0, 6-1.

Tidball to Open Title Quest Today

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Jack Tidball, of Los Angeles, the topseeded entrant, was due for his first action in the Illinois state tennis title tournament at the Chicago Town and Tennis Club today while another of the California threats, Gene Mako, already had reached the third round.

Tidball, the national intercollegiate champion arrived yesterday, but still fatigued from his losing battle against Don Budge, still another Californian, in the finals of the Colorado tournament Sunday, did not play. Budge also was idle.

DORMONT PLAYS HOMEWOOD

Two attractive contests are slated for City League consumption this evening as Dormont invades the East End for a clash with Homewood and the Gillespies take on Whitaker at Brentwood.

A week ago Homewood upset the dope by handing the Books a defeat, and may repeat with a triumph over Dormont this evening. Dormont, seeking to catch the flying Book nine in the second half City circuit race, must win this game to remain within hailing distance of the leaders.

The Pittsburgh Crawfords and the Chicago American Giants are to meet in a National Negro League engagement at Beaver Falls this evening. Chicago won the first half title.

Parmelee, of the Greater Pittsburgh League, meets the J. M. Stack Club at Hartman Park this evening at 6:30 p. m.

In a thrilling battle under the lights at Greenlee Field last night, Chicago defeated the Crawfords 4 to 3 in 15 innings. Turkey Stearn, Chicago outfielder, hit two home runs over the right field wall. Matlock went the distance for the Crawfords, with Powell hurling 14 innings for Chicago and Foster twirling the fifteenth.

The drawing for the first round of the local National Baseball Federation series was made last night with officials of the Greater Pittsburgh Baseball Commission in charge. The draw follows:

Cuddy at Edgewood, Pittsburgh Independents at Cecil, Homestead at Book Shoe, McGraths at Frick Park, Fineview at Swissvale, Sturgeon at Mercy Hospital, Ingomar at New Eagle, West End at Scott Morgans, Dowling Service at Monessen Firemen.

Iroquois, Immaculate Heart, Milliken Brick, Turtle Creek Waners and the Knapils drew byes.

HEARST MEET DRAWS STARS

Universal Service.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Entries in the second annual William Randolph Hearst-Herald and Examiner gold cup regatta, August 20, continue to pour in, and a check-up today revealed that the total is well over 150.

This is only 17 short of the world record entry for the initial event last year. With the coming regatta still some three weeks off, it is certain that this year's entry list will hit a new high.

Today's mail brought some 30 new entries. Some of the nationally-known pilots that requested blanks were Rust Hines, Choate School, Wallingford, Conn.; Roger Firestone, Akron, O.; Carl Leeth, Cullman, Ala.; Hugh Gibbs, Houston, Tex.; Earl Vincent, Tulsa, Okla.; Jack Smith, Covington, Ky.; Edward Ingalls, Nashville, Tenn., and Tom North, St. Paul, Minn.

BAMBINO KEEPS SALARIES AT HIGH LEVEL

The wife of Herb Pennock, veteran southpaw pitcher of the Yankees, says ball players and their wives are not jealous of Babe Ruth, but are grateful to him for keeping up salaries. Mrs. Pennock writes in August Good Housekeeping:

"I've never heard any ball players, on the Yankees or any other team, or the wife of any player in the league, express jealousy over Babe Ruth's salary. I've never heard any one say an unkind word against him.

"As a matter of fact, players and their wives feel grateful to the Babe for keeping the standard of salaries so high, and for drawing so many spectators to the game. It's become sort of axiomatic for us to say that every time Ruth knocks a home run it means a dollar and a half to each one of us—each player and his family, I mean. Instead of being jealous of Babe Ruth, we all have a kindly, personal interest in his career, and watch him closely all the time, hoping he will keep right on year after year, and beat his old record."

Mrs. Pennock says that the wife of a baseball player has a special job of her own—to keep her shifting household organized upon a normal and satisfactory basis, and to understand her husband's particular temperament and cater to it so that he can do his best work. She writes:

"Baseball players are rather like prima donnas. In the public eye so much, they are inclined to be temperamental . . . Any time you have an individual whose business or profession of necessity draws constantly and extensively on his nerves, you are liable to have a pretty temperamental person around the house when he is off duty."

GRAPHIC GOLF

Few players need to be advised to use the right arm in the golf swing. All too often it makes itself felt not wisely but too well. It is an instinctive gesture to rush this arm along in the downsweep at the ball, oftentimes incorrectly. In this respect it needs controlling and for quite an opposite reason the left arm needs the same treatment. With few exceptions the left needs to be trained to start the clubhead on the upswing and to start the clubhead downward by a pull of the left shoulder muscles, after the slight hip shift toward the line of flight has been made. In order to have their pupils gain a greater measure of efficiency with this arm many pros advise practicing a few minutes a day swinging with the left arm alone. This not only makes the player left arm conscious, thus gaining a smoother swing, but develops the muscles of the left hand and arm.

U. S. DAVIS CUP SYSTEM MAY BE PROBED

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines' now-famous fainting spell on the red clay courts of Auteuil may be the starting point for an intensive investigation into this country's Davis Cup tennis training methods.

While newspaper observers, here and abroad, continued their attacks on the methods of Bernon S. Prentice, captain, and charged that America's two singles aces, Vines and Wilmer Allison, were overtrained and worked up to an excessive nervous pitch for the inter-zone finals against England, there were indications that a full explanation of the team's collapse would be demanded at the next annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

There was not a little criticism of America's Davis Cup methods at the last meeting and the new president, Harry S. Knox, and western delegates, especially, are expected to force discussion of the debacle of Auteuil upon the convention floor.

INJURY NOT PERMANENT

PARIS, July 25.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., and Bernon S. Prentice, captain of the United States Davis cup team, today denied published reports that the ankle injury suffered by Vines in his match with Fred Perry Sunday might result in permanent injury.

Both said no specialist had examined Vines, as was reported, and the doctor who attended him after the match did not suggest the injury was a permanent one.

Westland, Hankinson In Lead in Western

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 25.—(AP.)—A driving rainstorm kept par from being rocked groggy by the crisp shots flying off the clubs of Jack Westland and Maurice Hankinson, in the first round of the Western amateur golf tournament's 36-hole qualifying test.

Westland, the Walker Cup player from Chicago, finished with a 71 for the day's low score, while young Hankinson, of Oklahoma City was a shot behind.

MISS BABCOCK DEFEATED IN NET UPSET

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 25.—(AP.)—Baroness Maud Levi, of New York, provided the first upset of the Seabright invitation tennis tournament today by overpowering Carolin Babcock, third-ranking star of the nation, in a bitter three-set second round contest. The scores were 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Helen Jacobs, national champion and defending titlist here, continued to make far more errors than one should, but she was able to defeat Mae Ceurvorst, of Wichita, Kan., in straight sets, 6-1 7-5.

Third-seeded Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Barbara, Cal., got by Norma Taubele, of New York, 6-4, 6-3, and Alice Marble, another California products, passed by Bonnie Miller, of the same state, 6-2, 6-2.

Three Bostonians also broke into the third round by way of victories. Marjorie Sachs eliminated Alice Frances, of Orange, in a long-drawn-out 9-7, 6-4 match; Virginia Rice had a three set setto with Mrs. Agnes Lamme, of Rye, N. Y., but finally won, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, and Sarah Palfrey ejected Carolin Roberts, of New York, 6-1, 8-6.

York Legion Nine Defeats Reading

READING, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—York Juniors drew first blood in the opening contest of a three-game series yesterday for the Eastern Pennsylvania American Legion baseball title, by defeating the Keystone Juniors of Reading, 1932 champions, 9 to 5.

The teams play at York tomorrow night in the second contest of the series.

HERE'S MORE OF EVERYTHING
TIRES!

More Safety in the tread
The safest tread is the one that can stop your car the quickest. Goodyears stop quicker than any other tire. 10% quicker than the second best. Up to 77% quicker than others. Tests on wet pavements prove it. Why not buy the safest tire?

More Safety in the plies
Goodyears give you safety in every ply—because every ply is built with patented Supertwist cord—and every ply runs from bead to bead. Ask to see a Supertwist demonstration and see for yourself why it means more safety in every ply.

More Mileage
Bus fleets know mileage. And bus fleets using Goodyear Tires report 97% more mileage than they got five years ago. Goodyears for your car have the same improvements that made this extra mileage possible.

PRICES
you may never see again!
Everything's going up in price. Here are the attractively low prices at which you can still buy Goodyear Tires today.

CARDS LOOK FOR NEW DEAL UNDER FRISCH

VETERAN GETS STREET'S JOB AS PILOT

Associated Press.

Frankie Frisch, captain and second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals since 1927, is the new manager of the team today, succeeding Charles E. (Gabby) Street.

President Sam Breadon said he made the change in the hope that under Frisch's leadership the Cardinals will shake off their slump and make this a winning year after all.

The Cards dropped into second division Saturday and are now eight games behind the league-leading Giants. Optimistic fans, however, point out that the Cards of 1930 won a pennant after being 12 games behind the leaders as late as August 1.

SUCCEEDED SOUTHWORTH

Street, who took charge in 1930, held the reins longer than any manager since Banch Rickey was deposed in 1925. Rogers Hornsby, Bob O'Farrell, Bill McKechnie and Billy Southworth followed each other in quick succession until Street was named.

Frisch was obtained from the Giants in 1926 in a trade for Hornsby. He had been signed by John McGraw in 1919 upon his graduation from Fordham University and was an important factor in the Giants' pennant victories of 1921-2-3-4. His batting average for 14 years in major league baseball is .321.

Through the once impregnable pitching armor of the Philadelphia Athletics' twin mound aces, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw, the Washington Senators have blasted their way once more to the top of the American League standing.

Taking advantage of the New York Yankees' idleness, the Senators battered the A's into defeat in both games of a doubleheader yesterday, 5-2 and 10-6, and moved into first place by a half-game margin.

GROVE DEFEATED

Grove, who had won six games in a row, was the victim of bunched hits in the second and fourth innings. Grove's defeat was his fifth, against 15 victories.

The Senators drubbed Earnshaw for 11 hits and eight runs in seven innings in the second game, which wouldn't even have been close except for a five-run rally, climaxed by Jimmy Foxx's twenty-eighth homer in the ninth.

Joe Judge Given Outright Release

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today the unconditional release of Joe Judge, veteran first baseman, who was signed this spring by the Brooklyn team after 17 years with the Washington Americans.

Judge was spiked a few days after he joined the Dodgers and has played little since that time, and a few weeks ago the club acquired Sam Leslie, a first baseman, from the New York Giants.

Local Net Novice Wins in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—The thrill of playing in a tennis tournament for the first time came yesterday for 16 youngsters ranging in age from 11 to 18, who started competition in a novice championship.

Norman Gurin, of Taylor Allderdice High, Pittsburgh, reached the quarter-finals with an easy victory over Bert Tesman of the Bert Tesman School, 6-1, 6-1.

Fight Results

At Newark—Ted Yarosz won by a technical knockout over Freddie Polo, 5 rounds; Georgie Forrester defeated Abie Bain, 10 rounds; Joe Kaminski defeated Al Diamond, 5 rounds; Jack Rose knocked out Frankie Cabana, 1 round; Al Capone knocked out Newsboy Schone 7 rounds.

At Portland, Me.—Elmer Bizant defeated Tommy Romano 10 rounds.

At Sioux City—Young Rightmeier defeated Bobby O'Dowd, 6 rounds; Tommy Corbett defeated Midget Mexico, 6 rounds; Kenny Kent knocked out Ray Mann, 3 rounds; Keith Weaver defeated Howard Ryan, 4 rounds; Glen Lee defeated Jose Morales, 4 rounds.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE GREATEST SWAP IN HISTORY—Paramaribo, in Dutch Guiana, after being occupied in turn by the Dutch, French and English, finally passed into permanent Dutch possession through the Treaty of Breda (July, 1667). In this treaty Holland ceded New Amsterdam (the site of present New York) to England in exchange for Paramaribo. The English, who were to profit enormously in this "swap," lost Amsterdam in 1776, while Holland still owns the city of Paramaribo.

The entire card remains intact. Charley Belanger, of Winnipeg, the light-heavyweight champion of Canada, battles Sunny Jim McVey, Negro battler, of the Hill, in the 10-round feature of the double windup. Charley Baxter, of the North Side, takes on Jimmy Reilly, formerly of McKeesport, but now of Fairmont, W. Va., in the other 10-rounder. Young Bordell, of New Kensington, meets Elmer Wilson, Negro, of East Liberty, in the second number, and Freddie Jenkins encounters Al Datcherone, of New Kensington, in the opening setto. The show gets under way at 8:45, daylight saving time.

Between Rounds

Another piece of government delivered correspondence received was from Joey Speigal, Uniontown welterweight, who recently was discharged from the hospital where he was convalescing from a fractured spine. Joey, according to the letter, was looking for bouts. Well, he had one, but it was not before a crowd, or for money. Yesterday, a shooting affair took place in the home of John Gravely, Negro, of Uniontown, where one man was killed and two women badly injured. Joseph Ford, as told by the police, fled from the house following the shooting and ran afoul of four white boys, one of whom was Speigal. Joey let one fly at Ford and as the result is back in the infirmary, his back broken again. It's just tough luck, Joey.

John Sullivan, McKeesport manager of boxers, reports that he has Joey Greb, a lightweight, of Wilkes-Barre, under his wing now and is out seeking bouts for Joey. Sully also has Joey Bazzone, Tube City fighter, ready for any welterweight the promoters can dig up for him.

The St. Peter's A. A., of the North Side, stages its weekly amateur boxing show on the church grounds tonight.

When Frankie Edgren, who fought at the Arena last winter, goes against Hans Birkie, the German, in the top bout at Fugazy Bowl, Coney Island, N. Y., tonight, he will have Primo Carnera, the new heavyweight champion, in his corner as an advisor.

The card has been completed for the North Braddock Bowl show on Thursday night with the signing of Tony DiPiero, former Duquesne University boxer, and Lee Peer for the six-round opening bout. In the main go, Sammy Slaughter, hard-hitting Negro middleweight, of Terre Haute, Ind., meets Jack King, who gave Teddy Yarosz a couple of darn good fights. King, along with his manager, Red Mason, will make this city their headquarters. Mason for the last several years has been residing in Chicago. The Alabama Kid boxes Bruno Sala in the semi-final of six rounds, and Al Becker clashes with Harry Jacoby in the second number.

The return of Mason to the local fight field is like a heavy rain after a drought. The fight game locally needs a stimulant, and Mason's personality is just the thing to bring it back to life.

BOUT POSTPONED

CLEVELAND, July 25.—(AP.)—A boxing show scheduled for tonight in which Patsy Perroni, young Cleveland heavyweight, and Steve Hamas, of Passaic, N. J., were to have met in a 10-round feature bout, was postponed indefinitely after Perroni injured his hand while sparring with Joe Doktor, Buffalo heavyweight.

YANKS GET UHLE

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—The New York Yankees have signed George Uhle, veteran Cleveland and Detroit right-hander, to a contract. Uhle was signed by the New York Giants early this season, but was cut adrift after a few weeks.

PHILLIPS STOPPED

PAIRINGS SET FOR CENTER NET EVENTS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Youthful net stars of the district wil square off at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in inaugural contests of the annual Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' championships on the clay courts of the P. A. A., Bigelow boulevard at Ruskin avenue. Thirty-six aspirants seek the 18-year-old class laurels now held by Ralph Bald, wiry ace of Rockwood, while 11 lads will contest in the 15-year division for the crown relinquished by Bob Madden, Schenley star, who has outgrown the group.

Winners of the Center events will be sent as representatives of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association to the national junior and boys' titular classic at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., the week of August 7.

BALD SEEDED FIRST

Bald, who last week breezed through to his second consecutive Western Pennsylvania junior premiership, heads the second quartet in the older sector, with Jim Magaw, Washington Heights satellite and West Penn runner-up, second, Harold Mathieson, rangy Koppelite and former Center boys' champion, third, and Allerton Miller, Shady Side giant-killer, fourth.

Bill Fay, Rockwood stylist and darkhorse captor of the Western Pennsylvania boys' crown, leads the select contingent of 15-year-olds. Jerry Goodman, steady Allderdice High youngster, is second, with Oliver Hurst, Pittsburgh Country Club mainstay, third, and Bob Bald, brother of the junior standardbearer, fourth.

Meanwhile Chairman Andy Smeaton, of the Pittsburgh Public Parks championships, announces start of the parade of municipal racqueters onto the entry list. Milton King, hard-hitting Kiski product, looms among outstanding early birds. Smeaton is receiving the names of prospective combatants at 7536 Kensington street. The list closes Friday at 6 p. m. and hostilities get under way on the Frick Park lot, Forbes and Braddock avenues, next Monday.

MATCHES CARDED

Playoff of postponed Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League frays will be completed by Friday of the current week, according to word from P. T. A. headquarters after noon session of the sanction and schedule committee yesterday.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

Nick Altrock

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Well, I see Al Simmons has not only nominated, but he's already elected the Yanks to cop the American League emblem. But you can't convince us Washington boys with less than a Literary Digest straw ballot.

It was nice of Aloysius on a July day to name September's finishing order 1-2-3, the Yanks, ourselves and the Chisox. That makes the rest of the A. L. race just a pretty scramble to see who trails the first division.

As Al points out, the Yanks may be the strongest team in the circuit. Limburger is also the strongest brand in the cheese league, but roquefort and camembert seem to have the call. There is also a maxim that Youth will be served, and we're connected with room service right now. They'll be bringing us up the pennant on a platter by Labor Day.

LOCAL LEGION NINE BEATS UNIONTOWN

Having added the Southwestern championship to their Allegheny County title by dint of a 5-4 victory over Uniontown at Greensburg yesterday, the young stars representing South Hills in the American Legion Junior baseball tournament today are marking time and awaiting their next engagement—a battle for the Western Pennsylvania championship at Forbes Field Thursday evening.

The team that is to oppose South Hills will be determined this evening, when Sharon meets Butler at Greenville. The winner of the Forbes Field fray will meet the eastern titleholder for the state laurels at Reading, about August 1.

At Greensburg yesterday, the South Hills nine scored in the eighth inning to break a 4-4 deadlock and eliminate Uniontown. Hermann's home run was the deciding wallop of the fray. South Hills collected 12 hits against eight for Uniontown. The score:

CAN FAULTY SHAVING CAUSE SERIOUS SKIN TROUBLE?

YES—emphatically yes—faulty shaving can cause serious skin trouble. This is the statement of the Gillette Skin Clinic as issued by its head, an eminent dermatologist.

In fact, the prevalence of skin troubles caused or aggravated by improper shaving methods, prompted foundation of the clinic. It is the clinic's purpose to conduct original research in the practice of shaving and to help assure men greater comfort and convenience.

"If you would keep your skin clear and free from troubles, be sure to use a sharp blade," states the clinic. "A sharp blade is non-irritating to tender skin. There is far less chance for cuts and scrapes that open the skin to infection."

This is the reason why the "BLUE BLADE" is made with such extreme care and stropped to the keenest edges we can produce. By actual test in competition with several other "makes" of blades, the "BLUE BLADE" proved surprisingly sharper.

When you shave with this blade you get the benefit of supreme technical knowledge and experience. We firmly believe that no other shaving instrument can compare with the "BLUE BLADE" Try it and see for yourself. Gillette Safety Razor Company, Boston, Mass.

STOCKS PRESS FORWARD AT RAPID PACE

NEW YORK, July 25.—Stocks pressed forward today at a fast pace, apparently intent on crowding into the abbreviated session all of the latent rallying vigor that ordinarily would be spread over the cutomary five hours.

The noon opening found prices of many of the leaders up 1 to 4 or more points with the so-called "repeal" issues again out in the lead. Various specialties also drew renewed followings. At the end of the first hour of speedy transactions some of the pivotal stocks tended to ease off and follow a rather narrow range. Grains at Chicago were fairly steady, with wheat, corn, oats and rye up 2 to 3 cents a bushel. Barley was under pressure, however, and was off about 1 cents a bushel in the restricted trading. Winnipeg wheat was up more than 4 cents. The dollar was somewhat lower in foreign exchange markets. Cotton moved indifferently and silver futures were a bit reactionary. Bonds were steady to firm.

Alcohol shares, up 1 to around 3 points, included United States Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol, Owens-Illinois, Commercial Solvents and Standard Brands. Allied Chemical came back for a gain of more than 2, and Case, reactionary yesterday, recovered about 3. Industrial Rayon moved up more than 4, and advances of 1 or more were registered by Celanese, International Silver, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Baltimore and Ohio, Public Service of New Jersey, Procter & Gamble and United States Rubber. United States Smelting droppeda point or more.

Whilemost of the pressing margin situations were believed to have been cleared up, there was said to be still some liquidation in evidence. At the same time it was reported that operators for the "short" side were expanding their commitments somewhat more than in the past several days.

COTTON STEADY AT ADVANCE

NEW YORK, July 25.—Cotton futures opened steady, 5@9 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and buying by mills. October, 10.77; December, 10.96; January, 11.06; March, 11.24; May, 11.30.

There was a very fair volume of business at the opening. October contracts, after advancing to 10.78, racted to 10.66, or about 5 points net lower, but rallied to 10.72. The market held generally steady, with prices about 1 to 2 points nt higher on the more active postions.

Trading continued quiet in the forenoo with prices holding generally seady. July, after selling off to 1,32 or 10 points net lower, steadied up to 10.45 or about 33 points under the price of October. New cop positions at midday were stady at net advances of 6 to 9 pints with December selling at 0.99.

LIVERPOOL, July 25.—Cotton, 23,000 bales including 20,100 American. Spot, moderate business done; prices 10 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.98; good middling, 6.68; strict middling, 6.38; middling, 6.23; strict low middling, 6.08; low middling, 5.88; strict good ordinary, 5.68; good ordinary, 5.38. Futures closed quiet. July, 5.95; October, 5.99; December, 6.02; January, 6.04; March, 5.08; May, 6.12.

STUDY RECALLS PRICE-FIXING FAILURES

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The effort of the "new deal" administration to raise commodity levels entails the creation of "fiat" prices. Theoretically, these are vastly different from "natural" prices, determined freely by conditions of supply and demand. But as a practical matter, before the government interested itself in prices, numerous trade associations used to meet informally—and doubtless contrary to the Sherman Act—to exercise influence on prices. A candid business man remarked that he and his associates are proceeding exactly the same as they did before the National Recovery Act, but they no longer feel as though they are doing something wicked.

Mr. Rukeyser

WHEAT PROTECTED

It has been common place among the orthodox to point to failure of price fixing or valorization schemes, and hence to predict dire happenings for the farm relief experiment. However, as an offset, France since 1877 has deliberately protected the wheat grower, and has promoted a balanced economic situation. Germany too has long operated in this direction.

Nevertheless, failures in this field have been frequent, and Melvin T. Copeland, of Harvard, in his recent study of raw material prices and business conditions, gives a roll call of some of the mistakes. His brochure should forthwith be made required reading for all the heavy thinkers in the brain trust.

RECALLS FAILURES

In recalling the record of failure, Prof. Copeland drearily revealed:

"Copper Exporters, Inc., organized in 1926, is credited with having pegged the price of copper at 18 cents per pound for 12 months in 1929-30; in July, 1932, the price was 5 cents per pound. An international zinc cartel was formed in Europe in 1928 and the price of zinc rose to 6.78 cents per pound; in May, 1932, the average price was 2.53 cents. In March, 1931, the International Tin Committee was organized, under the auspices of the governments of the chief tin-producing countries. At that time the price of straits tin in New York was 27 cents per pound. From that point it declined to 19.24 cents in April, 1932."

In the same vein, Prof. Copeland alluded to the British rubber restriction plan, the Cuba sugar curtailment scheme, the Japanese silk adventure, and the Farm Board fiasco. In characterizing them, he said:

"The world, in modern times of peace, probably has never witnessed such a series of experiments at price control as these valorization schemes have constituted. White, yellow and brown races, North Americans, South Americans, Europeans, and Asiatics, in desperation, all have tried their hand at this experimenting. The plans have varied in form, scope and timing. The one outstanding feature that they have had in common is that all have failed."

RECORDS INSTABILITY

Perhaps Prof. Copeland is too gloomy. He merely records the continuance of instability in the business world. Success or failure in different plans must be discussed in connection with the time factor. The growing effort on the part of governments reflects an increasing awareness of the adverse social consequences of economic derangements. The Copeland study emphasizes the risks in efforts to control price swings, but it by no means does away with the public need for rationalizing and stabilizing measures. It nevertheless stresses the lack of finish in technique.

Incidentally, the toppling over of the speculative pyramid has taught the margin speculator of the hazard of getting aboard on broad public efforts to raise price levels. Though the objective may or may not ultimately be attained, the setback has awakened the public to the irregular character of price movements and to the susceptibility of even strong bull movements to drastic intermediate setbacks. Sometimes when the political experts have discussed prices from the Washington angle they have thought only of the long pull, overlooking the necessarily short-term outlook of the speculator who has gone heavily into debt in order to buy.

Wall Street To Drop From Front Pages?

—By B. C. FORBES—

Mr. Forbes

When stock speculation becomes so rampant that "records" are being smashed, look out!

The ultimate danger is quite as great when quotations skyrocket sensationally as they did recently, as when the front pages report panicky selling.

We have lately been treated to both kinds of stories; dozens of them chronicled unprecedented volume of buying at spectacularly-soaring prices; more recently crashes in stocks and commodities have featured the front pages.

The best thing that could happen would be substantial abatement of speculation and gyrations on the exchanges. A period of quite firmness would be healthiest of all.

The writer cannot picture either the majority of stocks or commodities re-sinking to their early-March depths, depths which represented abject fear, defeatism, despair. Praise be, we have recovered some degree of sanity, some measure of hope, some faith in the future.

WASHINGTON is daily subjected to pressure to "rush the party." Whereas the majority of men of affairs favor proceeding carefully, deliberately, a vast number of people are clamoring for drastic action day by day. This letter, from one reader, R. H. Rapaport, accurately reflects an attitude now very widespread:

"In your column you caution the President and his aides to be careful and cautious.

"American industry certainly needs it, and the clean-up can't be any too hasty and thorough. It must begin at the top and run down through the entire system.

"It's about time American business stopped being an excuse for crookedness, racketeering and many other forms of corruptness and vileness."

STOCKS AND commodities have furnished a vivid, impressive example of what can happen when the pace is excessively forced. Even the best shares were far from immune when the debacle set in last week. And practically everything else which had attracted abnormal speculation was engulfed in the collapse.

Far healthier would it have been had the country experienced only moderate speculation and been spared dizzy price advances destined to be suddenly turned into terrific declines.

Incidentally, it probably will be found that, just as the marking-up was carried too far too fast, the reverse movement will prove to have been carried too far.

ROME WAS not built in a day. Complete recovery cannot be achieved overnight. Oftentimes it is safest to make haste slowly.

Nothing has happened warranting the deduction that recovery cannot be carried on progressively. The chastisement administered reckless speculators should prove beneficial.

At that, Washington should avoid going or threatening anything calculated to depress values further.

LAUDS SILVER AGREEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—(AP.)—Henry M. Rives, secretary of the American Silver Producers Association and of the Nevada Mine Operators Association, said today the eight country pact signed at London for the regulation of silver would "unquestionably raise the prices of the metal."

He is here as part of the party of Gov. Fred B. Balzar of Nevada, attending the twenty-fifth annual governors conference. He said:

"From the brief resume I have read of the agreement, it should be beneficial to the industry and will bring many mining properties in this country into operation. The principal feature will be removal of the threat of the disposal on the open market of immense stores of silver in competition with the newly mined metal from such countries as India.

"Removal of this threat, by limiting the amount which India can sell annually during the next four years, will mean better prices for the newly mined product and will enable mine operators in many sections of this country to profitably reopen mines which have been closed several years.

"Fundamentally I believe the pact, from what I have read of its provisions, is sound and will be another step toward breaking our economic depression."

Daily Oil Output Off 66,993 Barrels

TULSA, Okla., July 25.—Daily average production of oil in the United States during the week ended July 22 amounted to 2,724,428 barrels, a decrease of 66,993 barrels daily from the preceding week, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Raw sugar was quiet early today and with buyers and sellers apart no sales were reported. Futures opened unchanged to 3 points higher, but declined a point below the previous close. Refined was unchanged at 4.70c for fine granulated, with business moderate but confined to withdrawals against old contracts.

Gripping Story of Life Behind The Scenes at Hollywood

By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

Mulrooney's words struck Leni like bullets of cold ice. The man was suspicious—and he was on the right track. The deadening sensation spread over her that she had reached the end of her good luck. Cavanaugh had hold of her arm. It was the strength from his touch that supported her, that flowed into her with steadying force.

"This is all ridiculous," Cavanaugh said to Mulrooney with a touch of haughtiness, "but if you insist upon annoying Miss Luneska we are both ready to answer any questions."

The antagonistic grunt of a policeman hot upon a case came from Mulrooney. "We'll go upstairs and talk this over," he said shortly.

They followed him back into the theater and up the softly carpeted steps to the tragic area behind the balcony. Cavanaugh's fingers tightened on Leni's arm.

"He's going to make you look at Kruger's body," he whispered. "Don't get upset—let me do the talking."

Leni was white around the mouth, but her inner self was gaining strength from Cavanaugh. She seemed utterly unruffled.

She had the curious feeling that by keeping steadfast she was aiding Cavanaugh. Her own troubles had reached a state of numbness. Only a few minutes before she had been totally resigned to the abandonment of her whole career. The intervening time had been too short for a renewal of joyous ambition. For herself nothing mattered very much right now—she had an intuition that Cavanaugh in some way was connected with Kruger's death.

SEE VICTIM

For herself she was quite willing to throw up the sponge. It made a difference, though, when somebody else — Cavanaugh — was involved. It was not that she loved him. Not that—but she had a feeling he was indescribably nicer than any man she had ever known.

Ahead of them Mulrooney stopped at a certain door, flung it open and stood aside for them to enter. Thus it was that Leni and Cavanaugh went into the room now brightly lighted that was bristling with activity. Four or five men, unmistakably detectives, were examining the litter from the exploded safe. They were talking about finger prints and awaiting the arrival of an expert. An acrid odor was in the air—the aftermath of nitroglycerin.

No one seemed to pay any attention to Karl Kruger, who lay on his back where he had fallen. In death there was a slight expression of surprise upon his pallid face.

"I want both of you to take a good look at that man," said Mulrooney, "and tell me if you ever saw him before."

Cavanaugh gazed down at the body and shrugged his broad shoulders in their impeccable dinner coat. His expression was entirely without curiosity.

"I never saw the man in my life," he said curtly.

LIES TO DETECTIVE

With Leni Luneska it was not so easy to look down upon the inert figure. Kruger wore no vest. His dark coat had fallen open and on his whiting shirt was a splotch the color of a dark red rose.

The thought passed through her mind that Kruger in death had the advantage. He had escaped—nothing more would happen to him. No heartache, no scandal, no exposure. Never again would he find himself in trouble. He had lived a dirty life and found the worst in everything. He had been criminal, brute and coward. He had defiled what he touched. The world was better without him. In death his heart was no colder than it had been in life. . . .

The clear blue eyes of Mulrooney had been studying her without satisfaction. He had taken a chance in bringing her and he was definitely disappointed.

"There wasn't anything in his clothes to identify him, but we'll check his fingerprints. Come on in the other room."

He conducted them through the connecting door into the orderly room adjoining where Cavanaugh and Kruger had been in conflict. The door closed behind them and they were in another world. Mulrooney permitted his air of antagonism to evaporate.

ASKED TO EXPLAIN

"Now sit down folks and make yourselves comfortable," he said in a different voice. "This is all routine and I've got to go through with it. I want you to tell me, Cavanaugh, exactly what you saw and heard when you and Miss Luneska left the box at just about the time this business happened."

She was whiter than ever. Her lips were compressed. She was a woman subject to over-wrought emotion. He looked at her hands. But they were clasped in her lap, the fingers twined together. She was a woman and Cavanaugh knew, therefore, that she might weaken.

Cavanaugh had no intention of speaking thoughtlessly, of being deceived by Mulrooney's new air of friendliness and making statements without weighing every word. Nevertheless, he managed to convey an air of frankness.

It was not easy, however, to keep everything clear in his own mind for the simple reason that exciting remembrances kept running through his nerves. The near presence of Leni vibrated through his being. It was difficult enough to be calm and cool externally. Her kiss had excited a tingling madness in his blood. He kept recollecting how her lips felt against his own. The perfume from her warm, pliant body was breathed into the cells of his brain, confusing and haunting his thoughts. It was the first time in his life that any woman had so affected him. And now, as never before, he needed all his wits. One thing was in his favor — Mulrooney seemed stamped with the traditional stupidity of story book cops.

LENI CONFIRMS STORY

"Just tell me what happened in plain words," said Mulrooney encouragingly.

"I'll be very glad to," said Cavanaugh with conscious politeness. "Miss Luneska felt a little faint and we stepped out the side door for a breath of air. After a minute or two we thought it might be more pleasant on the roof, so we went up the stairs. The French doors opening into the penthouse were ajar so we just went in and sat down for possibly 10 or 15 minutes. We smoked several cigarets and chatted. Then we went back to the box."

Mulrooney looked at Leni for confirmation. "Is that correct?"

"Yes—that was the way it was," she agreed.

"While you were wandering around, Cavanaugh, you didn't see anybody entering either of these two offices, did you?" asked Mulrooney.

"Not a soul."

"I'll ask you another question," Mulrooney said smoothly. "Did you ever see that revolver before?"

He pointed to the glistening weapon lying on the floor where Kruger had dropped it.

"I never saw it before," said Cavanaugh, his face without expression.

"Well, neither did I for that matter," said Mulrooney calmly. "I just happened to see it this very minute. We'll let it lay right where it is till the finger print man gets here."

TELLS ABOUT MEETING

The music of the orchestra reached them faintly. The picture was over and outside the door was the murmurous movement of an audience leaving the theater. People with no tragedy in their lives going to their peaceful homes.

"When did you first get acquainted with Miss Luneska?" Mulrooney asked suddenly.

"Tonight. We got to talking in the box when her escort sort of dozed off." Cavanaugh smiled slightly. "Mr. Gates isn't as young as he used to be and he probably had a hard day."

"In other words you flirted with her."

"Call it that if you like."

"Where were you going when you slipped out the side door the second time before the picture was over?"

"I was going to take Miss Luneska home in a taxi cab."

"How about Gates?"

"We were going to ditch him," Cavanaugh admitted unblinkingly. "We might as well tell you the truth, Mulrooney. I had just met Miss Luneska and it was like being struck by lightning. I fell hard. Gates bored her and—well, we seemed to click. There is no other explanation. When a man and a woman meet in a certain mood under certain circumstances the air is filled with flying sparks. Whatever they do might seem a little peculiar to anybody else."

Mulrooney listened to this with patience. He was in no hurry about anything. Very calmly he dug a cigar out of his inside coat pocket and lit it as though he meant to make himself comfortable for the rest of the evening.

"As I understand it, then, you're trying to tell me it was a case of love at first sight," he stated leisurely. "A handsome young bird like yourself meets a beautiful movie star. She's with an old guy that bores her to death. The young chap and the dame slip out and get better acquainted. A little later they decide to run out on the dumb egg that brought her. Not a very polite thing to do—but you are both walking on clouds and to perdition with everybody and everything else. I guess it's happened a thousand times before like that in this world. That's the general idea, ain't it?"

"You've told it better than I could myself," said Cavanaugh with relief.

"But unfortunately a murder and a safe robbery was pulled off while the little romance was going on," continued Mulrooney. "The romantic couple didn't even dream that such a thing was going on. The whole thing was just a coincidence."

"Correct again," said Cavanaugh.

Synopsis

Attending the premiere of her latest motion picture, beautiful Leni Luneska, the star, is confronted by a shabby man, who emerges from the crowd crying "Leni! It is I, Karl Kruger!" Leni turns white. Lucky Cavanaugh, a gambler, saunters into the theater. He prevents Kruger from making a scene. During the performance Douglas Gates, Leni's elderly escort, proposed to her. In the office next to where Kruger waits, thieves are robbing the safe. Leni leaves her box and goes to Kruger, whom she married in Vienna when 14 years old. He wants recognition as her husband. She is given time to think it over. Cavanaugh becomes friendly with Leni and they go out for some fresh air. Later Cavanaugh goes to see Kruger. Kruger rushes into the next office, surprising the robbers at work. He is shot to death. Cavanaugh, after accidentally meeting a detective, informs Leni of the tragedy and asks her to allow him to do any future explaining.

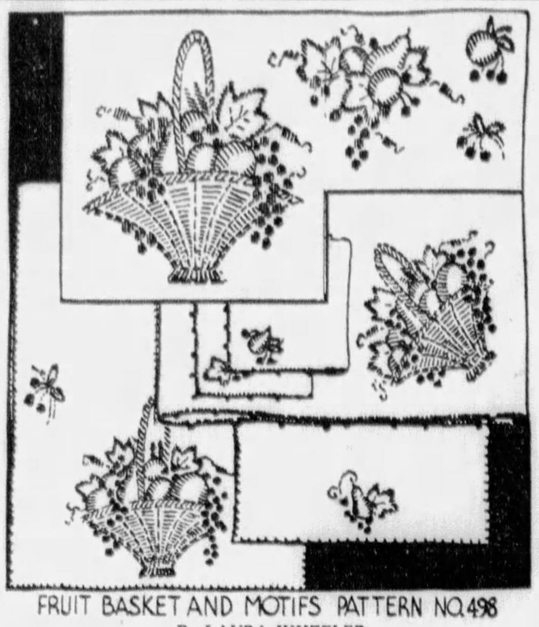
FRUIT MOTIFS ENHANCE LINENS



FRUIT BASKET AND MOTIFS PATTERN NO. 498

By LAURA WHEELER

It is not enough nowadays to have our accessories practical—they must harmonize decoratively with their use. What then could be more fitting, in the modern sense, than fruits on all variety of household linens? Teacloths, luncheon sets, scarfs, sherbet doilies, napkins—from the tiniest to the 12-inch size—all are enhanced by these decorative and colorful fruit motifs that are done in the simplest of embroidery stitches. Pattern No. 498 includes two baskets 6¼ inches square, two corner motifs 3½x4½ inches, six different motifs and their opposites, ranging from 1½ to 2 inches; illustrations of the stitches; color charts; suggestions for arranging the motifs on various linens, and yardages.

Send 15c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am,
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me,
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to be a 100% Junior Patrol member,

Date of Birth ..... Address .....

School .....

Address this pledge to the JUNIOR PATROL, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Upon its receipt you will be registered as a member of the JUNIOR PATROL and will be forwarded a membership card and an official emblem.

The Junior Patrol Mail Box

Today we have coupon number four!

Three coupons with different numbers on each can be exchanged for a strip of eight tickets, good for the amusements of West View Park, on National Kiddies' Day at the Junior Patrol picnic, TUESDAY, AUGUST 1.

Are you saving them, fellows? Captains—have you talked about the picnic with the members of your patrols? We want every Captain present—wearing his armband.

We haven't much time. Only six more days—and only six more coupons to go before the big day! Make your plans now! Send in your rolls with at least 10 names of registered members on them right away, and your armband will arrive before next Tuesday.

Here's a letter today from Capt. Matilda Suto, of 198, Beaver street, Leetsdale, Pa. She says:

"I have organized a club here in our community. I have eight girls in it. We have made arrangements to meet every Wednesday evening from 6 to 9 o'clock. The girls have picked me for a captain and my sister for a lieutenant. Now all we are waiting for is to get our membership cards so that we are real Junior Patrols. In our next letter we will let you know what our work will be and what we decide to do.

"I have good singers and girls that can say nice poems any time you would want us to come and do it."

You're well started, sure enough, Matilda. We will send you an armband just as soon as you have 10 members registered on your roll. Please let us know what you do to help others and to have fun yourselves. And be sure that you come to the picnic if you possibly can.

Capt. J. W. Leary, of Derry, Pa., has good news today. Here's his enthusiastic letter:

"I am reporting seven new members of my club. I am enclosing the pledges for the pins and membership cards. I received my card and pin and I am sorry you have not heard from me sooner. I am starting a chapter in Derry, Pa. I have three brothers in my club. We are going to hold our meetings in an old house."

In an old house, eh? Great, and it sounds just a little spooky, doesn't it, fellows? But good Junior Patrol members won't let that worry them. Spooks are always just imagination anyway. Let us know how you get along, J. W. You'll get the arm band when you send us a roll of 10 names of members.

National Kiddies' Day 4

Sun-Telegraph Junior Patrol Combined Picnic

WEST VIEW PARK, TUESDAY, AUG. 1

I am member No. ——— of the JUNIOR PATROL. Please send me a strip of 8 tickets for the rides on our picnic day.

Name .....

Street and No. .....

City or Town ..... State .....

Spell out name with pencil—ink blurs.

NOTE: Three of these coupons of DIFFERENT SERIAL NUMBERS must be mailed in for each strip of tickets wanted. These tickets will not be mailed to others than registered members of the JUNIOR PATROL, and none will be given out other than by mail. Address JUNIOR PATROL PICNIC, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Cook-Coos

By TED COOK

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NOTE—Today we offer another tender passage from Hill's Manual of Social Forms, 1888. We hope our readers will enjoy many moments of rapture by revival of this coy Victorian code.

EVERY charming method of communicating thought is by the aid of flowers, their language and sentiment being understood by the parties who present them. An extended correspondence may be carried on by the presentation of bouquets, single flowers and even leaves; the charm of this interchange of thought largely consisting in the romance attendant upon an expression of sentiment in a partially disguised and hidden language.

Illustrations.

A declaration of affection between lady and gent may be expressed by single flowers, as follows:

The gentleman presents a Red Rose—"I love you." The lady admits a partial reciprocation by returning a Purple Pansy—"You occupy my thoughts." The gentleman presses his suit still further by an Everlasting Pea—"Wilt thou go with me?" The lady by a Daisy, in which she says—"I will think of it." The gentleman, in his enthusiasm, plucks and presents a Shepherd's Purse—"I offer you my all." The lady, doubtingly, returns a sprig of Laurel — "Words, though sweet, may deceive."

Language of the Bouquet.

A bouquet may mean very much. Thus a Rose, Ivy and Myrtle will signify "Beauty, Friendship and Love." A Bachelor's Button and a Red Rose will indicate that "I hope to obtain your love."

"I Desire to Marry You."
Jonquil—Linden.
"I Have Sweet Memories in My Solitude."
Periwinkle—Heath.
"Think of me in my Absence"
White Verbena—Wormwood

Thus sentences may be readily expressed by flower language and by agreement a change of definition may be given the more common blossoms and plants whereby the language and correspondence may be conducted without inconvenience.

Some Light Summer Correspondence

Mrs. C., Fort Worth: A chameleon can turn any color but white. The famous Ripley calls us a liar on that. He must have dropped one in a flour barrel.

J. J. J., Richmond: Prohibitionists will give beer a fair chance. They're going to use it for a chaser.

Ginger, Texas: We wear our vest all summer because it ain't safe to leave it home.

V. Stallings: Remember when your pop was trying to make a first baseman out of you? You were too tall for a mascot.

Bono Publico: That's silly. Mixing kerosene with gasoline is infringing on the parlor lamp. You will have to change wicks every thousand miles.

Staten Island: Outcault drew the comic strip called "Hogan's Alley." The character you mention became so popular the name was changed to "The Yellow Kid." He had one tooth, a tomato can on his head and a yellow dress. Your grandmother must have a terrific memory.

Tilly Botts: O. Henry's house in San Antone was made entirely of green shutters. He built it himself. It's still there.

Whimper, Oregon: We thought your letter over for 11 years. Twenty-three are keeping up an active correspondence if you think this is an answer.

Bob, Maine: If it wasn't Napoleon it might have been Hardy and Laurel. Let it go.

Jerry Doyle: Thanks for the letter. It gives us an excuse for slamming down the roll top desk.

A Leading Farm County

Agricultural Statistics Show Ample Justification for the Approaching Fair

Col. C. C. McGovern, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, is giving much of his attention these days to preparations for the Allegheny County Fair, which is to be held at the South Park on August 31, and September 1 and 2.

There will be no charge for admission to the fair, nor will revenue be sought through concessions or the sale of advertising space. It is to be an educational exhibition, designed to call attention to the county's importance as a farming region and to indicate the possibilities of progress.

Agricultural statistics just issued furnish ample justification for the project. They show that Allegheny County was among the 10 leading counties of Pennsylvania last year in the value of farm products. It was ahead of many counties which are commonly regarded as farming centers.

Lancaster, Chester, York, Bucks, Berks, Montgomery, Bradford, Erie, Crawford and Allegheny, in the order named, were the 10 leading counties in agricultural income in 1932. Allegheny County farmers received $3,795,550 last year from the sale of their products. Of this income 43.7 per cent was derived from the sale of truck, nursery and greenhouse products, 30.3 per cent from the sale of dairy products, 14.5 per cent from the sale of chickens and eggs, 6 per cent from the sale of fruits, 2.6 per cent from the sale of field crops such as potatoes, hay and grain, .1 per cent from the sale of forest products, and 2.8 per cent from the sale of other livestock and livestock products.

Other counties far behind us in agricultural resources have found it profitable to hold annual fairs. Perhaps because of the superior importance of our manufacturing and mining industries we have not heretofore held county fairs. The exhibition next month should be illuminating to residents of the cities and boroughs.

Traffic Clinics

The Care Which Is Being Taken to Reduce Accidents Is Bound to Be Helpful.

Not content with the winning of the National Traffic Safety Contest last year and further improvement this year, Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, announces another plan to reduce street accidents. Traffic clinics or surveys are to be held in sections of Pittsburgh where accident rates have been highest. The first will be held in the Hill District on Thursday and Friday of next week.

Pittsburgh's enviable distinction of having been the country's safest city in 1932 was gained by just such zeal as this to safeguard the people. The number of traffic fatalities was cut to 128 by incessant safety education under the direction of Mr. McIntyre and the Better Traffic Committee. Continuation of the campaign is sure to produce good results.

In spite of an increase in traffic volume the number of persons killed by automobiles during the 12-month period ended June 30 was 17 below the figures for last year. If the current fatality rate continues the year will end with improvement over 1932 as great as that of 1932 over 1931, approximately 25 per cent.

Is it too much to hope that the traffic clinics, emphasizing in every locality just what peculiar risks and problems are faced in that locality, will produce an even greater improvement than 25 per cent?

Pymatuning Legends

It Is Gratifying to See an Effort Made to Preserve the Folk Lore of the Swamp

The great Pymatuning Swamp in Crawford County is being turned by the state into what will be the largest lake in Pennsylvania.

As the woods were laid low, the State Game Commission sent trappers ahead to catch the wild animals and game birds for release elsewhere.

It is gratifying to note that the work of preservation has also been extended to the legends and folk lore of the swamp. With its passing it is probable that the interesting old myths connected with it would fade from memory if no one had taken the trouble to gather them and put them in print.

Ralph J. Ferris, field engineer of the Pymatuning reservoir project, has fortunately recorded some of the more interesting of the stories in the current "Service Letter" of the Department of Forests and Waters.

One of the most common tales, he reports, deals with a boat said to exist in the inaccessible part of the swamp. One version is that it is a Viking craft and has a prow in the form of a swans' neck and head. Another theory is that the boat belonged to the Spanish expedition of DeSoto, and that after his death some of his followers sailed up the Mississippi, and the Ohio, and the Beaver, and the Shenango, to the swamp, which is supposed to have been a lake at that time.

The workers on the reservoir project have been on the alert for the boat, but have found no trace of it, and Mr. Ferris laughs at the legend and has no faith in the existence of the boat.

He tells also of the tradition that Indians borrowed kettles from the early white settlers, went into the swamp, and came out with the kettles filled with hot salt. But Mr. Ferris believes there is no foundation for the belief, to which this story gave rise, that there is a hot salt spring in the swamp.

The swamp has always been a place of mystery and speculation. Adventure was supposed to lurk in its depths. With its disappearance there will be a little less of the picturesque and romantic in Pennsylvania. But there will be new benefits which will more than compensate for what is lost.

Let the Man Alone!

An Irritated Citizen Threatens to Leave the Country Unless We Quit Bothering Him.

We know a man who walks frequently from his office downtown to his home in East Liberty. He prefers the Bigelow Boulevard route but he is becoming disgusted with things and threatens to leave the country.

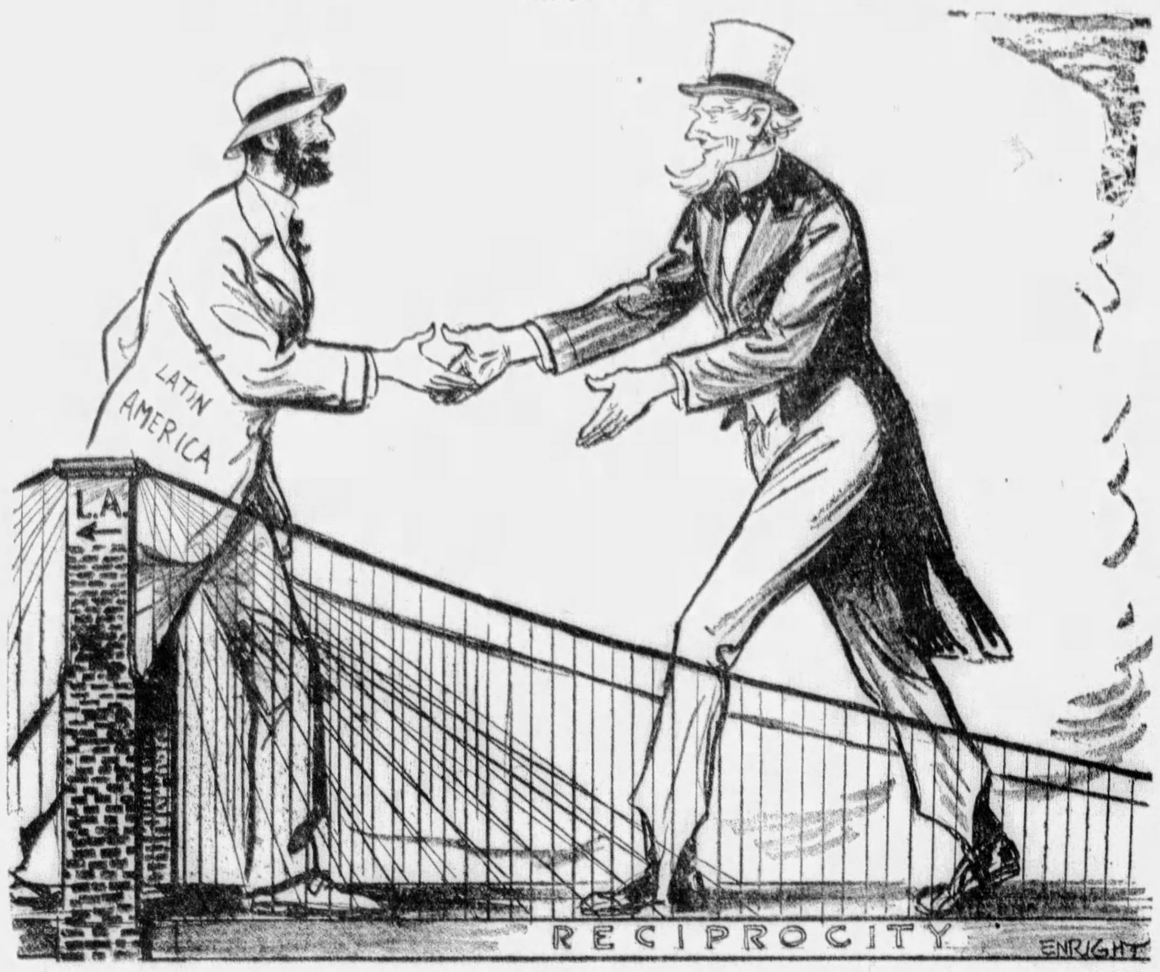
He says that between Seventh avenue and the Bloomfield Bridge usually two or three friends who are driving out will see him cantering along and immediately jerk on the brakes.

These friends will wave to him to hop into their cars and he will wave back no, he would rather walk. They wave again, impatiently, and he waves back positively no, he insists on walking. These friends then drive off, shaking their heads as one shakes his head when he hears that an acquaintance is a little bit off.

Our pedestrian hero has the funniest explanation for walking; he says he likes to walk.

Meeting Him More Than Half Way

(Copyright, 1933.)



Last year the Hearst newspapers in a series of articles and editorials advocated a policy of reciprocity between the United States and the nations of Latin America.

For Latin America, with its vast treasuries of natural resources, and the United States, with its highly skilled industries, are complementary customers for each other's products.

In January of this year President Arturo Alessandri, of Chile, echoed the suggestion of reciprocal trade relations, and the Pan-American Union began a study of all the possibilities.

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

His Picture

This is the picture I would paint,
Neither a worldling nor a saint,
A man some people labeled "queer"
Because he was always sincere,
A fetish, this, with him from youth.
To tell no more nor less than truth.

He wore no hint of sprouting wings,
Yet he was kind to weaker things:
The old, the feeble and the child
And all earth's little creatures wild
The tiny things with silken fur
Or fragile, painted wings astir.

The whirling wheel of circumstance,
That touches lesser souls with fright
Could never stir if he were right.
This is his picture I would paint,

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 25.—One of the popular liner captains arriving at the New York port—that is popular with literary folks—is Capt. David W. Bone, Glasgow-born skipper of the Transylvania. A brawny Scot with a thick shock of hair and perpetual pipe, he uncockles a thistly highland burr.

Among his intimates are that other sea-faring scribbler William McFee, and Christopher Morley, the essayist. Capt. Bone is the author of several sea tales and does most of his writing in his cabin during his leisure moments crossing the Atlantic.

His library of ocean volumes includes all Joseph Conrad first editions. He is the marine maverick of an extremely artistic family. His brother, Muirhead Bone, is a famous etcher, his daughter a wood cut artist of some distinction and another brother is an editor of the Manchester Guardian.

Like William McFee, Capt. Bone does not have to write for a living. Rather does he write for sheer fun of it. When he comes to town he is usually found the center of a group at The Players. Sometimes he barges into the Algonquin with his rolling gait, where he's also a favorite yarn spinner.

Benny Rubin, spending the night at Great Neck with a comedian friend, had to race with him next morning for a train to town. Rubin gaspingly inquired if he always had to rush that way. "It's 50-50," he replied. "Sometimes I'm at the station when the train comes puffing in and sometimes the train is at the station when I come puffing in."

One of the welcome casual droppers-in is the Sage of North Cohocton, Roscoe Peacock, here a few moments today. Peacock is among the last of the "Old Subscribers" who write letters to newspaper editors about all matters of current interest. A wiry, bright-eyed, nimble-minded and extensively traveled gentleman, he has a passion for accuracy. It has taken 10 years for him to make newspapers conscious that "gilding the lily" should be "painting the lily."

Lincoln McVeagh, recently appointed minister to Greece, is known in New York social circles as one of the most graceful dancers in the smarter places. Oddly enough, at Harvard he was celebrated for reading Greek elegiacs on the subway to Boston. Bent over his text books, he would measure off the spondees and dactyles to the clicking of the wheels. And now he is going to Greece!

On an upper reach of Riverside Drive at One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street has stood in the sunshine, wind and rain for 30 years a photographer with camera and tripod. Burned black, he is a lonely figure against the sky. His name is E. A. Jacobs and he has snap-shotted celebrities from Marshal Foch to the more recent Max Baer. Perhaps in all New York no one's business is so isolated. On his side of the roadway is no sidewalk and his background is the lawn of a deaf institute. Yet he has made a good living salvaging customers out of the motor flow, although he never solicits. Even Peggy Joyce once stopped. His home is bought and paid for.

Larry Larom—how pleasantly euphonious that one!—is a New York and Princeton society boy who owns the finest dude ranch in the West. Two weeks before his annual pilgrimage to New York he begins wearing shoes part time daily. Thus readying himself for the sidewalks of New York.

In Bob Davis's magazine mail years ago came a neatly typed tale, "The Luck of Roaring Camp." Returning the mss. he courteously explained: "I solemnly promised Bret Harte on his deathbed I'd never take one of his stories except from him." He supposed, of course, that would close the incident, but back came a postcard answer: "You was a dern fool ever to make such a promise." A laboratory specimen for analysts who try to explain what humor is!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Now that it's over, I can say it: MOTHER'S DAY ALWAYS MAKES ME MAD.

It makes me mad because I am a mother. My boy has gone now, but for 21 years I worked for him and loved him beyond all expression. I was a good mother.

BUT I DON'T WANT ANY MEDALS FOR IT.

I was a good mother because motherhood was my highest joy and duty. I had my boy because I wanted him. He owed me nothing when he came into this world. And I remained his debtor all his life. Nothing that I could ever do for my son could possibly equal that which he did for me. He was the loveliest thing that ever happened to me.

The years we spent together were filled with poverty and pain and the dread of approaching death. Yet, in spite of that, motherhood was such a great adventure that the very memory of it enables me to walk proudly and gratefully through these empty days.

WHY SHOULD I EXPECT REWARDS FOR AN EXPERIENCE LIKE THAT?

Why should the world set apart a day to honor women who have already known the deepest honor, the most exquisite delight that life can bring? If anyone should go around wearing carnations as an expression of gratitude, it's the mother——not the child.

However, I wouldn't outlaw Mother's Day merely because the gratitude's on the wrong side of the ledger. Love's a great thing. We can't have too much of it, whoever expresses it. But the second reason for Mother's Day burns me up completely. Namely—

ALL THIS FUSS OVER "DEAR OLD MOTHER'S HARD WORK AND SUPREME SACRIFICE."

Childbirth, of course, is a tough ordeal. But it's no tougher job to have a baby than to support one, and involves, in the long run, no more physical pain and danger. Nor does the hand that rocks the cradle grow any more callouses than the fist that brings home the bacon.

Why shouldn't Dear Old Mother work? That's her job. Every human being has, or should have, a job. No human being is entitled to a free buggy ride through this vale of tears. A married woman should pay her way as well as a married man.

IT IS NO MORE REMARKABLE OR RIGHTEOUS FOR A MOTHER TO TOIL AND SACRIFICE THAN IT IS FOR A FATHER.

But do you hear anyone shooting off fireworks just because Father was a Good Papa? No you don't.

There is, to be sure, a Father's Day. But that's just to use up the Christmas neckties and the rest of the carnations. No one really means it. Nobody really thinks that Father has done anything unusual if he spends thirty or forty years of life at uncongenial labor to support the Missis and Kids.

You have read a thousand poems about Mother Bending Over The Cradle.

BUT HAVE YOU EVER READ THE FEEBLEST YIP OF PRAISE FOR THE DAD WHO BENDS OVER THE LEDGER, WONDERING HOW IN HECK HE'S GOING TO RAISE ENOUGH TO SEND THE FOLKS OFF ON A VACATION, OR PUT JUNIOR THROUGH COLLEGE?

No, you haven't—and you never will. Midnight bending qualifies Ma for harp and halo. But it's just Dad's duty, and he's a tramp if he doesn't do it.

BUT DOES ANYONE REGARD A MOTHER'S CHORES AS "JUST HER DUTY?"

As, for example, me, myself. Here I am, writing about Mamma as if she were just a Regular Human and should perform her job as such. And what will happen? By next mail, 35,985 Mad Mammas will have written to the editor and demanded a Public Apology. They will have accused him of Conspiring to Ruin The Homes of America—and of being, probably, in the pay of the Russian government. So somebody Ought To Do Something About It In Washington.

Nor is that all. By tears and tantrums they will have persuaded papa to take their side and write right in to say what they tell Papa he thinks about That Horrid Woman.

Not all the Mamas will do this. There are plenty of women who are as good, if not better, sports than the gamest men. They'll grin and cheer; but the cheers will be lost in the tumult of snorts and snivels. All right; let 'em! I've only one life to lose, and this is a swell cause. If I join the bread line tomorrow, I'm going to say my say.

I RESENT BEING FUSSED OVER BECAUSE I DID A NORMAL, HUMAN JOB.

Not that I mind praise. Anything but! But why should everyone get so excited because I did the thing I wanted to do—performed the tasks which any self-respecting human should have expected to perform?

Why, in short, should we treat mothers as we treat naughty or feeble-minded children — flatter and fuss over them for doing those things which normal children are expected to do as a matter of course?

The Human Side of the News

Breton Fishermen Hear an Invisible Horse and the Scream of an Invisible Woman —Story of Princess Dahut.

By EDWIN C. HILL

THAT'S a strange story, a weird story, that comes to us from Brittany, in France. Breton fishermen of the Baie des Trepasse—the Bay of the Dead—have heard, night after night, as they made their way from their fishing boats, along lonely dark lanes, to their thatched cottages of stone, the oncoming pound of the iron-shod feet of a galloping horse.

Pausing in the darkness by the wayside hedges, holding their breath, they have heard the clatter of hoofs of a hard-ridden horse come nearer and nearer, heard the high, terrified scream of a woman, heard the rapidly diminishing pounding of hoofs lost in the silences of the night. But they have caught never a glimpse of horse or rider—not one.

And they have gone with this eerie tale to the good fathers of the church, who have counseled them to beware of the artifices of the Evil One, but to burn a candle, if they will, for the salvation of the soul of the Princess Dahut of the lost City of Ys—the city which lies on the bottom of the Bay of the Dead.

The Story of Princess Dahut

IT IS A curious fact that a living horse and a living rider fled in desperate haste along the Breton road on a night in the long ago—1,500 years ago. And a wicked woman screamed as she was hurled to death by her own father. And the tale of it (which the good fathers well know) is this.

The City of Ys was a magnificent city filled with luxury and vice. It was built of marble and Breton stone upon a wide plain, below the level of the sea. Great walls and dykes surrounded it to keep out the restless sea. Gradlon, its king, was a good man and a Christian man, but he had a daughter who was as bad as she was beautiful, the Princess Dahut. She dwelt in a lofty tower of Ys, and in her tower she held revels with a succession of lovers. When tired of one, she had him thrown into a well, and turned to another.

The last of her lovers, a handsome, foolish fellow, persuaded her to steal from her sleeping father, King Gradlon, the silver key which locked the great sluice gates in the walls which held out the sea. In idle folly they opened the gates and the sea rushed in. A voice in the night roused Gradlon from sleep and bade him fly for his life. On the back of his warhorse, holding in his arms the wicked daughter that he loved, he rode through drowning streets to the open country.

Gradlon Survives By Killing Girl

BUT the sea followed them fast and rose to the horse's shoulders, and a voice commanded Gradlon to cast away the demon he held in his arms. Obeying the voice, he hurled his daughter, the Princess Dahut, into the rising tide and spurred on as her death scream rose above the waters. At that moment the waters paused and receded and Gradlon rode on to safety, and to found the Breton city which is now called Quimper.

If you should go to Audierne in Brittany today, to that grim and rocky coast by the Bay of the Dead, you will always see two black crows together. The Breton peasants, crossing themselves, will tell you that the two black crows are the souls of the Princess and her lover. At Troquer you would see, on the shore, great, hewn blocks of stone which were once part of the palaces of Ys, and beneath the water, at low tide, the foundations of the walls and of the palaces of this lost and drowned city.

And you might hear—who knows?—the trampling of Gradlon's horse in the night and glimpse the pale, lost souls hovering on the shore of the Bay of the Dead—drowned souls awaiting their passage across the bay.

DIRECTOR OF LIVES

By Winifred Black

Why does the "life of the party" invariably take home the girl who sat in the corner all evening?

Tell handsome Johnny that his wife is pretty and that there is something about her eyes that—really—and watch Johnny start in to hating the sight of that wife.

What he wants is admiration, adoration and he's going to get it if he has to marry the homeliest little nobody in the world—just for that.

Brilliant women—oh, they marry fools because they like to have somebody listen to their brilliancy. A clever man would want to do some of the talking himself.

The stay-at-home marries the gadder—oh, well, of course, when the stay-at-home is in love he gads, and when the gadder is in love he's delighted to stay at home evenings and tell the old, old story over and over again to the accompaniment of a hotcha song on the radio.

So they're both fooled—and nobody is to blame.

It's all easy enough to understand when you come to think of it and besides, 'way in the dim background there's a deeper and a truer and a stronger reason than all the rest.

Old Mother Nature is really rather a selfish as well as rather a busy person.

She sits up on the mountain top somewhere spinning and weaving and smiling to herself and little does she care whether you and your sweetie are perfectly happy or not.

What she wants is children, thousands of children, millions of children, and she doesn't want them all geniuses or all dullards.

She wants the world peopled with millions of human beings, so many a year, some dark, some fair, some clever, some dull, and the dark ones will marry the fair ones, and the clever ones will marry the stupid ones, and somehow or other the good old dame will nod and smile and think "all's well with the world."

We think we're so important, we fussy little nobodies, and all the time we're each one of us just a tiny thread in the warp and woof of the great tapestry that the old lady up there on the mountain top is weaving.

I suppose the checkers on the checker board think they do their own moving—don't you?

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy

As parents of young people who have been graduated from college, you may think that they have received but little valuable information.

The thought often comes that they might have been better off if they had procured jobs when they received their diplomas from high school.

Four years ago it was easier to get a job than it is now.

But you feel they might have been established sooner, whereas now there are so many without work and unable to get any work to do.

Aren't you a little narrow in your attitude?

You can recall opportunities you might have embraced if you had had a better education and more preparation.

Many times through your life you have regretted that your educational advantages were so limited.

You did not want your child so handicapped.

Be glad you did your best to supply education.

Remember that it is unfair to judge adversely in these times if your college-bred children can't as yet make a living.
